Remarkable Experience of Postaster Woodson, of Panama, Mo.-For Ten Years a Cripple-To-Day A Well and Hearty Man.

The people of Rich Hill, Mo., and vicinity have recently been, startled by a seeming miracle of healing. For years one of the best known men in Bates and Verona counted has been Mark M. Woodson, now post master of Panama, and brother of ex-State Inspector of Mines, C. C. Woodson, now post master of Panama, and brother of ex-State Inspector of Mines, C. C. Woodson, of this city. The people of Rich Hill, where he formerly resided, and of his present home, remember well the bent form, misshapen almost from the semblance of man, which has painfully bowed its head half to earth and labored small-like across the walks season after season, and when one day last month it straightened to its full height, threw away to heavy but of cane which for years had been its only support from total heighessness, and walked erect, firmly, unhesitatingly about the two cities, people looked and wondered. The story of the remarkable case has become the marvel of the two counties. Exactly as Mr. Woodson told it to a Times reporter, it is here published: "For ten years I have suffered more noute and constant agony than I have been a use-less invalid; to-day I am well and hearty man, free from almost every touch of pain. I don't think man ever suffered more noute and constant agony than I have since 1881. The rheumatism started then in my right knee, and after weeks of suffering the hill the same the suffered more noute and constant agony than I have since itse, but it was only to get about on crutches for five years, the allment having settled in the joint. Despite constant treatment of the most eminent physicians the rheumatism grew worse, and for the lest four years I have been compelled to go about bent half toward the ground. In the winter of 1800-1810, and there contented with the same result. In August, 1932, I went to St. Louis, and there conferred with the first house of a more than temporary can be treated and the sum of product and continuent of the most eminent physician to the during hear of the contents of the contents of t

A Thirty-four Year Old Letter.

A Thirty-four Year Old Lotter.

"It is an exceedingly rare thing nowadays in any civilized country for a letter, properly stamped, sealed and addressed, to fail to reach its destination." said a Government official. "Sometimes letters are written which are never received, but the great number of letters which go to the dead letter officer because they are not properly addressed, or not addressed at all, serve to explain the greater part of these rare disappearances. Now and then, however, some one somewhere in this country is astonished to receive a letter that was written and posted years before. Not long ago a lady in Vermont reseived a letter which was written and bore evidence of having been malled in 1860. The stamp on the letter was obsolete, but the post-office department forwarded it to its destination, as the stamp was good at the time it was first mailed. Where the letter had been all these years was never explained, but it may be sumised that it had slipped Where the letter had been all these years was never explained, but it may be surmised that it had slipped into some crack or c.evice in the course of transmission, and remained there until the making of certain repairs revealed it. It was then put in the mail anow and nothing said about it."—St. Louis Globe-Demegrat.
