Race Prejudice.

Race prejudice will often help a man to carry out a fraud, said a citizen of Helena, Mont., the other day. There is an alleged gold mine in our state which has proved the graveyard for thousands of dollars invested by over-sanguine white men. Finally s colored man got hold of it for a song, and very shrewdly renamed it after his own race. He then started on a junketing tour through the southern states, and, making use of an excep tionally smooth tongue, harangued crowds of negroes on the injustice to crowds of negroes on the injustice to colored people in restricting all profits of gold mining to the whites. His announcement of some of the large fortunes made by white people was followed by the announcement that for the first time a fair chance was given to the negroes, and hot cakes seldom sold more variety than his fixed-like. sold more rapidly than his five-dollar sold more rapidly than his five-dollar shares. He carried this on for quite a long period, and without, as far as I can see, infringing any law or laying himself open to any proceedings, he accumulated quite a small fortune for himself. The mine was a bona fide one, inasmuch as a number of men one, inasmuch as a number of men were always kept working in it, and from time to time there has been enough yield in a month to pay a week's wages. The great feature of the scheme was the play upon names and prejudices, and this proved a most remarkable success.

A Gigantic Scheme.

A bill has been introduced in the house providing for the appointment by the president of a commission to by the president of a commission to examine and report upon the feasibility and desirability of constructing a boulevard from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans. The bill was introduced at the request of Dr. John T. Nagle, the chief of the bureau of vital statistics of New York. The commission, Mr. Dunphy says, is to report upon the Mr. Dunphy says, is to report upon the cost of the boulevard, the character of the roadbed and the several states through which it will run from New York to the Pacific slope. Dr. Nagle's idea is to make the proposed boulevard similar to that of the western boulevard in New York city, with a roadway on either side, and a promenade through the center, shaded by trees. Mr. Dunphy roughly estimates the cost at one hundred million dollars. Aside from the utility of the roadway, it would afford employment for thousands of idle men, which he regards as one of the chief considerations of the the roadbed and the several state one of the chief considerations of the

According to recent accounts Eng lish capitalists have decided to plant one of the largest wine grape vine-yards in the world in Howell county, Mo. A syndicate composed principally of hotel and restaurant owners has been formed, and will divide about been formed, and will awide about four thousand acres of land into forty-acre tracts for vine growing. Peach and apple orchards may also be planted. The wine from the grapes is to be sold in England, and all the products of the place sent to England. The country and the climate are especially adapted for vineyard pur

PROF. FALB, of Berlin, prophesies a very probable collision between the earth and the comet of 1860 on November 18, 1899, when the comet will cut the point where the earth arrives every year at that time. But he does not think harm could come of such a collision, the material of the comet being so light, unless the carbonic acid gas of which 'it is probably composed should poison our atmosphere. But, anyway, he says we may look out for a magnificent shower of meteors on that date.

HERE is an analysis of what is alleged to be the typical American face: The prominent nose, the sloping forehead, the fairly large mouth, the full eyes and predominance of the oval type are the natural characteristics of an sive, talented and shrewd people, agreeable in manners but keenly alive to the main chance. Man has a rocky time of it anyhow, and there is no reason why he should not show symptoms of being tired of receiviting in general why he should not show symptoms of being tired of everything in general and nothing in particular. I was once tired out from labor. I tried to cross a stream three times. The first time the bridge broke and I fell into the water and swam to the same shore I had started from. I tried itagain the next day and the same thing congred. The day and the same thing occurred. The third time I started to drive across the bridge, but the horses jumped over the side, taking me with them. I struck out for the right shore, but just then one of the horses kelede me in the head, and I sank to the bottom of the stream. I lay there for five days, and when I was finally taken out I found myself on the same side of the stream I had started from; so I gave the job up as a bad one and ceased laboring to get to the haven where I would be Labor kills many men, but nine-tenths Labor kills many men, but nine-tenths of the people die from worry rather than from labor. There are just two days in the week I don't worry about —yesterday and to-morrow. It gives one a little rest from worry, and if you will all follow my plan you will live long and be happy."

Cheap Road Improvement

An interesting experiment in the improvement of public roads is in progress in Newcomb township, Ill. The ress in Newcomb township, Ill. The farmers in that vicinity have always been strongly opposed to schemes for building hard roads, claiming that their construction would practically confiscate the farms. They have therefore held to the improvement of the common dirt roads, constructing them with underdrainage by the use of tile with underdrainage by the use with underdraining by the use of tile and with open side ditches. The re-sult is that they have the best roads in the county. Last fall they tried rounding them up by the use of a road grader drawn by a traction engine, and the experiment worked so well that and the experiment worked so well that they have tried it again this spring Owners of traction engines have no employment for them at this season and are glad of the chance to do the work. The price paid for an engine, with two men, is eight dollars a day, and it is found that in two weeks of good weather one engine can surface and it is found that in two weeks of good weather one engine can surface up all the roads in the township, leaving them in better condition than hand or team work could do it, and in less time and at a fifty per cent. saving in expense. It is proposed to entirely abandon the labor tax for road purposes and to are all road to the references. poses and to pay all road taxes in cash, the work to be done by machinery
