Editor Steel, of the Minersville Free Press, is another Democrat who prefers to see Republicans sent to congress instead of men who are prefers to see Republicans sent to congress instead of men who are Democrats only in name. In opposing Congressman Reilly, whom he claims has almost wrecked the party in Schuylkill, he says: "Democrats be true to your party by refusing to vote for your party's worst enemy." That is sound advice, and applies to the Democrats of Luzerne as truly as it does to their Schuylkill heathern. it does to their Schuylkill brethren. The conclusion arrived at by the Newsdealer in this matter is that "Hines dropped the investigation as though it had been a hot poker. Guess it was pretty hot on the only end of it that was available."

During his short visit in the fourth legislative district Judge Rhone added many friends to the thousands he already has in the county. The people of Luzerne, irrespective of party affiliations, believe in maintaining the judiciary of the third largest county in the state free from political influences, and in electing Judge Rhone to preside over the orphan's court elected him. In despair, he attempted to preside over the orphan's court the preside over the orphan's court they will be carrying out the honorable custom that has made our judiciary a credit to Pennsylvania. # Hines as a Cowardly Slanderer.

POLITICS IN THE ANTIPODES.

When a man attacks the character of another in a small mining village and then refuses to repeat his words a few evenings later at a place where a larger and an expectant audience would hear them, does he not set himself down as a cowardly slanderer? In his speech at Minesville last week Hon. William H. Hines charged the editor of the Tranung with receiving "boodle" from Leisenring to aid in defeating him (Hines) for a recelection. He also insinuated that the editor was dishonest in his connection with the W. B. A., which at one time was a powerful labor organization in the editor was dishonest in his comnection. The thines was a powerful labor organization in the region. Furthermore, he gave the editor what is commonly termed a "raking up on general principles,"

So far everything went smoothly with Mr. Hines. Nobody, on behalf of the editor, disputed his statements. The Tranung statement from the most responsible witnesses present the substance of his remarks, and then, on Thursday last, said it would rely upon the congressmant to furnish the details of this very interesting part of the campaign.

In his speech here on Saturday evening he referred to the Tranunc's attacks upon him, but his language was exceedingly mild and very disappointing to those who had confidently counted upon him, but his language was exceedingly mild and very disappointing to those who had confidently counted upon him, but his language was exceedingly mild and very disappointing to those who had confidently counted upon him, but his language was exceedingly mild and very disappointing to those who had confidently counted upon him, but his already and the province of the pro containing the was, literally, a wolf in sheep's clothing for a quarter of a century in the vicinity of Freeland, if all this was true, which it was according to Mr. Hines at Milnesville, why did hen not enlighten the people here on these points?

There were no objections, no requests, no intimidation from the editor or any of his friends to cause this sudden change of front or to keep from the Freeland people all that was told the Milnesville citizens. Mr. Hines had the same liberty, the same opportunity, and was under no restraint that the TRIBUNE knows of to express himself on Saturday evening as he did on the preceding. Tuesday. His reason for not doing so is his own business, nevertheless but one excuse can be offered for the congressman's refusal to make the charges here that he did elsewhere. He was took occowardly to repeat his accusations at he editor's home, or he learned that he lied in making them and then did not have the manhood to tender a public apology.

Whether Mr. Hines made the statements upon his own responsibility or whether they were the result of ill-advice given him by some of his local been efficiaries, are questions of no consequence at present. They were untruthful in every respect, and, so far as his accusations of the consequence at present. They were untruthful in reference to "boodle" go, no should know better than Mr. Hines to the state of the control of the co

May Have To Close Down the Courts. May Have To Close Down the Courts.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 16.—The criminal trials in Mercer county may have to be indefinitely postponed owing to the condition of the county treasury and the existence of dual boards of free-holders. Money is needed for the actual county expenses particularly the paying of witnesses' fees, but the banks will not loan either board any money. Justice Abbett has suggested that both boards jointly authorize the borrowing of money in which event the banks would be legally protected and would furnish the money needed. If this is not done the business of the court will cease and prisoners awaiting trial will have to stay in jail indefinitely.

Exciting Republican Primaries.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 16.—The republican primaries throughout Essex county last night were the most exciting held in years. Fights occurred in many precincts and several arrests were made. Assemblyman Eisle, who was opposed by many corporations because of his anti-monoply course in the last legislative. opposed by many corporations because of his anti-monoply course in the last legislature, carried his district. He had to contend against the leaders in his own party as well as the corporations. Dr. H. C. Herald, who is out against the regular organization, swept his district. The contests were all factional and it is conceded that the entire delegation will favor General Sewell for United States senator.

Gov. McKinley Speaks at Home.
Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—An audience of about five thousand people greeted Gov. McKinley at the Fourteenth regment armory last evening where he made his first and to be his only speech here in the present campaign. There were many ladies present and a glee club sang campaign songs. Three hundred students from the State university applauded occasionally with the college yell. Ex-Attorney General George K. Nash presided. Governor McKinley's speech, for the most part, followed the one made at Findlay three Makes Her American Debat.

New York, Oct. 16.—Miss Olga Nethersole made her American debut last evening at Palmer's theatre in Gattle's play, "The Transgressor," and was very favorably received by a critical audience. The drama, which deals with painful domestic compilications, furnishes ample scope for emotional abilities, and the English actress fully sustained the reputation which had preceded her. She was well supported by an American company.

Lease Lost.,

New York, Oct. 16.—It was reported that the Northern Pacific company had lost the lease of the Chicago terminals to the Baltimore & Ohio. The officials of the Northern Pacific are in no alarm over the matter, as they are confident that there will be found some memorandum of the contract with the Baltimore & Ohio. The use of the Chicago terminals is so important to the Baltimore & Ohio that no fears are entertained that the Baltimore & Ohio will not continue to use the terminals and pay the rental agreed upon in the lease.

The slip of paper containing these items was handed over to Julime two days after the contract was made. Now Davenport insists that inasmuch as he caried out his part of the contract Hulme should be compelled to pay him the contract price for the bargain. The claim of Davenport is disputed on the ground that the contract is an immoral one and against the statute of frauds, and the outcome of fraud and con and against the statute of frauds, and the outcome of fraud and continued the statute of the statement which he gave did not contain a true statement of the financial standing of the trust. On these defenses it is insisted that Davenport cannot recover in an action at law. The receivers have been subpoenaed to show their books, in order that it may be found how near right Davenport's information was. After hearing some testiment, Judge Freedman held that a servant in a confidential capacity had no right to sell the secrets of his employer, and dismissed the case. The plaintiff's attorney took the usual exceptions, and gave notice of appeal.

Smallpox on Shipboard.

Quarantine, S. I., Oct. 16.—The steamer Kronprins Frederick Wilhelm from Naples, with eight cabin and 499 steerage passengers on board, was detained at Quarantine owing to the detection on passing the passengers of a suspicious case in the person of a steerage passenger. Deputy Health Officers Talmadge and Sanborn were of the opinion that the patient suffered from smallpox. Drs. Dillingham and Benedict of the New York health department, both experts in the handling of epidemic diseases, were called in, and after thorough examination, confirmed the diagnosis. The passenger having been found mingling with his fellow passengers exposing all to the disease, the whole number of the steerage passengers will be vaccinated and transferred to Hoffman island to await the development of the disease for a period of fourteen days. The cabin passengers will be disinfected and released.
