When to Stop Advertising.
An English journal requested a number of its largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the best time to stop advertising, and the following replies were received:

When the population ceases to multiply and the generations that crowd on after you and never heard of you stop coming on.
When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than they can get anywhere else.
When you perceive it to be the rule that men who never advertise are outstripping their neighbors in the same line of business.

When men stop making fortunes right in your sight solely through the direct use of the mighty agent.
When you can forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful business men concerning the main cause of their prosperity.

When every man has become so thoroughly a creature of habit that he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year.
When younger and fresher houses in your line cease starting up and using the newspapers in telling how much better they can do for them than you can.

When you would rather have your own way and fall than to take advice and win.
When nobody else thinks it pays to advertise.

Equitable Valuation Demanded.

From the Leighton Advocate.
The Advocate calls earnestly upon the county commissioners to reconstruct and arrange the assessment rating in this county, both in regards to occupation and land values. The system, or the rate at least, in this county, covering both these, has been, and is, very unjust. We think that there has been too much unjust and perhaps just a little dishonest discrimination. What we want to see is the rich mineral lands, located in the upper end of Carbon county, assessed at an honest, fair and equitable valuation—nothing more.

We don't believe that because there almost priceless acres are owned by corporations, that they should be taxed to death, but we are of the firm conviction that they should be rated honestly and fairly and we call on the commissioners to assist the assessors in doing this and once done we are confident that the courts will sustain them.

For years, coal lands have been assessed at about the same valuation as farm lands and the time has come when the people demand that this dishonest discrimination shall cease. Will the commissioners be equal to the emergency?

Rough on Schuykitt's M. C.

From the Knights of Labor Journal.
In an article of two columns' length the New York World on Saturday last fully exposed the scheme now being pushed in congress called the "Reilly Refunding Bill." This bill is for the purpose of robbing the people of the United States of $64,000,000 due to C. P. Huntington and his confederate thieves, who made their fortunes out of the building of the Union Pacific and other railroads which the government was foolish enough to furnish the money for. If this Democratic congress wants to finish the job of har-kari for the party, it can do it in no better way than by passing this refunding bill of Reilly's.

By the way, this is not Reilly who keeps the hotel, but Reilly, of Pennsylvania, that state belonging to Quay, Cameron, Martin & Co., and which is filled with the work people who furnish these millions through taxation. Many of Reilly's constituents are now starving for want of bread, while he is pushing a bill through congress that will rob them of $64,000,000 and give it to the railroad wreckers, who live in luxury. Is this a representative government?

PICKED UP BY THE WAY.

Another traveling medical concern was encamped in Donop's hall, and this brings back to recollection the old worn-out ideas of early days when Freeland was only a hamlet in the woods and the visits of the "Indian doctor" were awaited by many. Business of that kind doesn't prosper now like it did then. A wave of enlightenment has swept old-time notions and conceits into oblivion and there is nothing but ridicule for those who will attempt to put them into practice again. Skill and experience, especially in the medical line, are at the top notch in Freeland, and it due principally to this that the number of people who take stock in medical fakirs have dwindled into insignificance. Still, there are a few who will delude themselves by thinking that such medicine "might be good," and from them are drawn the dimes and dollars which the cure-all managers thrive upon.

Did any of my readers ever stand at the postoffice in the evening when the 7 o'clock mail arrives and see the large number of children and half-grown persons who congregate there for the purpose of "asking anyhow." Last Wednesday evening by actual count out of thirty-one—none of whom could have been more than 12 years of age—who called at the delivery window for mail, twenty-seven got nothing. The condition of the weather seems to have a great deal to do with the crowd which gathers there in the evenings. If it is cold or raining the number increases, while if the weather is pleasant it is just the reverse. It is a privilege, no doubt, to go to the postoffice for mail when a person feels so inclined, but the number of children who make the evening their opportunity, evidently get there more from habit than for mail.

The proposition which has been laid before the people for their consideration by the borough school directors for the erection of a $23,000 eight-room school building is just now becoming the subject of much discussion. So far as it has gone the drift of public opinion seems to be unfavorable to any increase of debt for the erection of such a building. The previous mistakes made by the directors are serious obstacles in the way of bringing the matter to a successful termination, and in calling for the will of the taxpayers a more liberal explanation of the directors' intention in regard to the building is now demanded. The plans of one particular kind of a building, one particular architect and one particular price are not deemed satisfactory and have created a feeling of distrust among the taxpayers which will be hard to overcome.

The trouble about the proposition is that it is very definite, in fact too definite to suit many of the taxpayers. They are not over scrupulous whether it is the design proposed or something else. It is the money they are looking at. An eight-room building which would cost $23,000 in the city of Wilkes-Barre, might possibly be erected in Freeland by a man from Allentown, Mauch Chunk, or some other part of the state for $15,000 if an opportunity was given. The indications are, however, that all contractors are to be excluded but the parties from Wilkes-Barre, therefore, it leaves the question in a simplified form, one which is easily understood—the people of Freeland want an eight-room building which will cost $23,000?

This is an enormous sum to pay for the kind of structure proposed and a defeat of the proposition will not be surprising. There is urgent need for additional school accommodations, and there is no guarantee given the taxpayers that their money will be spent judiciously. It is certainly their duty to withhold the privilege. Under ordinary circumstances I don't think the voters would hesitate a moment in giving their consent to increase the debt. The schools should be provided for liberally, and it is rare to hear of a man who is not willing that it should be done. Nevertheless, the suspicion exists that a majority of the board would not properly expend the money, and judging from recent developments the distrust is well-founded.

Speaking of elections and the various plans that candidates sometimes invent to come in contact with the voters reminds me of a little incident which occurred about this time last year. Hugh Malloy was a candidate for tax collector, and believing that a personal talk with the citizens would increase his chances, he hit upon a brilliant scheme to meet the voters. Hugh is a noted hunter, and a few days after his nomination he hid himself to the wilds of the Honey-hole on a hunting tour. In the evening he returned and the fruits of his trip was a monster catamount. This was hung up outside his store door for the public to view, and it is said, as people came and went Malloy's canvas boomed immensely.

The week following a squib in one of the local papers announced that Malloy had shot another huge catamount, and the animal again appeared at the store door. Those who didn't see the first one came to see the latest. Among the latter were several urchins from Ridge street, who after examining the animal critically for a few minutes, one of them exclaimed, "Say kids, dat Malloy is sooner of a politician; it's de same old catamount." Let us see who will invent the best method in the coming campaign to make votes.
