WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, April 12, 1895.
Probably the busiest official in Washington just now is Internal Revenue commissioner Miller, who is engaged in naking the instructions for the collecion of the income tax conform to the lecision of the supreme court. He has the benefit of the advice of President the benefit of the advice of President Cleveland and all the members of the cabinet, but it is a hard task all the same. If there ever was a more unpopular decision of the supreme court handed down than that delaring incomes derived from rents and state and municipal bonds constitutionally exempt from federal taxation nobody in Washington remembers it. The question of the constitutionality of the remainder of the income tax was not decided, the court income tax was not decided, the court standing 4 to 4 with Justice Jackson absent on account of sickness. This leaves the decision of the lower court, affirming f he thought Senator Morrill would re If he thought Senator Morrill would re-linquish his claim to the chairmanship in order to give it to Sherman. He re-plied: "I certainly do not. Why should he? He is as vigorous as many younger men, and any effort to displace him would be shameful, after his many years of service on the committee. I should personally resent a movement of that character."

So much has been said about what the finance committee of the senate may do at the next session of congress that Senator Voorhees' diagnosis of that commitator Voorhees' diagnosis of that commit-tee is interesting as well as valuable. He says: "It is a silver committee now, and it will continue to be a silver com-mittee regardless of the views of the addition which the Republicans may make to it. Mr. McPherson, a Demo-crat, is the only member of the commit-tee as at present organized who will not be a member of the next congress, and he is the only Democratic member opposed to silver. The other five Demo-cratic members will, with Senator Jones, of Nevada, constitute a quorum of the cratic members will, with Senator Jones, of Nevada, constitute a quorum of the committe, even if the vacancy should be filled by the appointment of an antisliver Republican, but if the silver Republicans should succeed in getting one of their own number on the committee the silver majority will be just that much more pronounced."

No official under the treasury department who may hereafter get into trouble through any sort of delinquency or misconduct will be allowed to resign. Secretary Carlisle has issued an order to all the chiefs of bureaux, that in such cases recommendation for the second control of the chiefs. all the chiefs of bureaux, that in such cases recommendation for the removal of the offending person must be made to him. This may appear to be a small matter, but it is really an important reform. It has been the custom for many years to allow employes detected in some dishonorable transaction to retrief from office by the resignation route, leaving nothing upon the records to indicate that the retirement had been under a cloud, and complaints have under a cloud, and complaints have been made by those who have after-wards lost money by supposing these men to be honorable because of their department record. The record will in future show these things as they really

Speaking for what I believe to be the sentiment of the Democratic party in Wisconsin, I have no hesitation in saying that the flat silver craze has no following with us, and it is not probable that it will ever have. Our people, and especially the German element, are dead set against all financial heresies." S.

a Prolonged Straggle.

George L. Shoup, of Salmon City, who has just been reelected United States senator from the young state of Idaho, was born in Kittanning, Pa., June 15, 1836. After receiving a common school education he moved with his father to Illinois in 1832, where he was engaged near Galesburg in farming and stock-raising until 1858, in which year he went to Colorado. In September, 1861, he enlisted in Capt. Backus independent company of soouts and was soon thereafter commissioned second lleutenant. During the autumn and winter of 1861 he was engaged in scouting along the base of the Rocky mountains. He was ordered to Fort Union, New Mexico, in the early part of 1862 and was kept on scouting duty until the spring of 1863, during that time being appointed first lieutenant. He was assigned to the First Colorado regiment, of Colorado, in May of 1863. The following year he was elected a delegate to the constitutional convention of that state, and after the convention had finished its labors he returned to active army duty. He was commissioned colonel of the Third Colorado cavalry in September, 1864, and was mustered out in Denver with the regiment at the expiration of its term of service.

the decision of the lower court, affirming the constitutionality of the law in force, but it also leaves a cloud over the law that will remain until the question is decided by the supreme court, with a full bench sitting.

Democratic senators are as a rule in favor of the Republicans reorganizing the senate committees and taking the responsibility for legislation at the next session of congress, but they do not favor the proposal which has been informally made to ignore the right of Senator Morrill, of Vermont, to become chairman of that committee, having said that he expected to turn the committee over to Senator Morrill at the beginning of the next session, was asked if he thought Senator Morrill would recattly the senator senator in the same year established a business in Salmon City. Since that time he has devoted his attention to mining and stock-raising in Idaho. He was twice a member of the territorial legislature, a m

CATHOLIC CHAPLAIN.

