NOTICE-A meeting of the stockholders of the Clitzens' Bank of Freeland will be held at the banking house of said bank on Wednesday, April 4, 1894, from 10 to 11 o'clock a.m., to elect directors to serve the ensuing year. Freeland, Pa., March a, 1894. were in many cases snapped off like match wood. In some of the gangway match wood. In some of the gangways and breasts men could not work for two and three days at a time owing to the squeeze. To the present management this state of affairs is not due, however but is blue and the days. this state of an arises is not due, however, but is laid on the shoulders of the of-ficials who conducted the mine the first three years it was opened. They put men to work robbing pillers as fast as the breasts were being worked up and the consequences are now vividly illus-trated in the present encourse.

the consequences are now vividly illus-trated in the present squeeze. Messrs, Long and O'Donnell, the pre-sent officials, are capable men. They have done everything possible to put the slope in a safe condition, but pre-vious management by unqualified super-intendents was too great and the result is a general suspension of work. During the suspension men will be kept at work timbering and strencthening the waskest timbering and strengthening the weaks places, and in the course of a few weeks the slope will be in condition to resume operations.
