

FREELAND TRIBUNE.

VOL. VI. No. 83.

FREELAND, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1894.

$1.50 PER YEAR.

APPOINTED TO OFFICES.

HIGH CONSTABLE AND JANITOR SELECTED BY COUNCIL.

All the Borough Offices Are Now Filled for Another Year—R. Ludwig Captures the Position of High Constable and Patrick Welsh the Janitorship.

The members of the borough council met in regular session on Monday evening. All members were present, and the following bills were read and approved:

Freeland Water Co., rent of water plugs, $6 00
Cody Boyle, janitor, 12 00
Cody Boyle, feeding prisoners, 10 00
Penna. G. L. Co., rent of lamps, 42 25
John Daneker, crossing stones, 134 88

An invitation was read from the Citizens' Hose Company, asking council to attend the banquet to be held at Cottage hall, April 11. The invitation was accepted.

The question of pay for street labor and teams was taken up and fixed as follows: Street commissioner, $1.50 per day; laborers, $1.25 per day; double team, $4.00 per day; single team, $2.00 per day.

Street Commissioner Boyle presented his report for March, amounting to $54.60. It was approved and ordered paid.

The burgess presented his report for March. Receipts, $18.75; expenses, $15; amount due treasurer, $3. Police expenses as follows: James M. Gallagher, $4.90; Jacob Wolf, $4.90; Daniel Gallagher, $3.65; Louis Rymer, $3.65; Daniel Jones, $6.15; Patrick Welsh, $2.50; total, $25.75. The report was approved and ordered paid.

The auditors' report was read and ordered published in the Tribune and Progress.

The question of appointing a janitor for the council room, firemen's room and lockup was discussed, and it was agreed that the person presenting the lowest bid should be selected. The applicants asked the following amounts per month: Stephen Page, $11.50; Patrick Welsh, $8.75; Cody Boyle, $12; Daniel Dauber, $10; Patrick Ward, $9; G. G. Pritchard, $10. Patrick Welsh was appointed.

The secretary stated that he had brought a check from the county treasurer for $2,576.80 as the borough's share of license money.

Burgess McLaughlin stated he had sent out notices to several parties to clean up their gutters and as a result it was being complied with. He was instructed to proceed against all who failed to comply, as the ordinance directs.

Councilman McLaughlin, of the street committee, reported several of the back streets in poor condition. The matter was laid over. The question of cleaning up was discussed, and it was agreed to have all alleys cleaned by the first of May.

The ordinance authorizing the president and burgess to enter into a contract with the Freeland Electric Light, Heat and Power Company to light the streets with arc lights, for a period of five years, at the rate of $100 per lamp per annum, to burn all night and every night, the number of lamps at no time to be less than fifteen, was read twice, all members voting for it.

The election of a high constable was then taken up. There were three applicants, Stephen Page, George Boyle and Rudolph Ludwig. Mr. Ludwig was elected on the eighth ballot.

The burgess asked permission to use the council room for hearings. It was granted, except when council is in session and on days when elections are held.

The ordinance above referred to was read for the third time and passed, all members voting for it. The president and secretary signed it and it was approved by the burgess and ordered published for a period of ten days.

The question of opening Johnson street was discussed. Some time ago council and property owners met and agreed that it be opened, but there seems to be no sign of complying with the promises. The street committee of council will view the street and report to council at a special meeting which will be held Wednesday evening, the 18th inst.

Jumped to Save Her Life.

One of most heroic and thrilling rescues ever witnessed on a railroad was performed on Tuesday afternoon in the sight of a train load of passengers on the Jersey Central Railroad. Train No. 16, south bound from Scranton, is an express making but two stops between that city and Wilkes-Barre, and it was flying along at the rate of forty miles an hour when on rounding a curve approaching Minooka Junction, the engineer saw a little girl crossing the railroad bridge which spans the Lackawanna river. She was half way over the structure when he pulled the whistle.

As the sound reached her ears she turned and seeing the engine bearing down upon her ran ahead a few steps and then realizing the impossibility of reaching the other side before the train would be upon her she sprang to the side of the single track and jumped into the river, twenty feet below. In the few seconds in which this happened the engineer had been reversing the engine and putting on the air brakes, but knew it was impossible to stop the train in time to save the child.

The passengers, knowing something was in the way by the jolting of the air brakes, stuck their heads out of the windows in time to see the child jump. As her form sank beneath the water another figure whirled through the air. It was the fireman. John Miller, of Wilkes-Barre, springing to the rescue. He had seen the child at the same time as the engineer, and acting instantly, had jumped down between the engine and the tender, and as the girl sprang into the water he leaped after her. The stream swollen by the late rains was quite high and the current swift.

