The Lasso.

The cowboy's lasso is made by cutting a rawh de into thin strips and half tann ng wt bit he hair on. These strips are then stretched over a block and braided nto a rope, the strands be ng pulled very t ght. The lasso is then bur ed in sand for a week or two, and absorbs mo sture from the ground, which makes it soft and pliable. When taken out of the ground it is stretched out, and the hair is sand; ajered o.T. It s then greased with mutton tailow and properly noosed, when it is ready for use.

Tariff duties and internal revenue taxatfor on incomes and corporations are exciting public interest, but of quite as much interest are those things which tax the system and require at once an external remedy. The New York Times relates the following anecdote of the late Archbishop Hughes: Dr. Hughes was once visited by a crank in his Mulberry street residence. It was at night, and the crank entered the bedroom, and, waking Dr. Hughes from a sound sleep, drew a dagger and threatened to kill him. With wonderful presence of mind the prelate cried out: "Are you an Irishman?" "I am," replied the crank. "Then go out," said Dr. Hugkes, "and get a blackthorn stick and kill me with that. No Irishman ever yet killed a man with a dagger; only Ita/inns use that weapon." "The crank put up his knife and went out for the blackthorn," said Dr. Brann, "and the prelate's life was saved."

HE Mormon marriage ceremony is a mystery to the Gentile world. Until the completion of the Temple it was celebrated in the Endowment House—a frame building which stood near the round house Tabernacle. Under the Mormon code marriages not celebrated in the Temple were not binding, but many years ago an act celebrated in the Temple were not binding, but many years ago an amended vision was received by the Prophet to the effect that such departure could be permitted until the sompletion of the Temple, on the ground that a person would not be damned for doing the best he could. Then the saints rested easy and paid their tithing—the Temple costing them about three times its actual value.

There is as much marrying among the saints as there was before the passage by Congress of proscriptive laws. The ceremonial is secret, the most terrible oath being administered. The business is a perfectly legitimate one. Only a fair amount of interest is charged for the u-e of the goods and nothing is ever attempted in the way of deceiving customers as to the actual value of the jewelry they hire. You can go to this store and get a watch set with furquoi-e, to wear on the lapel of your new electric blue gown, and you can keep the watch as long as you p'e-ise by paying the rate of interest agreed upon when you take possession of it. Of course you must pay a deposit amounting to the fu'l value of the turquoise bauble before you take it out of the shop, but when you go back with it all the money will be refunded except the small sum charg d for its use, it is so with diamonds, and rings. Indeed, the whole list and category of jewelry might be included. On the night of a larre ball the shop will be nearly cleared of its rentable stock. By the nix day noon everything is returned, and the jewelry, newly polished and qlittering as ever, are back in their cases waiting for the next his ing out.

We breathe with our lungs, our lights, our kidneys and our livers. If it wasn't for our breath we would die when we slept. Our breath keeps the life a-going through the nose when we tre asleep. Boys who stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should wait until they get out in the fresh air. Boys in a room nake bad air called carbonicide. Carbonicide is as poison as mad dogs.
