The St. Patrick's cornet band is preparing to hold one of the greatest entertainments in the town on the 23d of next month. A burlesque on "A Country Circus" will form a prominent part of the programme.

The Young American Social Club will hold a ball at the opera house on Friday evening of next week. The balls of this club are always among the best, and the members intend to make this equal to any previous ones.

Patents were granted last week to the following parties from this part of the state: G. W. Cross, Pittston, coal-screens; F. Pardee, Hazleton, coal or ore operating apparatus; C. R. Perry, Wilkes-Barre, piano-action; J. H. Phillips, Pottsville, water-heating fire grate.

Fred. E. Zerby, of Shenandoah, who has been mining engineer for the Lehigh Valley Coal Company for ten years, has been promoted to the superintendency of the company's recently purchased collieries in the vicinity of Hazleton, formerly owned by the Pardees and J. C. Hayden.

Charles Farrel, of town, and Miss Mary O'Donnell, of Eckley, were married at the latter place on Thursday by Rev. Thos. Brehony. Edward Gallagher, of Sandy Valley, was groomsmen, and Miss Bridget O'Donnell, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They will reside here.

Station agents on the Jersey Central have also received notice to put charges for storage on baggage remaining under their care over twenty-four hours. The charges are 25 cents for the first twenty-four hours after being under their charge twenty-four hours, and 10 cents for every twenty-four hours after.

Death of William Donnelly.

From the Weatherly Herald. While visiting his daughter in New York city, William Donnelly, of town, died on Monday last. The remains were brought to this place on the 12.35 train Wednesday and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery. The deceased was a resident of Weatherly for the past twelve years, moving here from Freehold. He had been a sufferer from miner's consumption for many years, and died of that disease. He was about 70 years of age.

Juryman Drawn.

Reliable Portrait Agents.

Messrs. Biscombe and Cook, agents for Trevaski's portrait gallery, of Hazleton, are now soliciting orders in Freehold and vicinity. Our people can make no mistake in giving these gentlemen money or orders on any work they may want done. Mr. Trevaski's work needs no recommendation from us, as it is artistic and first-class in every respect.

Dancing School a Success.

The dancing school being held on the second floor of the Freehold opera house is fast becoming a popular place of amusement. It was attended by a number of the Hazleton people on Saturday evening, and it is pronounced by them as being one of the best managed that they have attended. Manager Welsh should be encouraged in his efforts, as he is conducting it in a masterly manner. The hours are from 7 to 11 o'clock every Saturday evening.

PLEASURE CALENDAR.

November 16.—Ball of Young American Social Club, at Freehold opera house. Admission, 50 cents.

November 28.—Fifth annual ball of the Jeddo Progressive Club, at Freehold opera house. Admission, 50 cents.

Singerly's Reception.

Freehold did nobly on Thursday afternoon, and the reception it gave the Democratic state candidates and speakers was a pleasant surprise to all. Shortly before 2 o'clock several of the musicians of town were gathered together and a parade of the principal streets was made. When the special train with the distinguished visitors pulled into the Freehold station a crowd of over 300 voters and nearly as many ladies greeted them with cheers which increased as Mr. Singerly appeared on the rear platform of the car.

The editor of the Philadelphia Record and candidate for governor was introduced by John J. McNelis, and he delivered a ten-minute address which was repeatedly interrupted by the applause of his hearers. His short speech was upon the lines that have made him such a prominent figure in the campaign, and his references to the American flag which stood waving in the centre of the audience were cheered loudly.

When he called attention to a lady with a little child in her arms standing in the crowd, and said that he wanted the flag of our country to guarantee to that woman the right to teach her little babe its religious duties as she saw fit, without dictation from any man or set of men, the audience burst into enthusiastic applause, showing that the people in Freehold are in sympathy with the manly stand of the Democratic candidate. He closed with "God bless you all."

