The Horse Market.

An Idaho horse breeder recently brought to New York several car loads of horses to be sold. There was a strain of Hambletonian blood in the strain of Hambietonian blood in the animals, and they were of a brand well known among the ranchmen of Idaho. The fate that befell Hardman, however, illustrates in what a bad condition the horse market of this country is. After being in New York a week he found he could dispose of only three ear loads, leaving him with try is. After being in New York a week he found he could dispose of only three car loads, leaving him with about seventy head on his hands, and a feed bill growing to alarming size daily. Now a constable is to sell his horses to pay the feed bill, something over two hundred dollars, and his freight bill, fourteen hundred dollars, and the horseman was afraid he would have to walk back to Idaho, though he arrived with one hundred and fifty dollars in his pocket. His experience proves that ordinary horses will not bring the cost of freight from the far west, at this time, though in former years great numbers of western horses were sold in New York at a good profit.

A few days ago, according to a Baltimore exchange, the members of the Tyson family of Aluwick had the romains of Mr. William Tyson and Miss Jane Tyson exhumed and transferred from the original burial place to a lot in Ivy Hill emetery, Laurel. Mr. William Tyson had been buried thirty-one pyears and Jane Tyson sixteen years. Very little remains of William Tyson, but the lady's remains were in a complete state of preservation, being petrified. Upon removing the covering the body was disclosed as white as martle. TIGER'S MERRY-GO-ROUND.

A Cat thas an Exciting Ride on the Wings of a Windmill.

Frank Dellan has an amusing story of the adventures of a cat named "Tiger" in St. Nicholas. The cat was in disgrace from having been caught in an attempt to purioin a bluefish from the kitchen. So it set off for an adjacent mill, to console itself with a meal of mice.

The trip to the windmill was not, however, a purely pleasant task; in the first place, the tall mill itself was not a homelike, familiar place, like a house or a barn, particularly on windy days when the four great sails were going around with a creaking noise, up on body was disclosed as white as marble. A relative present declared that it was a perfect specimen of petrification. The undertakers said they had never seen anything like it in the line of their business. The corpse had not been embalmed, neither was ice used. The remains of both were reburied in one grave, and it required the strength of eight strong men to lift the casket, which was placed in a wooden box.

An ingenious method of surreptitiously obtaining and selling whisky in violation of the probibitory law came to light the other day in the district court, where Richard Brisco, of Allen, Kan., an undertaker, was bound over in five hundred dollars to appear at the next term of court. He had been several times previously charged with violating the law, but it was not until on this occasion that his intoxicants were found. He runs an undertaking establishment, and he had his stuff concealed in the coffins.

Five times the ace had gone around the mill when addenly Tiger did a desperate thing, the lower end of one of the great sails appened to sweep near the ground ust ahead of him; he made a great forward and upward bound, clutched the ramework and canvas, and instantly was borne aloft toward the clouds as if y the arm of a friendly giant; it was mough to make a cat's head swim, but figer was safe if he could keep his hold, for in a few moments the baffled errier was barking furiously forty feet below him.
