"August Flower"

"What is August Flower for?" As easily answered as asked. It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver.—Nothing more than this. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. To-day it has an honored place in every town and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country, and sells everywhere. The reason is simple. It does one thing, and does it right. It cures dyspepsia.

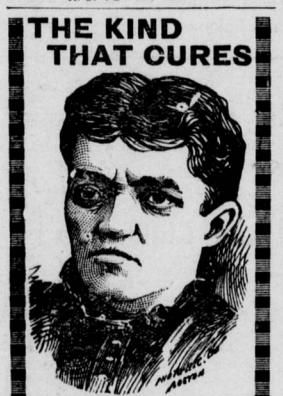
THE KIND THAT CURES



MRS. OLIVER CHERRIER, Malone, N. Y.

On Crutches 10 Years!

EATING SORES THAT WOULD NOT HEAL! CURED! CURED!

DANA SARSAPARILLA CO.:

GENTLEMEN.—I wish to testify to the efficacy of DANA'S SARSAPARILLA.

For several years I have been suffering from a bad Blood Disorder called by different names by the several Physicians who attended me but which baffled the skill of them all. It attacked my face, EATING AWAY THE FLESH, and having a persistent running sore, which nothing would heal. It also broke out on my limbs as a FEVER SORE. For months I was confined to my bed and have been unable to walk without crutches for over ten years.

Last Fall I purchased three bottles of

of Davis Bros. It helped me from the first. I took it faithfully, and I can now attend to my household duties and walk as well as ever.

I am sure that my case is as near a miracle as anything that happens at the present day.

I am very sincerely yours,

Malone, N. Y. MRS. OLIVER CHERRIER.

GENTLEMEN.—We enclose testimonial of Mrs. Cherrier, which is a strong endorsement of your valuable compound. We believe her statement to be true in every respect.

We are very respectfully yours,

DAVIS BROS.

CURES RISING BREAST

"MOTHER'S FRIEND" is the greatest blessing ever offered child-bearing woman. I have been a mid-wife for many years, and in each case where "Mother's Friend" had been used it has accomplished wonders and relieved much suffering. It is the best remedy for rising of the breast known, and worth the price for that alone. MRS. M. M. BRUSTER, Montgomery, Ala.

THE MERRY SIDE OF LIFE.

STORIES THAT ARE TOLD BY THE FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Consolation—That's What—Ominous—Different Styles—Mostly Growling—One Man's Worry, Etc., Etc.

Now, as the brown leaves softly fall
And 'round about the pavement swirl,
In memory sweet do I recall
My summer girl.
Their wedding bells ring merrily—
I envy not her wealthy churl,
She never was, and ne'er can be,
His summer girl.

—Life.

ONE MAN'S WORRY.

Badger—"I'm afraid."

Todd—"What are you afraid of?"

Badger—"I'm afraid the money will all get worn out before I get any of it?"—Truth.

OMINOUS.

Visitor to Hospital—"Sorry to find you here, old chap; badly hurt?"

Patient—"Yes, I'm afraid I am. I heard the doctor say I was a beautiful case."—Puck.

NUMBER ONE.

Wood B. Bored—"Mr. Shapely is a very considerate man."

Ben A. Victim—"How so?"

Wood B. Bored—"He never forgets himself."—Truth.

THAT'S WHAT.

Wiser—"You can't always tell a man by his looks."

Smarty—"Tell him what?"

Wiser—"Tell him he's a liar, that's what."—Detroit Free Press.

TO GET IT IN JOINT.

Mansfield—"Dr. Beech charged Gilmore $300 to set his wrenched knee. Don't you think that was unreasonable?"

Leeds—"Yes, rather. But in such a case it is necessary to pull a man's leg."

HOW HE EVENED UP.

"Hello, Griggs! Haven't seen you lately. Where have you been?"

"Oh, traveling for my health."

"Don't you find it rather expensive?"

"Yes; but I get away from my doctor."—Truth.

DIFFERENT STYLES.

"My wife reads a great deal of poetry," remarked a Washington minister.

"You have quite a literary household, then."

"Yes. She's poetic and I'm prosy."—Washington Star.

MOSTLY GROWLING.

Jinks—"I now understand why barbers do so much talking."

Filkins—"What has enlightened you?"

Jinks—"I shaved myself to-day, and I assure you I talked all the time."—Kate Field's Washington.

HIS VOCATION.

Bobbie—"I should think you would have gone to sea, pop, when you was a boy."

Bingo—"What put that idea into your head?"

Bobbie—"Because you are such a good whaler now."—Detroit Free Press.

