TWO FINE GAMES

There has been much discussion lately over rumors that the coal in the Wyom-ing region, both in the valley and on the mountains, was being mined so rapidly that in twenty or thirty years the opera-tors would have taken out all the an-thracite they could with safety to the surface and the chief industry of Luzerne would be at an end. Although the rumors were not generally believed they caused some alarm. Engineer William H. Sturdevant. of Wilkes-Barre, however, prepared to dis-pel them by sound facts embodied in some interesting statistics he has pre-pared. He estimates that the supply of coal in the county, with an average thickness of 344 feet. The present net yield for each arce is about 550 tons, making a prospective total of 1,671,000,-000 tons. He is estimated that of this toal there Figers Lose in the Morning and Win in the Afternoon at Ashland. The Tigers lost their first game at wilkes-Barre, August 13.-Congres man Hines, alarmed by the rumors that he would find two strong opponents for the congressional nomination on the Democratic ticket, has returned home and will stay here until the convention, August 28. "Little Billy's" evident alarm is, however, dispelled. Mr. Coxe has announced that despite the request of his friends he will not be a candidate, owning to presure of business. This decision spoils what would be one of the most interesting political fights ever seen in this state, between Mr. Coxe and Mr. Leisenring. District Attorney John Gar Leisenring. District Attorney John Gar-man, of Nanticoke, who for a couple of weeks has allowed himself to be boomed is very evident, the Hines campaign will not be conducted with as much eclats it was last time. The Hines of to-day is decidedly "Little Billy" this fall, and will probably be still less after election day. Mr. Hines' career as a congress-man has not been a brilliant success and his failure to fuifill the expectations of his friends has lost him many of them. The class of men upon whom Hines counts for support are those who believe