Hardly had Miller disappeared under the water than the girl was seen several yards in front of him, but he quickly came to the surface and struck out after her. She went down a second time, but as she rose Miller was by her side, and grasping her firmly he turned and after a struggle managed to reach the shore almost exhausted.

The little girl, who gave her name as Anna Blaze, of Minooka, was little the worse for her plunge into the stream, and as soon as the train reached the town was taken home by friends. The passengers on the train then collected a good-sized purse which they presented to Miller when the train reached Wilkes-Barre.

Fell Down an Old Sloop.

A young couple had a peculiar adventure on Tuesday evening at Ashley. William Grow and Jennie Smith were out walking and crossed a field. They were about to sit down on a log when, without warning, the earth underneath Grow's feet gave way and he found himself entombed with only his head above ground.

Miss Smith ran to a boiler house near by and several men going to the assistance of Grow extricated him. The couple had been standing over the mouth of an abandoned slope when the rotten timbers supporting the few inches of earth that hid it from view gave way.

State Meeting of Lutherans.

A call has been issued by Rev. W. H. Singley, of Harrisburg, for a state convention of the Lutherans of Pennsylvania, to be held in that city on June 25 and 26. Lutheran societies will be entitled to three delegates each and the Central Associations of Lutherans to five delegates each in the convention.

It will be the first gathering of this denomination ever held in Pennsylvania and will be attended by about 1,500 delegates. There will be all day and evening sessions.

Deadlock in Hazleton Common Council.

The common council of the city of Hazleton adjourned on Monday night, after taking forty-nine ballots for a president without a result. The chamber is composed of twelve Republicans and eight Democrats. C. F. Hill and Geo. W. Thompson, both Republicans, are the candidates. The voting stood 10 to 10 without varying after the first two ballots were cast. The fight will be continued today.

New Music Publications.

The Popular Music Monthly, Indianapolis, Ind., (quarterly issue) for April will be hailed with delight by lovers of popular music. Among the features of this issue will be the following new music arranged for the piano and organ. A stirring march, "Under the Double Eagle," by the famous German bandmaster, J. H. Wagner; a piano reverie, "Alone at Twilight," a melodious Southern song entitled, "Uncle Dan," and many other popular pieces. The publishers will mail a copy of this issue to anyone sending the names of three piano and organ performers and ten cents in postage.

Trout Not to be Killed Before April 15.

The Freeland Game and Fish Protective Club will pay a reward of $10 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons catching, or having in his or her possession after being caught or killed, any brook trout or California trout, in any of the streams or waters within fifteen miles of Freeland, Pa., before the 15th day of April, 1894.

Hugh Malloy, President.

Freeland, Pa., March 23, 1894.

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.

The new fish warden, Patrick Murrin, was taught his first lesson in the art of catching poachers, a few days ago at the Honeyhole. It seems some joker gave the warden a "tip" that the boys of this place were playing havoc with the game fish on the Nescopeck creek, and he at once saddled a horse and made for the fishing grounds with all possible speed. While patrolling the stream on horseback he struck a morass, the horse began to sink and in a few moments the animal was imbedded in the mud to its body and was unable to move. While pondering over the uncomfortable position his horse was in, several young men of town, who spend their leisure hours about the creek, put in an appearance and helped the warden to get his horse out. It is safe to say that the warden will leave his horse at home the next time he goes on a hunt for poachers. If he does want to fulfill the duties of his office and be recompensed for it, we would advise him to watch the roads which point from Freeland in this direction. It will be a sure catch almost every day.

Mrs. Thomas Parry is lying dangerously ill and there are poor hopes of her recovery. The collieries here were shut down for the balance of the week yesterday, and work of almost every kind is suspended. Wilson Mowrey has changed his residence to the old butcher house, near the South Heberton crossing.

Miss Rose Ferry is about again after her long sickness.

Quite a number of our young people attended the fair of the St. Aloysius T. A. B. Society at White Haven on Saturday night.

James Boyle, who has been idle with an injured hand, resumed work on Monday.

Our town is to have a base ball club this season. A committee is at work now selecting the material of which it is to be composed.

Another large and improved steam shovel will be put in operation at No. 5 striping in the near future.

A valuable cow belonging to William Jackson died last week.

Ike Waldron is slowly recovering from a very severe attack of sickness.

