acco Soon Destroys the Bacilli of the Deadly Oriental Plague.

Some interesting investigations have been made on the vitality of cholera organisms on tobacco by Wernicke, says Nature. Small pleces of linen soaked in cholera-broth culcholera organisms on tobacco by Wernicke, says Nature. Small pleces of linen soaked in cholera-broth cultures were rolled up in various kinds of tobacco, and the latter ware made into cigars. At the end of twenty-four hours only a few bacilli were found on the linen, and none on the leaf. On sterile and dry tobacco leaves, the bacilli disappeared in one-half to three hours after inoculation. On moist, unsterilized leaves they disappeared in from one to three days, but on mist and sterile leaves in from two to four days. When introduced into a 5 per cent tobacco infusion (ten grams of leaves to 200 grams of water), however, they retained their vitality up to thirty-three days, but in a more concentrated infusion (one gram of leaves to two grams of water) they succumbed in twenty-four hours. When enveloped in tobacco smoke they were destroyed, in broth cultures, as well as in sterilized and unsterilized saliva, in five minutes. Another authority describes a series of experiments in which he prepared broth cultures of different pathogenic microbes, and conducted through them the smoke from various kinds of tobacco. Out of thirty three separate investigations, in only three were the cholera organisms alive after thirty minutes' exposure to tobacco fumes. But in actual experience the apparent antiseptic properties of tobacco fumes. Muca Made.

Money stringency is not the only cause of hard times, and it takes very little money to make a good deal of happiness, as the following shows: Mr. R. B. Kyle, Tower Hill, Appomattox County, Va., writes that he was afflicted with rheumatism for several years, and physicians gave him no relief. Finally he was rubbed all over with St. Jacobe Oil and it cured. During his illness he had spasms and was not expected to live. This points a way to many who think times hard, but who can find an easy way out of their troubles.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to dapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kildneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Two students of Princeton College were lately fined $50 for ill-treating a Chinaman. What spoils the good effect of this action is the incomprehensible remarks of the judge when the students were brought before him. He objected to the consideration of such case, and said that the college authorities ought to have punished the students without calling in the aid of the law. It is just this idea that college students are not like other citizens amenable to civil laws that has leen a prolific source of demoralization in cities where colleges are found. Nobody should be above obedience to law and nobody should be beneath its protecting shield.
