NO COMPROMISE YET

And None in Sight in the Tariff Deadlock.

Washington, July 25.—One of the mos ntertaining and remarkable features in Washington, July 25.—One of the most entertaining and remarkable features in the present great national performance on the floor of the senate was the part played in the present great national performance on the floor of the senator Hill (dem. N. Y.) as the defender of President Cleveland against the assaults of democratic senators in connection with the president's now famous letter to Mr. Wilson, the chairman of he house conferees on the tariff bill.

Mr. Hill took the ground that the letter being unofficial was no violation of the constitution; that it was no attack upon the senate, or upon any senator, but that it was no attack upon the senate, or upon any senator, but that policy and theories of the democratic party, and to advance the interests of the people. As to its being an unwarranted attempt to interfere with pending legislation, Mr. Hill asserted that the blame lay with those senators who, instead of acting on their own judgment and resposibility, "badgered" the president to give them his views upon the compromise bill which they had prepared.

If ewound up a two hours' speech (bristling all over with the spikes and speus of wit and sarcasm) by comparing the senatorial conspiracy against President Cleveland to that which compassed the assassination of Julius Cessar. In this historical parallel Senator Gorman, of Maryland stood for the "lean and hungry Cassius," of whom Casar said: "He thinks too much; such men are dangerous." Senator Jones, of #Arkansas, for "Honest Brutus," Senator Vest, of Missouri, for the "envious Casar," Senator Voorhees for Trebonious; and "the distinguished senator from Tennessee," Mr. Harris, for Cinna. He carried out the parallel by declaring that these senators made the same plea which the conspiracy senator senator that they loved Cleveland less, but that they loved Rome more. ""not that they loved Cleveland less, but that they loved Cleveland less, but that they loved Cleveland less, but that they loved their party and the country more." to that they loved Cesar less, but that ey loved Rome more"—"not that they ved Cleveland less, but that they loved eir party and the country more." Mr. Hill was followed by Senator Caf-cof Louisiana, who submitted a motion where the reterming in the motion collouisma, who submitted a motion while to the restoration in the sugar heatule of a bounty for 1894. In a short ceed, (which was however not concluded) accused the democratic managers of fathin in striking out the sugar bounty d declared explicitly for himself and his league (Mr. Blanchard) that they would twote for the tariff bill if it put sugar on e free list.

A few minutes after the senate adjourned the democratic senators went into caucus for the purpose of formulating a programme in regard to the disposal of the tariff bill. For three hours the discussion centinued, and at that time, without having reached any conclusion, an adjournment was taken until to-day at the same hour.

nent was taken and the court of the democratic party were conspicuous by their absence from this conference. These men were Senators Hill, Murph and Irby, two of whom are said to be ready to vote against the bill neertain emergencies, and one, Mr. Hill, who has time and again declared his operation to the bill so long as the incommendation to the bill so long as t position to the bill so long as the income tax remains a part of it. Every other sen-ator now in the city was present, except Mr. Voorhees and Mr. Daniels, but their ence was due to illness. Hill Declined to Attend.

Mr. Hill beclined to Attend.

Mr. Hill was not notified officially of the caucus until a few minutes before the adjournment of the senate. He was then notified in the cloakroom by Mr.
Gorman and requested to be present. Mr.
Hill frankly told the chairman of the caucus that inasmuch as he was opposed to the bill, and would do all he could to defeat it so long as the party saw fit to keep the income tax in it, he did not believe he ought to participate in a conference that had for its object the passage of the measure and the settlement of party quarrels.

ols.

The cancus discussion partook of the na-ure of conversation more than of speech taking, although there were some very criticent and emphatic observations in-uland in sertiment and emphatic observations in-linged in. Soon after the caucus convened Mr. Jarvis, of North Carolina, offered a resolu-tion that the bill be sent back to confer-sive without instructions of any sort to the conferes, and upon that resolution all of the discussion was based.

Insist on the Senate Bill.

The conservatives, so-called, the men who formulated the present bill, did none of the talking, but one of the senators said after the caucus was over that those who did talk—and there were few who did not—were as zealous in their advocacy of the senate bill as any member of the conservatives could be and insisted as strenuously that the senate bill should prevail.

