FREELAND, SEPTEMBER 11, 1893. FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Nanticoke is making preparations to hold a large eisteddfod on Thanksgiving day.

A branch of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen was organized in Hazleton on Saturday.

Miss Hannah Barager, 14 years old, of Hazleton, fell from a pole swing on Saturday afternoon and was killed.

Miss R. Laura Cannon, of Wilkes-Barre, has been appointed a standing commissioner to take testimony in Luzerne county court.

Mrs. Kaiser, of Sugar Notch, gave breakfast to a tramp the other morning, and when he was leaving took Mrs. Kaiser's watch as a memento.

The inter-state fair, at Scranton, will commence tomorrow and continue until the 15th. Premiums and speed purses to the amount of $6,000 are offered.

A short, fierce fire on Friday damaged the material and paper of the Plymouth Star to the amount of several hundred dollars. The loss is covered by insurance.

Robert P. Reilly and Frank Deach, of Hazleton, will shoot a match at sparrows and whippoorwills, with F. Cooper, of Mahanoy City, and R. T. Clayton, of Tamaqua.

Fanny Seddons, an insane woman, who was transferred last week from the Danville asylum to Laurytown, escaped from the latter place and has not yet been found.

William Masters, lessee of the Excelsior slate quarry at Pen Argyl, was struck by a rubbish box on Friday and knocked a distance of forty feet to the bottom of the bank. He died in a few hours.

Joseph Novack and Adam Smith, of Scranton, wanted to make a bargain on a shot gun on Thursday and took it out in the woods to try it. While there the gun was accidentally discharged and Smith was shot dead.

A hole was found bored in the door of the safe of the Hazleton Mercantile Co., on Saturday morning. It is supposed to be the work of burglars, who were probably frightened off before they were able to complete the job.

An exchange says that a fellow in a near-by town, who couldn't spare a dollar and a half a year for a newspaper sent fifty two-cent stamps to a down east Yankee to learn how to stop a horse from slobbering. He got the receipt and he'll never forget it: "To stop your horse from slobbering teach him to spit."

When they had finally concluded to go the train was divided into three sections of fourteen coaches each and at a snail-like pace the trip through Canada was begun. For miserable and monotonous riding, insolent trainmen and the worst railroad accommodations I have ever been unfortunate enough to endure, the Grand Trunk leads them all. No regard is paid to the time given on their time tables, and an easy-going-as-you-please rate of speed is maintained.

Ontario, the part of Canada through which we rode, is poorly cultivated and far better looking farms and land can be seen in Butler valley. It is not level, principally little ranges of hills, and beyond the short view we had of Lake Ontario the route was very disappointing. Chose some other road is my advice to people who intend buying tickets to the fair.

One hour and ten minutes late we reached Windsor, where all connected with the running of the train took another sleep of three-fourths of an hour. At last they put the train on a steamboat and sent us over the Detroit river to the city of that name.

The train was due there at 9.40 p. m. It arrived there at 11.35 p. m., nearly two hours too late to connect with the western train on the Wabash road. At Detroit we stayed until 1.40 a. m., and inspected the city at midnight. We found

A BIG STOCK OF WAGON UMBRELLAS, FLY NETS, LAP SHEETS, EAR NETS, Etc., on hand at WISE'S.

A TRIP TO THE FAIR.

WHAT WAS SEEN AND DONE BY SOME FREELAND PEOPLE.

A Description of the Ride and Sights Seen Between This Place and Chicago—Niagara Falls Viewed—A Glimpse of Canada and the Great City of the West.

Leaving Freeland at 8.47 p. m. on the 1st inst., a party of three went to Hazleton, where we took a train at 10.30 for Mauch Chunk. At 11.30 p. m. we left the latter town and after making ourselves as comfortable as is possible in a Lehigh Valley coach we enjoyed a neat little nap to Wilkes-Barre. Here we got out to investigate and found the dining room open. A couple of sandwiches and a few glasses of milk braced us up for the night, and after arranging sleeping berths out of two seats each, we settled down to enjoy a good night's sleep.

At 4.20 a. m. we arrived at Sayre, and during our delay there made a tour of the train. We found the people laid out in every conceivable style—everybody enjoying sleep according to their own way of what they thought to be best.

Through New York state the scenery was very fine, especially around Lake Cayuga, which was skirted along for a number of miles. At Batavia we parted company with the majority of the people on our train. They went on to Buffalo and we took the Niagara branch, arriving there at 10.45 a. m., a few minutes behind time. Dinner was ordered at the Frontier House and while waiting we viewed the rapids and other parts of Niagara Falls city.

A hearty meal came next. Then we crossed suspension bridge, took the electric car to the Falls on the Canadian side, and there saw enough to satisfy us for our entire trip. It is simply impossible to describe the beauty and grandeur of the river as it drops so gracefully and majestically over a precipice 333 feet high.

