FREELAND, NOVEMBER 22, 1894.

"Let every Democrat remember," the March Chink Democrat says, "that in how the party was unable to harmonize, and was completely overwhelmed all over the country and every state voted against the party—Pennsylvania by over a hundred thousand majority. Only two years later, in 1874, the Democrats carried the house of congress, and in two years later, in 1876, Samuel J. Tilden was elected president by a majority of a quarter of a million but was counted out by thieves and perjurers constituting the Louisiana and Florida returning boards. All experience proves that the fire-bred old Democratic party always comes up smiling and victorious after an overwhelming defeat."

The jury in the suit brought by Constable Phillips against the borough of Shenandoah to recover $1,000 damages for the loss of his child by death, caused by scarlet fever, alleged to have originated from the filthy condition of the streets, rendered a verdict for $250 for the plaintiff. Free-land, having an active and vigilant board of health, need have no fear of any suits for damages for lack of proper sanitary precautions, nevertheless, the decision against Shenandoah shows the liability of a town in such a case, and it is necessary that the vigilance of the borough officials shall not be relaxed, or there is no telling how soon the borough may be held accountable for the effects of any disease which should appear here.

"The impressive scene of fraternization," says an exchange, "between veterans of the blue and the gray which made the recent Grand Army encampment at Pittsburgh so memorable had its counterpart on Friday night last in the hall of Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans at Richmond, Va., when the veterans of the Fifteenth Connecticut regiment were entertained as guests. These evidences of good-fellowship on the part of the heroes of the great struggle will touch the better natures of all men in whom the love of country is a living sentiment; and it ought to shame into silence the loud-mouthed demagogues who are still raking the dead embers of the war in the hope of finding a few warm coals that might serve as partisan fuel."

The proposition to set apart three 40,000 acre tracts of mountain land in Pennsylvania upon which trees shall be propagated and protected from the ravage of fire and the ravage of men deserves the favorable consideration of the legislature. There are great tracts of land in the mountainous parts of the state which have been stripped of their original forest growths. The lumber men, the charcoal burners, the cutters of railway ties, the gatherers of bark for the tanneries and the improvident farmers who have cleared spaces they cannot cultivate have all had their turn of destruction. What mischief they have left undone fire has completed. As a result the springs have failed and the streams run low. To restore the forests on these lands would be a work warranted by its sanitary advantage, but it would also be a source of ultimate profit to the state.—Phila. Record.

The Republican papers are responsible for the report that President Cleveland, during the next two years, intends to try to turn the Democratic party from the tariff question, so as to make the next presidential election be decided upon the currency. They claim he is satisfied that his leaning towards free trade was a mistake, that his views were repudiated at the polls, and in his message to congress next month he will make a change of base in order to divert the public's attention from his tariff failure. This is quite a nice programme they have mapped out for the president, but until he confirms the report that it is true, few Democrats will believe it. Even though the president should desert his tariff principles, and prove a renegade like some others who were leaders, he cannot stop the movement for free trade. The party is committed to the work of uprooting the protection system, and any backward steps will indicate of rank cowardice.

Rescued from a Blazing Doom.

Mrs. S. H. Brady, wife of Dr. Brady, a prominent physician of Lost Creek, a suburb of Shenandoah, had a narrow escape from being roasted alive on Friday evening, being rescued by neighbors who were attracted to the scene by her screams for help. Mrs. Brady was sitting in her parlor alone when she accidentally set a coal oil lamp, which exploded, setting fire to the room. In the excitement she upset a heavy sewing machine which fell on her leg and fractured it, pinning her to the floor.

She managed to free herself and tried to reach the door, but fell exhausted in the blazing room. But for the timely assistance of the neighbors she would undoubtedly have burned to death. She is badly burned about the limbs and has a leg and arm fractured. There is some hope of her recovery.

WHEN CONGRESS MEETS.

Tariff Fight To Be Continued as Bitterly as Ever.

Washington, Nov. 19.—When the senate reconvenes on the first Monday in next month, unless the programme mapped out by certain senators should be rearranged, there will probably be a renewal of the clash on the tariff question. Senator Harris states that he intends to push the supplemental tariff bills for action as soon as possible after congress convenes (which probably means immediately after the holiday recess). This is in accord with the statements he made on the floor of the senate at the time these so-called "pop-gun" tariff bills were referred to the finance committee. The bills relating to free iron ore, coal and barbed wire came back from the finance committee, practically as they went there, but the bill placing sugar on the free list was pigeon-holed and a substitute was reported, placing a uniform duty of 40 per cent. on all sugars, thereby doing away with the differential one-eighth duty that operates to the advantage of the refiner, and the discriminating tenth duty that operates against the German exporter.

Democratic senators, not among those classed as "conservatives," express doubts as to the desirability of the attempt to pass any of the tariff bills now on the senate calendar at the next session. One of these senators says he appreciates the fact that there are leading men in his own party who, aided and abetted by republicans, will use every effort to prevent the present sugar schedule being amended and that to attempt to do so would result in nothing more than the consumption of valuable time that would be needed in the consideration of measures upon which political lines would not be drawn and upon which the country is demanding action by congress.

To make sugar free, in view of the letter of Secretary Carlisle, and in view of the small receipts under the new law so far, this senator insists, would be utterly impossible. And to seek to change the sugar schedule in any way, he thought, would be equally unwise as it would open up anew the tariff debate and start a flood of debate, that, once unloosed could not be checked.

