In the marches, songs and short dramas the pupils gave evidence of having been thoroughly instructed, and the actions of several who appeared on the stage showed that they possess talent well worth cultivating further. At the conclusion of the entertain-ment a gold fountain pen was presented to Master Michael Cabbage, for punctual attendance at music lessons, and a gold medal to Miss Katie O'Donnell for profi-ciency in the same branch. The presen-tations were made by Rev. M. J. Failhee.

Detectives Deby the Charge. Detectives McSweeney, Baur and Stenographer G. M. Shoemaker have made affidavits stating that they never tried to induce the negro, George Fuln-wider, to get the alleged murderer, Frank Shaffer, to withdraw his confes-tion. Exhaustion the other day showed Frank Shaffer, to withdraw his confes-sion. Fulnwider the other day charged them with offering to provide the beat lawyers to defend Shaffer if he would re-tract his confession and swear that De-tectives O'Brien and Quigley had offered them works ago, said he knew the men who blew up the Hungarian shanty on the mountain and named several negrees. These were arrested, but when they confronted Fulnwider he confessed that he had lied. Killed in a Stripping. Kalled in a Stripping.

Killed in a Stripping. By a fall of rock two Hungarians were killed on Thursday at a stripping in Eckley. Their names are Adam Love-lawsky and Peter Domari. The men were employed as laborers and were en-gaged in a space where excavations had been made. A large amount of rock and clay overhung the opening, which it is belived was weakened by a blast. It was seen to shake, but before an alarm could be given the crash came and the men were buried beneath tons of rock and dirt. Lovelawsky was taken out dead. Domari was alive and the ambulance was sent to the hospital, but died on the road.

road. Injured at Highland. Lako Janko, a Highland miner, re-eeived severe injuries in No. 2 slope of that place late Friday afternoon. He prepared a blast, butsome of the powder in the hole was damp and it failed to go off. He then began to withdraw the powder, when in some unknown manner it became ignited. He was standing directly in front of the hole, and the flame from the blazing powder burned him about the breast, arms and face. Some parts of the body were burned to the bone. The injured man was taken to Hazleton hospital.

Hoy Drowned in a Mine Hole. About noon on Thursday the first drowning accident of the season oc-curred in this vicinity. The victim was Fred Ledger, a little boy, who went bathing in the large mine hole near the old abandoned slope, No. 4 Woodside. The place is known as Buzzard Bay, and is a favorite bathing sont for Free. the New County. From the Philadelphia Press. It is evident there is considerable un-certainty as to whether Quay county is, after all, to be named Quay county, should the bill in the governor's hands be approved. It is no longer a secret that some of those who used the name of Quay to conjure with when the meas-ure was before the legislature are now opposed to any such designation. There are others revering the memory of the late Eckley Brinton Coxe who de-sire that it shall be called Coxe county, regardless of the fact that Mr. Coxe was a vigorous and influential opponent of the scheme to build a new county out of portlons of Luzerne and Schuylkill counties. But while the idea of calling it Coxe county or returning to the original name

But while the idea of calling it Coxe county or returning to the original name of Hazle more or less provails, it is pret-ty plain that the more potent influences are now endeavoring to familiarize the people with the notion of calling it Curtin county. It would be impossi-ble for anyone to raise an objecton to that unless a positive personal pledge has been made that it shall be named Quay county. Probably no such pledgo has been made, since the sponsors for the new county are very quick to resent the lesst imputation that there is an oblgation to name it Quay county. obligation to name it Quay county. Many of them do not much hesitate to declare an open preference for the name Curtin. The use of the other name is no longer necessary to aid the the name is no longer necessary to aid the scheme. The situation is really an alarming one. There seems to be no provision in the bill, which was specially passed to create this county, under which a name is to be given it. It is rather indefinite what the authority reame the sense is to be given it. It is rather indefinite what the authority to name the county is. If it rests with the people to vote on a name there may be some totally un-expected result, since it is a notorious fact that a considerable majority of the voters in the proposed new county are Democrates—hopeless and incorrigible Democrats.