We went to the very brink of the Falls, far beyond the danger line, but were well repaid for whatever risk we took. It is a sight not easily forgotten—either to view it from above or below. Those who wish to gaze at it from the bottom can procure rubber suits, take the elevator and clamber over the slippery rocks until one is almost directly under the falling water.

Along the river is Niagara Park, a large area of ground that is fixed up very prettily, and which shows that our Canadian brethren are more alive to the opportunities they possess to attract visitors than the Americans. On the New York side very little interest appears to be taken in this great natural wonder, and Yankee ingenuity is being spent in devising plans whereby this great force can be utilized for practical purposes, instead of spending money to add to its beauty.

As our train on the Grand Trunk Railway was scheduled to leave at 2.25 p. m. we had to make haste to retrace our steps to the station. By missing the next electric car down we found our time limited to ten minutes when we reached the bridge, and a hot race was then in order to catch the train. Those who saw us come across suspension bridge must have thought we committed some great deprecation in Canada, but we had no time to explain that necessity compelled us to run, and on we went as if the honor of Pennsylvania depended upon our getting there.

Breathless, covered with dust, but with one minute to spare, we arrived at the station, picked out the softest seats in the cars and were ready to start. The Grand Trunk Railway officials, however, were not quite so particular about the time of leaving, and after shifting and twisting us about from one track to another for half an hour they crossed the river and on the Canadian side gave us another intermission of forty minutes. This, of course, was very pleasant to the three young men who broke all former running records in catching a train that started one hour and ten minutes behind time.

When they had finally concluded to go the train was divided into three sections of fourteen coaches each and at a snail-like pace the trip through Canada was begun. For miserable and monotonous riding, insolent trainmen and the worst railroad accommodations I have ever been unfortunate enough to endure, the Grand Trunk leads them all. No regard is paid to the time given on their time tables, and an easy-going-as-you-please rate of speed is maintained.

it, as it then appeared, to be a very clean and pleasant place, equipped with everything necessary for a city of its size, and having the finest system of electric street lighting I have ever seen.

The remainder of the ride through portions of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois was made without any particular interest, and we arrived in Chicago at 11.15 a. m. on Sunday, four hours later than we expected. When nearing the city the huge Ferris wheel and several of the fair buildings could be seen from the cars.

Sunday afternoon was spent at Washington Park, where our party enjoyed a much-needed rest, and in the evening an hour or so was whiled away in the dime museum. The surprise at seeing everything open on Sunday was not so very great, as we came from Freeland, but we had thought that saloons and theatres were all that would be in operation. It rather startled us to see carpenter work at work, buildings going up and work of every character being pushed without the least respect for the day. With the exception of the large retail places all the stores were open and did not close any earlier than week-day evenings.

Monday was New York Day at the fair, and the Empire state did well, considering the fact that the jealousy aroused by its failure to capture the exposition has not yet been buried. The people of the metropolis were given full sway, and they gave the public the benefit of an interesting programme. The fair on this day had to compete, however, with one of Chicago's annual festivities—Labor Day parade, and the latter kept many thousands from Jackson Park. Like a great many more we chose to see the parade, and did not regret missing New York Day. Chicago's organized workmen are a credit to the city, and with Mayor Harrison at their head they marched over the streets with more than 20,000 in the ranks. For two hours and twenty minutes they passed eight deep at a given point, and from Governor Altgeld to the smallest newsboy all joined in rendering them the applause they earned so well. The display was the finest yet made by the workmen of this city, and the absence of any socialistic or anarchistic mottoes in the line caused much comment, as Chicago is known so well as the home of these people.

In the next letter I will give our opinion of Midway, the fair and the other attractions here. D. S.

[Special telegram.]—The Keystone state has established an enviable reputation among state fairs by the grand display of Thursday. Our state commissioners took good care to import everything and everything necessary to accomplish this, and accordingly, within the shadow of the state building, one of the handsomest and costliest on the ground, the glorious achievements of Pennsylvania in war and peace were thoroughly aired by eloquent orators.

Fine weather prevailed during the day. The festivities commenced with a parade, in which Gov. Pattison, Lieut. Gov. Watres, Adjutant General Greenland, City Troop and Naval Reserve Battalion, of Philadelphia, took part. The line was cheered and salutedly almost continuously.

Executive commissioner Farquhar spoke a few words, and then introduced Gov. Altgeld, of Illinois, who paid the state a tribute. He was followed by Rev. Hinkle, of Berwick Methodist church, in an invocation.

Gov. Pattison delivered a spirited address, as did also James M. Beck, of Philadelphia, the orator of the day. The Wilkes-Barre male choir then occupied a few minutes singing.

The exercises closed in the evening with a brilliant display of fireworks, in which a blazing keystone was the feature. D. S.

Lehigh W. C. T. U. Meets.

The convention of the Lehigh County Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at Breinigsville Friday. The attendance was large. An address of welcome was delivered by Miss Rebecca Leipsenberger, which was responded to by Miss Annie Rems, of Mauch Chunk. Mrs. A. T. Stover, of Allentown, made a report on unfermented wine.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. A. J. Breinig; vice-president, Miss Annie Rem; recording secretary, Miss Annie Baer; treasurer, Mrs. W. B. K. Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Ella Quinn.

