covered no less than 40 pages of typewin-ten legal cap.

Immediately upon their arrival in this sity Judges Wood and Grosseup repaired to the government building and the bill was submitted for their consideration. In the meantime Edwin Walker, who en Sunday had been commissioned by Attra-ney General Olney as special counsel for the government, had also reached town, the supportance of the page of ney General Olney as special counsel for the government, had also reached town, and was also on hand to take part in the conference. When the bill had been roughly reviewed he raised the grounds of a violation of the interstate commerce act; whereas, according to his own views of the situation, interference with trains carrying the United States malls should form a sallent feature of the complaint. The judges were inclined to the same view and so the bill was returned to a lawyer for amendment. When the attorneys again returned the amended result of their labors it proved acceptable and the restraining order was promptly issued. In part it reads as follows:

Elfine, James Hannan, John Mastebrook, William Smith, Edward O'Neil Charles Nailer, John Duffy, William McMullen, E. Shelby, Fred Kretam, John Doyle and all other persons combining and conspiring with them and all other persons whomsoever are enjoined absolutely to refrain from interfering or stopping any of the business of the railroads in Chicago engaged as common carriers of passengers and freight between states, and from interfering with mail, express or other trains, whether freight or passenger, engaged in interstate commerce, or destroying the property of any of the railroads of the mail of the purpose of stopping trains or interfering with property; from compelling or inducing by threats, personsion or violence any of the employes of such road in connection with interstate commerce of such railroads, or the carrying of mails, passengers or freight, or attempting to induce by threats or intimidation any of the employes of such road in connection with interstate commerce of such railroads, or the carrying of mails, passengers or freight, or attempting to induce by threats or intimidation any of the employes of such roads and the railroads or preventing any persons from entering the service of such road in competion with interestate commerce of such road. The order went on at length in such wording as to prove a veritable drag net, completely overlag any demonstration of violence or interference whatever with trains, on the grounds that such interference would be a hindrance of United States mails and a violation of privileges granted railroads under the interstate commerce laws. Every road entering the city and affected by the strike, to a total of 32, was specifically named and the employes thereof specifically enjoined. Referring ts the sco

Electricity in Place of Steam.

New York, July 3.—The General Electric company announces that it has just closed an important contract with the West Side Electric railway, of Chicago, to equip its entire line with electricity on a principle similar to that employed in the Intramural railway at the Chicago exposition. This is said to be the first real adaptation in this country of the electrical system to the roads usually operated by steam locomotives.

Herron Won the Match.

The much-talked of shooting match between M. E. Fritzinger, of Freeland, and Patrick Herron, of Milnesville, took between M. E. Fritzinger, of Freeland, and Patrick Herron, of Milnesville, took place in the field near the old Woodside breaker yesterday. Over 1,000 people were on the grounds when the contestants began to shoot, and for three hours excitement was kept at a high pitch. The match was for $300 a side, and each was to shoot at eleven birds. Fach killed two trial birds, and this, with the fine practice they had been doing, induced their friends to put out their money freely. Herron's shooting was of the phenomenal order. The score was as follows:

Fritzinger ... 0 1 1 1 0 0 0 1—4 Herron ... 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—8

An Important Decision.

Judge Rice, on Monday, handed down a decision in the case of Thomas 7. Davis, constable of the Tenth ward of Nanticoke. He finds that persons appointed to a vacated office of constable merely holds over until the regular election following the appointment.

This practically settles the question as to who is constable of Foster township. John J. Slattery was appointed to succeed Charles Sault, deceased, but at the late spring election Theodore Pundy was elected. For a time both exercised the duties of constable. This decision settles the question, and Mr. Pundy is Foster's constable.

DENOUNCE THE ORDER

A. R. U. Men Angry at Federal Interference.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The critical point in the railroad strike will be reached within Chicago, July 3.—The critical point in the railroad strike will be reached within 20 hours. That was the opinion confidently expressed at the headquarters of the railroad managers at a late hour last night. It is likewise the first expression emanating from the managers and since the commencement of hostilities with which the representatives of the strikers are in complete accord. Both elements are sanguine that the beginning of the end will be in sight before sundown to-day.

As to the means by which this desirable consummation is to be attained, however, there is a radical difference of opinion. The general managers profess to believe that the extraordipary injunction issued by Judges Woods and Grossoup will prove to be worthy of the terse yet epigrammatical designation given it by the members of the federal judiciary first named, "A gatting gun on paper."

A veritable drag-net in the matter of legal verbinge; one of those peculiar instruments that punishes an individual for doing a certain thing and is equally merciless if he does not do it so, so it is idifficult to members and the supersonal service is not an absolute necessity to its legal enforcement. According to the law as expouded by United States District Attorney Milchrist last night, the publication of the decree in a widely circuitated paper, its posting in a public place where it is certain to be read and its contents disseminated; or the formal reading to a demonstrative crowd by a deputy marshal, may be ruled upon as constituting sufficient service to place those guilty of a breach of its provisions under the ban of the law. Under this interpretation thousnads of strikers might be arrested day after day and be arraigned and summarily dealt with for contempt of court, and this is precisely the policy, according to the law. Under this interpretation thousnads of strikers might be arrested day after day and be arraigned and summarily dealt with for contempt of court, and this is precisely the policy, according to the propose and the particular top as to induce the strikers to pause and reason before proceeding farther in their present course.

But the strikers themselves reason differently. At their headquarters last evening the interference of the federal court was denounced in vigorous language by one and all of the hundreds if not thousands of railroad men that passed in and out, and the most intelligent of the number voiced the general sentiment in the declaration that the far-reaching and draw that the far-reaching and travel of the most of the strikers of the injunction would tend towards defeating the very ends to which it was directed. Instead of inducing men to return to work, so it was contended, it would result in driving out thousands of members of railroad organizations not affiliated with the union or apparently in sympathy with its present operations, simply because these men would not tolerate the cracking over the shoulders of their fellows of a government whip that some day or other, under similar circumstances, might be used as a lash for their own shoulders.

The opinion was confidently expressed in the strikers' camp last night that the engineers and fremen of every road that attempted to resume operation by virtue of the injunction would immediately leave their posts, and that clitzens that Cook tourly can produce, armed to the teeth and wearing the insignia of state or national authority, are subject to orders and will doubtless be brought into service to-day. Lights were burning in the windows of the government and county buildings alike at midnight and the authorities were prepared for any emergency.

Situation at Denver

Denver, July 3.—The strike situation here is not materially changed. All roads are running passenger trains with sleepers attached, although some of the trains are considerably delayed. A Sante Fe passenger train arrived yesterday with two Pulmans well filled with passengers, some of whom had been four days en route from Chicago. The Sante Fe officials claim to have every engine and train manned on he western division and all moving, though not on time. No trains are running through Trinidad.