Almost all of the debate and cross-fire between senators was directed at Mr. Vilas in an effort to induce him to without and the product of the senate bill should prevail.

House of Representatives.

The committee on rules gave the day's session to the committee on public lands and in two and a half hours Mr. McRae (dem., Ark.), chairman, succeeded in having passed fourteen bills reported from his committee. Two of these were of particular importance, one providing for a settlement of the claims by and against the state of Arkansas and the United States, and the other providing for the separation of the mineral lands in the Northern Pacific grant in Idaho and Montana and granting patents to the settlers thereon.

Luzerne Democrats would like to know if there is going to be a county convention held this year. Perhaps the country seat machine considers it unnecessary, and if nominations are to be run off as they were last year a convention would not be required.

The only contest of note among the Democrats is between Lee Stanton, candidate for nomination for clerk of the courts, and P. A. O'Boyle, who would like to be nominated for district attorney. Both want the other kept off the ticket, as both are from the Pittston contier. section

John H. Rice, who was chairman of the railroaders' strike committee during the late trouble with the Lehigh Valley, will be the Democratic nominee for the legislature in the first district, the city of Wilkes-Barre. Mr. Rice has always been an active Democrat, and is popular with all classes of voters.

Garman Has Withdrawn

rom the Wilkes-Barre Record. District Attorney Garman announced n Saturday that he had decided to withdraw as a candidate for orphans' court judge on the Democratic ticket, as he desired to engage in business at the expiration of his term as district attorney. This leaves the Democratic field open for Judge Rhone unless some other ambitious Democrat steps into Mr. Garman's place. And now the question arises, is there nothing else behind Mr. Garman's withdrawal?

Little Willy's Epitaph.

Hines' chances must have looked de-cidedly blue on Sunday night around the Newsdealer office, for when the only newspaper friend the little office-seller has in the county drops into poetry to bid him good-bye you can count him a dead bird. Here is the epitaph Sam dead bird. Here is the epitaph Sam Boyd published on Monday last:

Thou'll go back no more Little Willy, Every moment, every hour your chance departs.

departs
You will fail, alas, like the many,
That have bloomed and faded in these parts.
We shall never more behold thee,
Hear your small and piping voice again,
When election time comes, gentle Willy,
And the ballots all are cast against your name.

Joseph Hendler a prominent and influential German Republican, of Wilkes-Barre, threatens to run independent for congress if Morgan B. Williams is nominated. In such a case Williams would lose a large number of his party votes. But this is not likely to occur, from all accounts, as Leisenring appears to be again on top in the race for the nomination. It is conceded in Republican circles that the nominee should be from the lower end, and this, with the prestige and popularity of the Upper Lehigh candidate, makes Leisenring's chances very good at the convention to be held a week from next Tuesday.

Uniting the Two Branches.

A movement of much importance to numbers of the A. O. H. societies of this county showed its first result last night in Hazleton. The organization for ten years has been divided all through the country, and the two branches were known as the Board of Erin and the Board of America. In every town of prominence in this county there is a division of each branch, and efforts have been made on several occasions to unite them. At Hazleton last night Division 16, of the B. of E. took its first step in the matter by dis-banding as a division of the Board of Erin, and County President E. V. Curry, of the Board of America, immediately reorganized it as Division 5, of the othe unity in this county, and was brought about by the work of President James M. Boyle, of No. 5, and President P. M. Sweeney, of No. 10. It is expected that several divisions of the B. of E. will transfer their allegiances to the American Board in Luxerne county within the next few months. In Michigan, Wis-consin, New Jersey and Massachusetts the Board of Erin members have gone over in a body, as in Hazleton, and this will be continued until but one A. O. H.

society exists in the country.

The order is a beneficial one, paying sick and death benefits, but its principle object is to support and protect American institutions, to defend the Catholic Church from assaults engendered by pigotry and prejudice, and to aid Catholic citizens of Irish birth or descent in maintaining the civil and reliators. liberties which the laws grant them.
There is nothing of a political nature about the order. In Freeland there is a division of each branch, and it is prob-