THINGS SEEN AND HEARD IN THE TOWN AND VICINITY.

Matters of a Local Nature Commented Upon and Placed Before the Readers of the "Tribune" in Large Letters—Some Paragraphs May Interest You.

The brilliant lights shining from the windows of the Mining and Mechanical Institute attracted my attention one evening last week and I went on a quiet tour in that direction. With a few nods to familiar faces, as I peered into the mining department, and not wishing my errand to be known, I took a hasty glance into the Mechanical portion of the Institute and then made my retreat to the street again. In both branches of the institution I found a large number of young men, each very busy working out some intricate problem that apparently defied solution. There are no drawbacks of any kind connected with this institution. Everything is neat and comfortable and nothing is left undone by the professor to advance his students.

I cannot help but notice and with pleasure the efforts which are being made by the young men of this school, as well as by the students of Freeland and vicinity who are off attending other schools, to acquire an education. And as I count those over who have made the effort, I also find that each one has had his ambition gratified in that particular direction. Of those who have tried and succeeded, the majority all have had the early morning call to go to the breaker in their boyhood days and it appears as if it was the bitter experience of those days which urged them on and kept them from faltering until they reached the long sought-for end.

In many instances it is not only surprising to their companions of boyhood days, but to themselves how they escaped the drudge of a life on the breaker or in the mines. If there is any secret about it is of a shallow nature, as almost every young man possesses the quality and I find that if the energy and perseverance, which is such a grand feature of the Mining and Mechanical school, was studied and followed as an example, no surprise or secret could be connected with any person's advancement in education. It will do the same for one as it has done for thousands if the effort is only made.

To me it is a pitiful sight to see the little boys leaving town almost every morning for some breaker a mile or more distant, and some of them are so small that their dinner pails are a load for them to carry, to work all day for the paltry sum of 25 or 35 cents. The habit of sending boys to work at such an early age is not so much from necessity as from custom, and I am of the opinion that it is one of the very worst customs ever introduced anywhere. Because when the boy becomes a man, he is without an education or a trade, and foreign immigration has so filled the land with common laborers that he is only a burden to himself, and when he has once attained his majority the task to make a living becomes harder every day in this age of steam and electricity.

Today it is not the ambition of any boy to graduate from the breaker, as in former years, and when he finds he is compelled to do so his ambition to be anything more than an ordinary day laborer speedily vanishes. Many people censure and blame the Hungarians and Italians for coming here and crowding the boys out and reducing their wages. I am one, however, that cannot concur in that sentiment, because the numerous young men who left Freeland and vicinity a week ago today to enter as students in the normal schools in different sections of the state, is ample evidence that the influx of foreigners did not injure them in any way, but drove them out to seek a calling which will be more profitable and less laborious, and from which they can look back with thanks and sympathy upon the men of foreign birth who so materially assisted them in putting it within their grasp. READ THE TESTIMONY

Of One Who Suffered Years and Tried Many Physicians Both of Philadelphia and New York

WITHOUT GETTING RELIEF.

AND IS NOW CURED BY DR. RIEGEL.

I have been a sufferer for a number of years with catarrh in its worst forms. Had constant headaches, matter dropping in the throat, dizziness, nose stopped up, difficulty in breathing and no doubt would soon have been a consumptive, had I not met Dr. Riegel.

Before that time I had tried every well-known remedy and doctored with many physicians, not only of Hazleton but of New York and Philadelphia, but could get no relief anywhere. As soon as Dr. Riegel began treating me I felt relieved and continued to improve until now I feel like a new man, and knowing that there are many others suffering as much as I did I write this for publication, so that others may avail themselves of Dr. Riegel's treatment before it is too late. He can cure you if you take it in time.

I am willing to answer any letters of inquiry from persons wishing to consult him. James McCool, 189 North Wyoming Street, Hazleton, Pa.

Hereafter Dr. Riegel, the leading specialist in catarrh and all chronic diseases, will be at the Central Hotel, Freeland, THREE DAYS A WEEK ONLY.

Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, FROM 10 A. M. TO 2 P. M., and from 8.30 TO 10 P. M.

RESponsible Agents Wanted (In writing please mention this paper.)

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., - GENTLEMEN— I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it. B. M. JAY LORD, Leslie, Mich.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., - GENTLEMEN— Some time ago I sent for 250 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured. Truly yours, MATTHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 45, PITTSBURGH, PA.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., - GENTLEMEN— It gives me pleasure to speak a word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of liquor, and through a friend, I was led to try your Tablets. He was a heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four months before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, HENRY MORRISON, CINCINNATI, OHIO.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO., - GENTLEMEN— Your Tablets have performed a miracle in my case. I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of two packages of your Tablets, and without any effort on my part. Address all Orders to W. L. LOZGAY, 61, 63 and 65 Opera Block, LIMA, OHIO.