Mr. Singerly was followed by Grant Herring, internal revenue collector, and John M. Garman, Luzerne's district attorney. Both were listened to attentively and every telling sentence was applauded. After stopping here twenty-five minutes the train pulled out to the sweet strains of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

Besides those mentioned the party consisted of John S. Kiling, candidate for lieutenant governor; David McGee, candidate for auditor general; Walter Greenland, candidate for secretary of internal affairs; Thomas Collins, candidate for congressman-at-large; Samuel G. Thompson, ex-judge of the supreme court; Eckley B. Cox, reporters of the Philadelphia papers and prominent Democrats of Hazleton. Mrs. Balch and Miss Mabel Meredith, of Philadelphia, the daughter and grand-daughter respectively of Mr. Singerly, also accompanied the party and enjoyed the honors shown the candidates.

Mining Statistics for 1893.

The report of the inspectors of coal mines of the state for 1893 has just been published and show that the aggregate production of anthracite for that year was 47,179,565 tons, an increase of 1,444,189 over 1892. Luzerne is the leading county and produced 18,253,144. Lackawanna comes next, producing 11,667,559; Schuylkill third, with 9,992,085; Northumberland fourth, with 3,731,404, and Carbon fifth, with 1,410,289 tons. The production required the employment of 8,224 more men, or an increase from 129,797 to 138,021. The average production per employe in 1893 was 343 tons, ten tons less than the year before.

In 1893 there were 455 fatal accidents in the anthracite and 131 in the bituminous regions. In the anthracite region the percentage of fatal accidents was one to every 303 employes and non-fatal one to every 129 employes. In 1892 the former was one to every 327 employes and the latter one to every 127. In 1893 there were 103,691 tons of coal mined for every fatal accident and in 1892 there were 115,501 tons for each fatal accident.

A Rare Treat in Store.

Bates Bros' new and glorious "Humpty Dumpty" will be the attraction at the opera house on Thursday evening, November 9. Twenty clowns dressed in gorgeous clown suits will give a grand street parade at noon. The company carries a strong array of novelties and trick scenery and gives the most complete production of the popular American pantomime ever given in this country. A rare treat is in store for theatre-goers. Don't miss "Humpty Dumpty."

Note the changes in L. Olscho's ad today. It may save you several dollars if you buy clothes.

POLITICAL PICKUPS.

A gang of pickpockets followed the Singlerly party through the state and secured much booty in several of the large crowds. Lou Megargee, of the Philadelphia Times, who accompanied the candidates, was robbed of his pocket-book containing $200 on Thursday at Mauch Chunk.

The Republicans will have their only meeting of the campaign here tonight. The opera house has been engaged and the local party men are preparing for a large crowd. The congressional and county candidates will be present. M. J. Callahan, of Philadelphia, will be the orator of the evening.

The bets in New York are 5 to 2 that Morton will defeat Hill for governor and even money on Strong and Grant for mayor. In Wilkes-Barre even money is offered on Rhone, O'Boyle and Schappert, with no takers.

John J. Coyle, formerly of Freehold, who is now the Republican candidate for the state senate in the Schuylkill district, has brought suit against William D. Harris, of Mahanoy City, for slander, claiming $5,000 damages.

The libel suit of Hines against the Hazleton Sentinel is for $100,000, not $10,000, as stated in Thursday's issue. Matt Long, who was also reported as being sued, has not yet been notified officially.

The ticket to be voted tomorrow will be eight columns wide, occupied as follows: Republican, Democrat, Prohibition, Socialist Labor, Independent Republican, Independent and a blank column, giving the voter a chance to cast his ballot for whom he pleases.

The TRIBUNE has no "last cards" or statements to make today. All we had to say against any candidate was said in time to be denied or contradicted, and we take no advantage of the limited time before election to say anything derogatory to the men we have opposed.

The railroaders of this end of the county must not forget that John H. Rice is depending largely upon them for the support and help which is necessary to elect him. There are some very good reasons why his friends should redouble their efforts tomorrow, or Rice may be sacrificed to save one less worthy.