A CURIOUS CHARACTER.

"That young doctor to whom you introduced me is rather a curious character, is he not?"

"What makes you think so?"

"I met him yesterday and said, 'I hope I see you well,' and he said, 'Excuse me, I never talk shop.'"—New York Press.

PLEASED HIM.

She—"I thought father would split over that story you told last night. He said he felt grateful to you for telling it."

He—"I am glad he was pleased. Had he never heard it before?"

She—"Yes, but he said he had almost forgotten it."

IN THIS CASE IT FAILED TO WORK.

Burglar (rousing the sleeping head of the family)—"Don't move, or I'll shoot! Where's your money hid?"

Head of the Family (struck by a bright thought)—"It's in the pocket of my wife's dress."

Burglar—"That's all right. I'll just take the dress. Thanks."—Chicago Tribune.

WORTHY OF ADMIRATION.

"So," said the sight seer, "that was put up by the mound builders?"

"Yes."

"And it's there yet!"

"Wonderful, isn't it?"

"I should say so. I tell you, they must have had a building inspector who amounted to something in those days."—Washington Star.

WONDERFUL.

Yellowly (in great excitement)—"The most extraordinary thing I ever saw, by jinks!"

Brownly—"What's the matter?"

Yellowly—"There was a tremendous disturbance around the corner here—"

Brownly—"Yes?"

Yellowly—"And a policeman came along and arrested the right man."—New York Press.

THE VALUE OF IT.

The plumber's assistant was plugging away at a piece of lead pipe, when a city missionary happened along.

"My dear young friend," said the good man, after a little preliminary talk, "do you know the value of time?"

"You bet I do," was the frank response, "I'm working by the day."—Detroit Free Press.

THE OLD ACCOUNT.

For two hours the fashionable lady kept the draper exhibiting his goods, and at the end of that period she sweetly asked:

"Are you quite sure you have shown me everything you have?"

"No, madam," said the draper, with an insinuating smile, "I have yet an old account in my ledger which I shall very gladly show you."

He did not need to show any more. The lady left the shop, saying she would call again another day.—Tit-Bits.

HER DIPLOMACY.

"John," said his wife, "I have a conundrum for you."

"All right. But you know conundrums are out of style."

"That fact won't hurt this one anyway," she answered.

"Let us have it."

"Why am I like a popular story?"

"Because everybody admires you."

"That isn't the answer."

"What is it then?"

"Because," as she glanced at her calico dress, "I am never out of print."

And the next day he gave her carte blanche at the dry goods store.

ONLY THAT.

"Thud! Thud! Thud!"

Is it the mad gallop of a horse as he flies from some apprehensive peril, reckless of the human lives he may endanger in his wild flight?

"Thump! Thump! Thump!"

Has conflagration cut off the escape of women and children from some tenement house, and are the firemen seeking to rescue them by battering through the walls?

"Whack! Whack! Whack!"

Men stand still to listen. Women grow pale as the ominous sound reaches their ears.

"Is it the coming of a storm?" whisperingly asks a strong man.

"Is some awful disaster at hand?" asks a woman with frightened face.

"Naw!" shouts a bootblack in tones which bring a glad relief. "It's only a woman on Duffield street a beaten de pesky moths out of her husband's winter overcoat—see!"—Detroit Free Press.

WISE WORDS.

Seldom any good is got by complaint.

Stubborn audacity is the last refuge of guilt.

Contentment is better than divinations or visions.

Every art is improved by the emulation of competitors.

To be idle and to be poor have always been reproaches.

Few persons have courage to appear as good as they really are.

We have all, at one time or other, loved some we could not esteem.

There is a spectacle grander than the ocean, and that is the conscience.

We ought not to judge of men as of a picture or a statue, at the first sight.

Every one must form the general plan of his conduct by his own reflection.

Comfort is the god of this world, but comfort it will never obtain by making it an object.

Society, politically regulated, is a state contradistinguished from a state of nature.

Avarice, which too often attends wealth, is a greater evil than any that is found in poverty.

Few are placed in a position so gloomy and distressful as not to see every day beings more forlorn and miserable.

In the productions of genius, nothing can be styled excellent till it has been compared with other works of the same kind.

Submarine Photography.