Third of That Faith to Serve in the United States Army.

Rev. John P. Chidwick; first assistant rector of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church, in East Twenty-eighth street, New York, was confirmed by the United States senate as chaplain of the navy. This is the third minister of the faith to hold that office, those preceding being Rev. Charles Parks and Rev. Robert Raney. Father Chadwick's application to President Cleveland was made at the request of Archbishop Corrigan, seconded by the indorsement of Cardinal Gibbons.

The new chaplain was born in New York city October 23, 1863. He attended St. Gabriel's school, in East Thirty-seventh street, and, graduating from there, was entered at Manhattan College of the Christian Brothers. After completing the collegiate course with honors, he decided to enter the ministry, and tools up the study of theology at Trinity seminary, Troy, N. V. In December, 1887, he graduated and was ordained a priest. Immediately after the ceremony he was called to New York to take up the duties of fourth assistant pastor at St. Stephen's fourth assistant pastor at St. Stephen's church, under Rev. C. H. Colton. Father Chidwick has since then at-tended constantly to those duties, and has risen to be first assistant pastor. He is very popular with the congrega-tion and among the members of St. Stephen's Young Men's society, to the presidency of which he was elected in 1892.

Where the Ranches Are Large.

The largest ranches are the sheep ranches of Australia, but usually, owing to the sterility of the soil, it takes from three to five acres to carry one sheep. A ranch in Queensland known as Sesbania consists of 906,000 acres and carries 105,000 sheep. On some of these great ranches they shear the sheep by machinery. There are some ranches which consist, of more than 2,000,000 acres apiece. Each is as large as the states of Delaware and Rhode Island combined.

HOW HE SAVED UWE.

Thrilling Story of the Heroism of man Life Saver.

A thrilling story of German heroism at sea, which goes far to offset some of the reports regarding the loss of the Elbe, comes from Sehleswig-Holstein. One stormy morning recently a fishing village was awakened by a gunshot off the coast. Hastening to the beach, the people saw a ship wrecked on a reof a mile away. The crew were in the regging. A lifeboat was run out, but Harro, the leader of the crew, was absent.

Eight men, however, rode out to the wreck. The crew were got into the lifeboat, with the exception of one who was lashed high up on a mast. He was half frozen, and as the storm was increasing and the lifeboat overloaded it was decided that he could not be taken off. When the lifeboat returned to the shore Harro had arrived. He askes ther everyone had been saved, and whether overyone had been saved, and was told that one remained.

"I will fetch him," said Harro. "Will you go with me?"

The men refused, saying that it was impossible. "Then I will go alone," cried Harro, and sprang into the lifeboat. At this moment his mother came running down and begged him not to venture out, reminding him that both his father and his brother Uwe had been drowned. Uwe was his youngest brother, and as he had not been heard of for years he was supposed to be dead.

"For love of me," Harro's mother begged, "don't go!"

"But the man on the mast!" exclaimed Harro. "Are you sure he has no mother to mourn his death?"

Harro's mother said no more, and her son and four other men set out for the wreck, which was now quite under water. The waves were so furious that it was difficult to approach. At last the lifeboat reached it, and Harro elimbed the mast and fetched the half-frozen man down. He was laid in the bottom of the lifeboat, and Harro bent over him and remained so until the boat was so near shore that, his voice could be heard. Then he waved Uwe!" cap and shouted:
"Tell my mother we have saved Uwe!"

CRUSHED THE MASHER.

One of the "New Women" Declined to Be Put in a False Position.

The "New Women" shows to the best advantage when brought into contact with a certain kind of man that has cumbered the earth from the beginning, without being materially affected by the moral advancement of his race. One of this sort entered a Fifth avenue stage in New York the other day, says Kate Field's Washington, and seeing a tall, brilliant-looking girl seated in the far corner, he took the vacant place next her, accosting her exactly as if he were an acquaintance. To his surprise she answered politely, and for a couple of blocks they affably discussed the weather. Then she signaled the driver to stop, and got out, followed by the inwardly astonished masher, who had expected only to be repulsed with the cold stare cultivated by the average town-bred young woman for use in such emergencies. When they reached the curbstone she gave him a second surprise.

"I have stopped on the beat of the largest policeman on the avenue," said she, in a voice he would not have recognized as that of his companion in the "bus," and if you are not a block away