The Democrats of the second ward of Edwardsville have formed a Leisenring club in order to carry on a systematic fight against the nominee on their own ticket. None but Democrats are members. They will work for the Democratic state and county candidates and the Republican congressional candidate. The state legislative committee of the Jr. O. U. A. M. has issued a circular, with the approval of the state officers, warning the councils that they are prohibited from endorsing any political candidate, from using the name of the order in connection with politics and from asserting that the order is in favor of or against any candidate for public office. Such action is stated to be in conflict with article xiii, of the subordinate constitution, which prohibits subjects of a sectarian or partisan character from being introduced at any meeting.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

Preparations are being made by the Coxie ladies for the annual Christmas tree celebration for the children of town. This, of all the events in the year, is the most highly prized, not only by the children, but by the older folks. The kind and generous spirit manifested by these ladies for the little ones is certainly unequalled anywhere, and the impression of gratitude it leaves upon the young minds is indelible.

A sad death of a six-year-old child occurred here on Friday. Mrs. Frank Brogan, a former resident of town, came here from Mt. Carmel to visit her parents last week. The child became ill with pneumonia on Tuesday and died on Friday. The funeral took place from the residence of James Collum yesterday. Interment was made at St. Ann's cemetery.

J. J. McNelis, the Democratic legislative candidate, and his friends, have finished their canvass and only await the counting of the ballots tomorrow night to affirm the statement that he will be the next representative from this district. He has numerous friends here who are ready to wager upon the result.

J. H. Trevaski and Miss Mary A. Phillips, two of our popular young people, will be married on Wednesday.

Hon. Eckley B. Coxie has donated a plot of ground at Oneida for a new Catholic church which will be erected there.

JEDDO NEWS.

The home of Mrs. Kittie Burns was the scene of an old-fashioned carpet-rag party. After all the rags were disposed of the company, to be in touch with the old-fashionedness of the party, departed from the slow ceremoniousness of modern enjoyment and enjoyed themselves in the more lively forms of old. James McGill favored the company with a few songs. H. J. Brislin recited some of his original and inimitable comic dialect pieces to the great enjoyment of the company, as it is not very often Mr. Brislin can be prevailed upon to recite.

Michael McGlynn, a prominent young man here, while at work on Saturday at No. 5, had his heel caught between the axle of a car and a sill and a part of the heel was torn off. Mr. McGlynn will not be inconvenienced any in his movements by the hurt, but will be unable to attend to his work for a time.

Michael McHugh, of Oakdale, will remove his family to Hazleton today. While not being one of the "oldest" residents of this place he has made a host of friends here who wish him prosperity in his new home.

Miss Hannah McGill, who has been visiting relatives at Philadelphia, has returned home.

George Wise, who has been confined to his bed with pneumonia, is convalescent.

The clay work at the No. 4 stripping has been stopped for the winter.

John Brannigan, Sr., is confined to his home with cramps.

Anthony McNelis, of Japan, has accepted a position as general mechanic with Contractors King and Scott at Eckley.

Two of our young ladies say they met some kind of a spirit while coming home from Drifton on Friday night about 9 o'clock. They say it seemed to them as a shadow dressed in miners' clothes and passed directly in front of them on the road about twenty yards below the old hospital. Some person makes a practice of standing in the road and obstructing ladies. This party will be interviewed some of these evenings by a few of our muscular young men in a manner spirits never dreamed of.

A Soft Answer.

Mrs. De Pink—I am amazed, sir, that you should propose to my daughter. Why, she is just out of boarding-school, and you have not known her a week.

Young Man (a smart fellow)—True, madame, but I have known you for some time, and everybody says your daughter takes after you.—N. Y. Weekly.

Sister's Indifference.

Little Boy—You needn't worry about sister and Mr. Poorchap. She doesn't care a snap for him.

Mother (much relieved)—How did you learn that?

Little Boy—When they are in the parlor alone she won't even let him have a chair to himself.—Good News.

Country Board.

"Well," said Mr. Hollerstraw, as he entered his rural abode, "I've made a right good dinner."

"How?" asked his wife.

"I found a city storekeeper that wants to send his family out here to live on the farm, and he pays in condensed milk and canned meat and things."—Washington Star.

Forgot to Put in Her Teeth.

He—I wonder how I can have offended Miss Primleigh?

She (a rival)—Why, what makes you ask?

He—I met her on the avenue this afternoon and she bowed without her usual smile.

She—Probably she had forgotten to put in her teeth.—Town Topics.