As a result of First Assistant Postmaster General Jones' request in his annual report for legislation to prevent the boycotting of minor postoffices, the postoffice department has received a large number of letters from postmasters who say they have suffered to a great extent by the system of compensation of postmasters of the fourth-class is based mainly upon the cancellation of postage stamps upon matter actually mailed at their offices. Owing to political differences or other personal feeling, the compensation of postmasters is sometimes seriously curtailed by mailing letters on the cars, or sending them to an adjoining postoffice, thereby reducing the postmaster's salary. This is carried to a grievous extent in some communities and is such an interference with the usual and regular disposition of mails that in the judgment of First Assistant Postmaster General Jones it calls for legislation by congress.

The executive committee of the American Bimetallic league have called a silver conference to be held at St. Louis, Nov. 27, at which the present situation will be fully discussed and the policy to be pursued by the friends of the free coinage of silver will be decided upon.

THE EARTHQUAKES IN ITALY.

Whole Villages Reported To Have Been Destroyed. Rome, Nov. 19.—Reports of disasters caused by the earthquakes in southern Italy are still meagre, but they suffice to show that there has been great loss of life. In a village of 1,200 inhabitants in Reggio di Calabria, as well as obliterated. Virtually all the buildings were thrown into ruins. The number of deaths is not known, but in one church 47 were buried alive under fallen walls. The last authoritative report was that the list of dead was well above 60. In another village of the same province eight persons were killed outright by falling buildings. The damage to property has been enormous. Troops and officials are going to the help of suffering districts. King Humbert has sent several donations from his private purse.

Five Killed in a Wreck.

Pittsburg, Nov. 20.—A disastrous railroad accident occurred at Larimer in which four or five coal miners and probably more lost their lives. The train wrecked consisted of sixteen cars of coal. It was just pulling out from the new Larimer station, and on board were a number of miners. As it was crossing a trestle the axle on the second car broke, the balance of the cars piling up in a heap, which resulted in the breaking of the trestle and the whole mass of cars and human beings went down with a crash into the creek below. The miners were turning from work. The exact number cannot be learned positively. The unfortunate ones who went down in the wreckage are undoubtedly dead.

GOLD IN GREAT DEMAND.

Bankers Have Trouble in Securing the Metal.

New York, Nov. 20.—There has been considerable missionary work among the bank presidents regarding the subscriptions to the bond issues. There were many informal conferences of two and three different presidents. The result of these conferences brings to light the determination of the banks to distribute the loss of gold which will come from the bond subscriptions pro rata among the associated banks of New York, according to the percentage of each bank's holding of gold. This was the method taken in February. The banks now appear to prefer to let each individual bank take its own course of action regarding the surrender of its gold.

The calls for gold from out-of-town correspondents are quite numerous, and the withdrawals of gold from the sub-treasury by New York banks are made on orders from correspondents in the interior. There was withdrawn yesterday between $1,500,000 and 62,000,000 from the sub-treasury and the amount of gold withdrawn from the sub-treasuries throughout the country with which to purchase bonds is estimated at $4,000,000, since Thursday. The net loss of gold to the government is not so great as some gold has been paid in during that period.

The largest withdrawal was made by the Third National bank, which took $1,000,000. President Hepburn states that he has had inquiries from out-of-town customers which would call for $3,000,000 gold more than his bank holds. He is willing to give up $1,000,000 from the holdings of his bank, but was compelled to call upon the sub-treasury for out-of-town demands. All of the banks report a similar demand from the country, indicating that the subscriptions for the bonds will be large outside of New York city.

It has not yet been decided when the presidents of the banks shall meet in formal conference, but it will not be later than to-morrow. The subscriptions from the foreign houses will not be so large as expected, as they are having difficulties in securing the gold. The exchange rates make it impossible to secure gold on the other side without loss, and the banks have not shown any disposition to give any large amounts of gold to the foreign houses. They wish to keep the bonds in this country and consequently do not encourage the international houses to make large bids. They argue that if the foreigners held the bonds they might thrust them back upon the United States at any moment on account of some unfavorable developments abroad and force down the market price by a sudden liquidation. The bankers feel more confident that the value of the bonds will remain more secure if in the hands of domestic investors. The foreign houses are desirous, however, of placing large blocks abroad and their bids will be only limited by the amount of gold they can secure.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The treasury daily balance is $101,162,000, of which $81,822,000 is in gold. This statement of the gold does not take in $2,075,000 of gold withdrawn at New York, which will not begin to show in the treasury books until to-day. So far slightly over $3,000,000 in gold has been withdrawn at New York since Nov. 13, and $100,000 at other points. Otherwise, except for gold withdrawn to bid for bonds, the treasury has been gaining gold since Nov. 13, as it did before, from mintage and in the western sub-treasuries.

HORSE BUTCHERS CAUGHT.

Located by Health Authorities in a Barn at Kearny, N. J. Newark, N. J., Nov. 20.—The Kearny board of health discovered that G. H. Ross and a number of other men were operating a horse slaughter house in that place. When the authorities visited the shop, which is located in a barn, they found part of a freshly dressed horse carcass and a number of dried horse hams. The men declared they were exporting all meat to France, but the members of the board believe much of it is being sold to the local dealers. It is thought that the men are the same ones who were driven out of Hempstead, Long Island, some time ago. The slaughtering has been ordered stopped and an effort will be made to capture those who are said to live in Brooklyn. The entire gang will be prosecuted.

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Fitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless? Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose? Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest? Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.