Work is continued in the new slope at Railroad street.

Repairing fences and cleaning up the gardens is all the rage now.

Michael Mulligan, accompanied by his son, Michael, Jr., spent a few days this week in Philadelphia.

ECKLEY CLIPPINGS.

The organ and all of the benches of the Presbyterian church here were moved to Freeland, and the church is expected to be moved shortly. This structure has been an old landmark in town and its removal is regretted by several of the old residents. It has been used by the Germans for the past few years, and they will have to look for another place to hold their services. The church, after being taken to Freeland, will be rebuilt on Front street.

John James is laid up with a severe attack of neuralgia.

Freas Swank and Josiah Berryman, of Lattimer, spent Sunday in town.

Miss Lillie Heastand, of Highland, is visiting friends here.

Miss Gertrude Mochamer is visiting relatives at Milnesville.

James Lewis and family were at Hazleton on Sunday.

Mrs. John Cunningham and daughter, Miss Eva, spent a few hours in town on Tuesday.

It is rumored that one of our D. S. & S. men is going to take to himself a better half.

Mrs. James Givens has opened up a candy shop.

Edward Murrin is doing jury duty this week.

BRIEF ITEMS OF NEWS.

LOCAL JOTTINGS GATHERED FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

Little Ones of Interest About People You Know and Things You Wish to Hear About—What the Folks of This Vicinity Are Doing.

Andrew Hudak will remove his meat market tomorrow from Fern street to Eckert's building, in the Points.

The congregation of the Bethel Baptist church will hold their fourth annual tea party on the 30th of next month.

J. F. O'Neill, Esq., has opened an office at 20 Centre street, second floor, and is prepared to attend to all kinds of legal business.

John J. McDonald was on Tuesday appointed postmaster at Kingston and John T. Killen to the same position at Luzerne borough.

Hugh O'Donnell, a D. S. & S. trainman, was caught between cars while at work on Monday. His right arm was severely crushed. He resides at Hazleton.

James A. Christy intends to dispose of his business here and devote all his time to the selling of sewing machines. He has not yet sold his stock, but expects to do so before long.

A birthday party was tendered to Mrs. James Tully at her residence on Adams street on Tuesday evening. It was attended by a number of her friends and the evening was spent pleasantly.

Attention is called to the correspondence relating to brush fires, which is published on the second page today. This is a matter that deserves more attention than is being given it by the county authorities.

The Freeland Electric Light Company is making preparations to start work upon its plant. A large building, equipped with the latest and most improved light-making machinery, will be erected near the water works.

A teachers' institute will be held on Saturday at White Haven. It is to include the teachers of Freeland, Foster, Denison and White Haven, and will be addressed by Prof. N. Schaeffer, state superintendent of schools.

Judge Rice filed an order in the case of Austin Dando, who was released from prison by Warden Jones before his term expired. The judge directs that Dando return to jail and serve out his time until released according to law.

Phil Bachman, who has signed to play ball with Pottsville state league team, has resigned his position as manager of the Freeland branch of Bachman & Sons' undertaking business. He will be succeeded by Jacob Nagle, of Hazleton.

Prof. Patrick Furey expects to leave today for the Keely Institute at Wilkes-Barre. The expenses to be incurred in trying to reform him will be paid by some of his friends. The professor has no faith in the "gold cure," and says he will go only to prove that he can't be reformed.

A. K. Burger has contracted to build a house for Martin Korchak, of Eckley, on the Birkbeck estate, on the east side of Washington street, near the borough line. Mr. Burger made another contract yesterday to build a large single dwelling on Adams street for John Rebarchak, of Highland.

PERSONALITIES.

James Tully, of the Points, is doing duty on the grand jury at Wilkes-Barre this week. James J. Malloy, of the Points, was also drawn, but was excused on Monday.

Amandus Oswald returned on Monday from New York city, where he had been securing a stock for the spring trade.

Robert Thomas removed from Hazleton to this place today.

J. B. Laubach spent a few days doing business in Philadelphia this week.

JOURNALISTIC.

Hazleton's bright morning paper, the Standard, ended its third year as a daily on Monday and celebrated the occasion by publishing eight pages. For one so young the Standard has achieved unusual success, yet it is deserved, for the publishers are hard-working young men and have our best wishes for the future.

The Stroudsburg Times on Monday began the publication of a daily edition, a six-column folio. Like everything else coming from the Times office it is neat and good-looking, and Monroe county should return Editor Hughes good support for the paper he is giving.