A Great Effort.

Mrs. Twickenham—I met your mother just now, Willie.

Willie—Did she speak?

Mrs. Twickenham—Of course. Why shouldn't she?

Willie—She says that sometimes it's as much as she can do.—Brooklyn Life.

Not His Ideal.

The Optimist (at the summer hotel)—Say, do you want to meet some lovely creatures without a particle of affection or deception?

The Cynic—No. I want to meet some girls.—Chicago Record.

A Modest Man.

"Is Snyder what you would call a modest man?"

"He is that. Why, he is so modest that he always goes to sleep before beginning to snore."—Boston Transcript.

Time's Changes.

De Long—Hullo, old man, what are you doing with that silver watch? I thought you had a gold one.

De Short—So I did, but circumstances alter cases, you know.—Town Topics.

Some Folks Are Never Satisfied.

Customer—I found that lettuce full of worms, this morning.

Greengrocer—Well, what do you want for five cents—a black bass.—Truth.

The regular monthly meeting of the borough council has been postponed from this evening to Wednesday evening next.

Hunters and sportsmen are invited to call at A. A. Bachman's. A fine line of sporting goods on hand.

PICKED UP BY THE WAY.

THINGS SEEN AND HEARD IN THE TOWN AND VICINITY.

Matters of a Local Nature Written Up and Placed Before the Readers of the "Tribune" by the Sauterter—Something Here May Interest You.

The set of resolutions recently adopted by the D. S. & S. Railroad employes and presented to their superintendent, Daniel Coxie, upon his marriage a few weeks ago, is something so unusual in this region, especially between employes and employer, that many old-timers have opened their eyes in wonder at the action of the railroaders. However, it is but one of the many evidences that are cropping out this last few years which have a tendency to bridge the chasm that has so long kept corporations and their employes apart. In the resolutions, also in Mr. Coxie's reply, there is a spirit of confidence shown which leaves room for deep contrast with other days. All desire for strife seems to have vanished in this instance to be supplanted by an epoch of friendship and good will.

There is scarcely anything which urges an employe to combine the interests of his employer with that of his own so much as to know that his efforts to give satisfaction are appreciated, and whatever work he is engaged at confidence is placed in his ability to do it. When this state of feelings exist employes find pleasure in doing their work properly and with scrupulous attention towards bringing about the best results. The tone of the employes' resolutions would indicate that the condition of affairs on the D. S. & S. are such, while Mr. Coxie's response is apparently one of confidence in his employes, coupled with a desire to be just and appreciate all honest efforts on the part of the men.

Perhaps it is not generally known to parents, but it is only too true that there are more boys in Freehold between the ages of 12 and 16 years carrying revolvers than is carried by full-grown men. It is a familiar phrase that "boys will be boys," but carrying deadly weapons at so early an age cannot be classed among boyish pranks. It is not of recent date that this dangerous weapon has become the favorite companion of the Freehold boys, and it is certain also that the youngsters will not relinquish the habit easily unless parents exercise a greater vigilance over them. The practice should be stamped out by all means and as speedily as possible.

Politics have not taken up much of my time lately, and I am not concerned to any great extent in the success of any candidates, but I cannot let the occasion pass without calling attention to the splendid and thorough canvass of the district made by the Democratic legislative nominee. I think it can be safely asserted that no candidate for the same position has ever made a better up-hill fight than Mr. McNelis, and should he fail, he can feel satisfied that it was not due to a lack of duty on his part. His election would be the greatest boon the Democracy of this district could receive.

I had the pleasure of meeting Prof. J. J. Mooney in town on Saturday evening. Mr. Mooney is one of Hazleton's bright and clever young men and is now engaged on Saturday evenings instructing the pupils at Manager Welsh's dancing school in the opera house. The professor needs no recommendation for ability, and as for a painstaking and obliging gentleman it would be hard to find an equal. He comes of good family and by occupation is an employe of the Lehigh Valley shops at Hazleton, where by his steady habits and genial disposition he has earned a reputation for himself among his shopmates which is worthy of preservation. As a teacher of dancing he cannot be excelled and his methods of instruction are so simple that anybody can understand them easily.