A short time ago Louis Boutan brought himself to the knowledge of scientific naturalists by undertaking an exploring tour of the Red Sea, from which he brought back a strange and curious collection of fish and shells, embracing several specimens entirely unknown. Continuing his researches on the coast of France, Mr. Boutan assumed a diver's costume in order to observe at the bottom of the sea the metamorphoses of certain mollusks impossible to cultivate in aquaria. He was struck with the wonderful beauty of submarine landscapes, and resolved to photograph what he could, since a simple description would savor too much of an over vivid imagination. At first he worked in shallow water with a water tight apparatus, and the clearness of the water allowed him sufficient light to sensitize the plates. But proportionally as the water deepened clearness diminished, and the motion of the waves clouded his proofs. Then the young scientist conceived the idea of utilizing magnesium in an apparatus of his own invention. This apparatus consists essentially in a barrel filled with oxygen and surmounted by a glass bell containing an alcohol lamp. On the flame of the lamp, by means of a mechanical contrivance, powdered magnesium is thrown, flaring as often as a view is taken. The barrel is pierced with holes on the lower side in such manner that as the oxygen diminishes the sea water enters, so preserving the equilibrium between external and internal pressure. By the aid of this machine he has already made great progress in a direction new to naturalists, and one likely to confer permanent benefits in the results obtained by their science.—Frank Leslie's Weekly.

NEWS & NOTES FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Abram Hewitt, of New York, has a special weakness for lace.

Parisian women ride bicycles followed by grooms, also on wheels.

There are eight women colonels of the German Army who receive salaries as such.

Mrs. Mackay, wife of the Bonanza millionaire, is said to have the biggest sapphire in the world.

An odd an expensive hand screen is formed with the wing of a raven attached to an ivory handle inlaid with gold.

According to the last English census there are 5000 women gardeners in that country, and six women looking after town drainage.

Austria has recently allowed women to practice medicine in Bosnia. In other parts of the empire the profession is closed to them.

An exquisite lamp shade recently imported from Paris was of pale green tulle, on which tiny humming birds were fastened at intervals.

Miss Alice Van Rensselaer, of New York, has one of the new fads of the hour—a fan, in one corner of which is an ivory miniature of herself.

Captain Magnus Anderson claims that but for his wife the Viking would not have been built and he would not have sailed it across the Atlantic.

The Probate Court at New Bedford, Mass., has authorized a young lady to change her name to Ella Rabbitt. Heretofore it has been Etta Rabbitt.

It is no longer the fashion to use marks of punctuation in your letter. "What a pity," said one society lady the other day, "for I had just mastered the art."

Young women of Germany have a superstition that if they bury a drop of their blood under a rosebush it will ever afterward insure the experimenter a pair of rosy cheeks.

Miss Helen Gould recently said in answer to some inquiries about her large expenditure on charities: "To be wealthy and not to know how to enjoy money is to be in a wretched state."

The coming woman ought to know something. It is stated by Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer that $11,000,000 has been given in this country in the last quarter of a century to women's colleges alone.

How the bicycle interest has spread among women is evidenced by a recent announcement in the advertisement of a Brooklyn dry goods firm, that a rack is provided for bicycles and "wheels may be checked while ladies make their purchases"

It is intended to form a girls' cricket club in connection with the South London Polytechnic. Miss Helen Smith, B. A., the lady superintendent, maintains that the game is better for girls than tennis, being much more educational.

The inventor of the menu holder, with mirror back was undoubtedly a woman. She understood the value of a sly look at hair flowers and complexion, It is such a tonic to wit and conversation to be assured one is looking her best.

Mrs. Isabella Bird Bishop, the well-known traveler and writer of books of travel, is the first woman to deliver an address before the British House of Commons. She was summoned there to tell what she had seen of the Christians of Turkish Koordistan.

The three young women who passed the entrance examination to Yale with credit will have to get what satisfaction they can from this source. They will not be allowed to pursue their studies under the elms within the inclosure sacred to the other sex.

Miss Mary Pulling took the first honors in Mental and Moral Science, English and French, at the recent graduation exercises of the University of London. On this occasion eighty women took the B. A. degree in a class of 240 graduates of both sexes.

One of the consignors to the New York Woman's Exchange supports herself and family on the sale of fruit cake. The loaf is made of nutmeal and frosted with cream heavy with white fruit—bits of canned peaches, cherries, pineapple, pear, quince and shavings of citrons, pistache and figs. The baker gets $1.80 for every cake sold.

In an article on "The Ethics of a Dinner Party," Lady Magnus deplores the practice of employing professional entertainers to amuse guests, and shows that hospitality of this sort is vulgar and pretentious. Her ideal dinner party is one constructed on ethical principles which give equal thought and attention to the dinner and the party.

