A bulletin recently issued from the agricultural department at Washing-ton calls attention to the fact that the price of bread, taken on an average throughout the country, is the same as when flour sold at twice the pres-ent price per barrel. The bulletin has aroused much discussion in the has aroused much dicussion in the larger cities, where bread is bought in quantities, and there is a general demand that the bakers reduce the price of their loaves or make them larger.

The reward of $2,500 offered for the capture of the fiends who perpe-trated the dynamite outrage at Laurel Run has not yet been claimed, and it looks as if Luzerne county is lacking in detective talent. That half a hun-

T. V. Powderly has come out in a letter for General Hastings, and the Republican press of the state is quoting him in bold-faced type as though he and his opinions were of some great importance in politics. Some of our exchanges, to which the mere mention of Powderly's name a few years ago was an invitation to pour out columns of abuse, now laud him as a hero. Such inconsistency betrays partisanship of the rankest sort. Powderly's indorsement of Hastings is no more than could be expected. He has been a Republican in principle for several years, and supported Harrison in the last presidential election. There is no excuse whatever to make a noise about his letter.

As soon as the citizens of Weatherly saw work started on the new bicycle factory, which they secured by keeping their eyes open for such things, they began to look around for nothings, they began to look around for nor industries, and last week they announced that a new brick-making can be counted upon as one who will be announced that a new brick-making plant will be started there, having a capacity of 25,000 bricks per day and employing about thirty hands. Weatherly is a town that can with profit be taken as a model for others in this region, Freeland included. Its people are working unitedly to advance it. They do not wait for men to go there and start up factories, but they go after the capitalists armed with arguments and sound business talk to induce them to iverse. armed with arguments and sound business talk to induce them to invest their money, giving them all the aid and help they can.

A Few Words to Democrats

A Few Words to Democrats.
Every citizen who is qualified to vote should regard it as a privilege and a duty to vote tomorrow. The ballot is the proper weapon to use to try to remedy what each may consider an evil in the social condition of the country, and therefore no man ought to neglect the opportunity to express his sentiments through that channel. through that channel.

Democrats, especially, must_arouse themselves, and not only cast their own votes, but see that every Democrat in their district does likewise.

This is an important year to the Democracy of Pennsylvania. The party has placed in nomination a set of candidates for the state offices who have sacrificed their time, health, labor and noney to win this fight-not for their wen sakes and the honors it might bring them personally—but for the good of the whole party.

When men of such sterling qualities

when men of such sterning quanties as William M. Singerly and his colleagues volunteer to stand the brunt of battle the least they can expect of those whom they wish to assist is to come out one day in the year and vote for the principles of Democracy as advocated by these

In the position the Democratic state nominees have taken on the leading issues of the day, a position that has won for them the admiration of every fair-minded citizen in the country, they must have the support of their party to show to their enemies that their sentiments are endorsed and upheld by the majority of the people of the state.

Because it seems improbable that Singerly will be elected governor is no reason for any Democrat to abate in working for his election. Every vote that can be polled for such fearless defenders of the liberties of all the people will be a rebuke to those who would dare to try to abride and restrict the rights and privileges of their fellowmen. The candidates are the exponents of freedom in the fullest extent of the word, and men like them must fill the nigh offices in this country if the spirit of pigorty and sectarianism is to be kept out of politics.

For congressmen-at-large the party has named two of the finest Democrats has named two of the finest Democrats in the state, Henry Meyer and Thomas Collins. Both of these men have proven themselves in the past as worthy of any trust the citizens may place in them, and both are radical in their views of Democracy. If it is possible to send these two men to congress it should be done, and Pennsylvania, in doing so, would honor itself. They represent the true idea of tariff reform, without any true idea of tariff reform, without any unnecessary quibbling or hankering after incidental protection, and if elected they can be depended upon to come forth at the end of their terms with in detective talent. That half a hundred lives were not taken, instead of four, was no fault of the dynamiters, and it will be a blot on the history of the county if they go unpunished. Crimes like the one committed last week are awful, and expense and labor should not be considered in probing them to the bottom.

The postoffice department, in order to enlist the assistance of private the solid of any one of the post of the post of the post of the provided by the lobbyist. The county ticket named by the Luzerne Democrats is composed of men who ought to receive the solid support of every man who claims allegiance to the party. In Messrs, Rhone, O'Boyle, Schappert, Rice and Dohl they have given us standard-bearers of whom all can be proud to support. Not a word has been or could be said of any one of Unseemly Levity.

