The Secret of Fascination. The secret of fascination is one which many a woman would sacrifice a good deal to learn. To cultivate a charming and an attractive manner one must begin at home; and surely a better school could not be devised, for the training is, in its way, perfection. Here one is sure to find each day little rubs which must be soothed with skillful touch; there is a constant mind-frietion going on among even the most devoted touch; there is a constant mind-friction going on among even the most devoted members of the household. It is a pain-ful fact, though none the less true, that one's family acts as a constant counter-irritant. A steady effort to smooth over the rough places, minister to wounded hearts, and with deft touches erase unpleasant memories is called for, and the woman who obeys the sum-mons is pretty sure to find herself fully able to cope in the most agreeable fash-ion with the outside w orld. Few wom-en, however, realize that a fascination of manner is not born, but cultivated. It begins to bud in the nursery, devel-ops under the skillful training of pains-taking instructors, and blossoms forth into complete beauty in the soclety of well-bred women.

well-bred women. Fincr Microscopes Needed. Frof. Schaefer, President of the sec-tion of physiology of the British Asso-station, declares that he discovered that each organic cell in vegetable and ani-mal life contains an infinitesimal parti-le which manifests definite and cou-trolling functions, and which appears to be, in fact, the principle of life. He cause, despite its infinite littleness, "it exerts an extraordinary influence over the whole cell, which may be many thousand times its size. It initiates and directs those processes which result in the multiplication of cells. The sup-posed fundamental form element called s cell is usually invisible to the naked eye. Bearing this fact in mind we can snually get an idea of the extraordinary haracter of the statement of Dr. Schne-fer that "he has discovered the life orinciple in a particle thousands of there smaller than the cell liself." Af-ter magnifying the cell 1,000 diameters the central particle, the "attraction par-ticle" or the living particle appears un-ler the most powerful microscope mere-ty the size of a fine point. Road Foundations of Cloth.

Road Foundations of Cloth. The Massachusetts Highway Com-missioners' Board has found in build-ing macadamized roads, that, upon loose, sandy soil, much stone is wasted by being driven into the sand. In such cases gravel, when accessible, has been placed upon the sand to a depth of three or four inches, and the stone laid on this. By so doing the cost is greatly re-duced. There being no gravel at Mar-tha's Vineyard, cheap cotton cloth has been sprend upon the sand, and over that the stone. The sand does not work up through the stone and much legs stone is required. Layers of tarred pa, stone is required. Layers of tarred par per were tried, but without success, as the stone pressed through them.

Only One Tone in His Voice. Possibly as ludicrous a thing as ever happened was the experience of my friend, Professor Roswell Park, of Buffriend, Professor Roswell Park, of Bur-falo, N. Y. A man's life had been saved by the beautiful surgical skill of a suc-cessful laryngotomy. When health had been retored, my friend proposed to the patient the insertion of an artificial been retored, my friend proposed to the patient the insertion of an artificial larnyx, so that vocal tones, or true voice, could be added to the whisper that necessarily resulted from the ab-sence of the vocal chords. This appar-ently highly desirable thing was done, but the tone, of course, was uniform: there was no change of pitch possible to the mechanical larnyx, and expres-sion, modulation, timbre-everything that makes voice pleasant and more than useful was absent. The man could spc.uk, convey ideas perfectly, but when he tried to give emphasis, nuances, shadings diverse meanings, and espec-laily when he tried to express emotion, anger, or resentment, there was only the monotonous drone and squeat of the intolerable machine. Nothing could control the convulsive laughter of the surgeon and assistants. The poor man's indignation sought outlet in speech, but the very words of wrath were turned to outrageous absendity by the infernal device. In a spasm of cbullient rage he tore the mean who as aved his life, and is probably running and hoarsely whispering invectives at him still.