Rips in gloves should be stopped at once. A small hole can be much more neatly mended than a large one. Buttons should be sewed securely in place and under no circumstances should the ever useful pin do duty in their stead. If collars or ruchings are worn, it should be remembered that a line of white at throat and wrists, unless it is immaculate, had much better be left off entirely.

A young woman with a thorough musical education and good business ability proposes to make use of both her talents in a new way. She has opened a musical studio in a large city, and secured the agency of several of the best pianos in the market. The merits of the instruments she will probably be able to make clear to a buyer with much more skill than would an ordinary salesman.

Not as Wicked as Painted.

It has become so much the custom for those cities jealous of the greatness and fame of Chicago to publish envious and malicious libels upon her Christian character that it is a pleasant surprise to find in a voice from Canada a fair-minded description of Sunday life in Chicago. In the course of an interesting letter published in a widely circulating Dominion newspaper the correspondent thus disposes of that venerable slander, the "wickedness of Chicago:"

"There are over 350 churches in this city, from the pulpits of which ring out 700 warnings each Sabbath to those who have ears to hear. These churches have a seating capacity of 250,000. In addition to this three of the theaters and one large hall and several smaller ones are utilized on Sunday morning for religious purposes. Supposing that each of these churches are but half filled at each service, that would possibly be a fair average for this or any other city, would give an attendance of 125,000 for each service, two services each Sunday (the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches have more,) will show an attendance of 300,000. Add to the 8,000 or 10,000 who attend the several services in the aforesaid theaters and halls will bring the total up to considerably over 300,000 church attendants each Sunday in Chicago out of a population of 800,000. Then take into consideration the many Sunday-schools, some of them having an average attendance of 4,000 and 6,000. So, notwithstanding all that might be said about the wickedness of Chicago, she will compare favorably with like cities even in Puritan Canada."

A Habit Died Out.

The habit of inhaling snuff was so prevalent fifty years ago, not only with gentlemen but with many elderly ladies, that there were few counting rooms or offices that did not have a huge box supplied with the favorite maccaboy snuff and the sweet smelling bean on the desk, counter or bracket specially arranged for it, and callers would inhale a pinch or two, then draw forth a huge yard square red silk handkerchief, and there would be a resounding blast. Fortunately, no American then wore a mustache. Men did not carry white linen handkerchiefs, but sometimes used white silk ones in those days. As bad personal habits usually increase, it's a marvel that this one died out some years ago.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Cream of Tartar and Soda

Have uses in cooking well known to every housekeeper; but the method of refining them to make them chemically pure, and of mixing them together so as to produce their greatest leavening power and best results when combined, is a matter of great exactness, requiring the most expert knowledge and skill.

Royal Baking Powder

Is the product of this knowledge and experience and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in patents and appliances for its preparation. It is a compound of strictly pure grape cream of tartar and absolutely pure soda, combined with exactness and care by famous chemists, and it will produce more wholesome and delicate bread, biscuit, cake, rolls, etc., than can be had where this modern agent of cooking is not used.

Beware of the cheap compounds called baking powders to catch the unwary. They are made with alum and are poisonous.

Guilds in China.

Speaking of employer's unions, all classes of Chinese men have their guilds and these are almost as old as the country. One of the finest Club Houses of China is that of the Canton merchants of Foo Chow. It is made up of a great number of finely finished rooms elegantly furnished in Chinese fashion and located in the best part of the city. Here the merchants come to drink tea and to chat. They have a temple and a theater connected with it, and the club consists of five hundred members. I visited at Shanghai some of the finest specimens of Chinese architecture I have seen. They were guild halls belonging to tea and rice merchants, and they had wonderful gardens of caves and rocks built up in the busiest part of the city. These guilds regulate the commerce of China. They fill the rate of interst, the time on which goods may be sold, the weights and the standards of goods. A member using different scales than the one prescribed is fined, and a man acting contrary to the guild can, in many instances, not go on with his business. One of the druggists' guilds has just adopted some new rules which lie before me. These prescribe that accounts shall be settled three times every year, and that a discount of 5 per cent. may be allowed on cash transactions. No member in the guild shall be permitted to trade with the others while he is in debt to a member of the guild, and any member who violates these laws shall pay for two theater plays for the guild, and for the drinks and a feast for twenty members. Some of these guilds prescribe that promissory notes shall be dated on the day of sale, and all of them fix the rules of giving credit. The bankers' guild fix all matters relating to interest, and these different organizations make the dealings of foreigners with the Chinese more safe than such dealings would be in other countries. The Chinamen respects his contract, and if he does not his guild makes him.—Frank G. Carpenter's letter from Pekin.