One of the national vices of the American people is levity—the unhealthy quality which, in contradistinction to quality which, in contradistinction to honest and wholesome gayety and hu-mor, turns all serious things to ridi-cule and undermines the qualities of earnestness and of respect for real dis-tinction. A person reading the de-bates in congress or in the state legis-latures must sometimes wonder wheth-er the most influential debater is not be who can make his fellow members. he who can make his fellow member laugh the oftenest with humorous triv laugh the oftenest with humorous triv-ialities. In a recent debate a member who was arguing against the appoint-ment of certain federal officers from other states than those in which they were to serve said that he opposed such appointments because he was fond of watermelons, and he was afraid that if "yay more men were serve wet." fond of watermelons, and he was afraid that if "any more men were sent west from Georgia there would not be enough able-bodied persons left there to harvest the watermelon crop." At this the house laughed. It may have this the house laughed. It may have served well enough as a joke, but it was hardly to be accepted as an argument in favor of the point which he was urging. Many debates consist largely of such jokes, bandied back and forth between members. There is a general flavor of cynicism and insincerity about such contests, not of real wit, but of idle levity—as if the members did not choose to take the real wit, but of fille levity—as if the members did not choose to take the public business as a serious matter at all. Such a tone on the part of our legislative debates, remarks the Youth's Companion, is a most unfortunate matter. The good citizen is not cynical about the public business. He knows that seriousness, sincerity He knows that seriousness, sincerity and earnestness are the prime virtue of the public servant.

In a Maine seaside town a man who kept a toy and paper store hit upon a clever advertising dodge. He noticed that strangers who came there invariably amused themselves by walking along the beach and picking up shells along the beach and picking up shells, so he procured a wagon load of mussel shells, and upon their white interiors stamped in red ink an advertisement of his business. Every morning he sent out a boy with a basketful of these shell circulars to distribute them along the sandy promenade. The visitors eagerly picked them up and the toy dealer's ingenuity was rewarded by frequent calls for children's shovels, pails, etc. Brains will win every time.

Col. E. T. Hall, assistant United States treasury agent, who for a year past has been stationed at St. George's island, Behring sea, to look after the seals, says about twenty-five hundred seals have been twenty-flve hundred seals have been taken from St. George's island this year, and enough more from St. Paul to make up the quota of seventy-flve hundred permitted killed by the government. "I thing the seals are now increasing in these northwest waters," said Mr. Hall, and that managed properly there will be no security. Here, erly there will be no scarcity. Hence-forth we will take twenty thousand a year. We can kill this number and yet have an abundance to spare."

PHILADELPHIA boasts of the larges clock in the world. It is located in the tower of the city hall, the dial is thirty feet in diameter, and is illuminated a feet in diameter, and is illuminated at night by electricity, by which means it can be seen from any part of the city. The minute hand is twelve feet long and the second hand eight feet. The bell which tolls the hours weighs fifty thousand pounds, and can be heard from every quarter of Philadelphia. The winding apparatus is worked by means of a steam engine in the tower, which is set in motion every day at

SNAKES and lizards have hitherto shares and nearest mave interest been generally regarded as the effect, rather than the cause, of stimulants. Accordingly, however, to the official report drawn up by the British consul at Pakhoi and submitted to the English populary at the property of t lish parliament, an immense quantity of dried lizards have, during the last two years, been shipped from that Chinese port for use in the adulteration of wines in Europe and America

Thoughtless people who are pratting of the need of a "stronger government" do not stop to reflect that we have a federal army of 25,000 men; that there are over 100,000 state militia, of whom the president is commander in chief; and that there are over 13,000,000 chief; and that there are over 13,000,000 men of military age in the United States, fully 12,000,000 of whom are ready at the first call to take up arms for the stars and stripes. Where is there a stronger government?

Those great masses of crystal, some-times of ferrocyanide of potash, some-times of copperas, exhibited under glass by retail druggists here and there, are obtained by special favor from the large manufacturing chemists. Such crystals are not easily or cheaply produced, and, as a rule, they are prepared for large customers. It is only by good luck that the small retailers get hold of them.
