tie at 178 each, and considering the bit ter fight made against some of the Demo-cratic nominees their election by decis-ive majorities was a surprise to their friends and opponents alike. Of the 381 votes cast there were 48 straight Democratic tickets and 69 straight Republican tickets; the other 164 were cut up in a terrible manner. The special tax levy for light and water carried by an unexpected majority, and the constitution for light and water carried by an unexpected majority, and the opposition against the question was not nearly so much as was looked for. Nothing was left undone to bring out a full vote, and the friends of the several candidates worked unceasingly all day to accomplish saccess. It was, without doubt, the hottest political contest that has yet taken place in the borough.

The following is the official yote of Freeland borough. The total number polled was 331. In the first column is the vote for each candidate, and in the second is the plurality:
