

FREELAND TRIBUNE.

VOL. VIII. NO. 13.

FREELAND, PA., MONDAY, AUGUST 12, 1895.

$1.50 PER YEAR.

A FOOLISH YOUNG GIRL. ELOPED WITH A PICTURE AGENT, BUT WAS CAPTURED.

White Haven had a considerable amount of excitement last week, which was something quite unusual for that quiet borough. The accounts of the affair, given by the Journal and the Wilkesbarre Record, are as follows: A young couple stepped from a Valley train and went to the White Haven hotel a few days ago. The man registered as C. A. Lemer and wife, of Altoona, Pa. They passed the time pleasantly and seemed to be very fond of each other's company. The following morning a telegram came from the chief of police at Hazleton to Policeman Horton to arrest the young man at Fisher's hotel and hold him. There being no such hotel and no certainty as to who was meant, nothing was done. Later in the day there was handed to the town constable a telegram saying that he should "lock up the young man who was with the girl at the hotel and keep him from the girl's father."

Constable Transue went to the White Haven hotel and began to make some inquiries about the young man and was thus engaged when a train came in from Hazleton. Two men jumped quickly from the train, and noticing the star on the officer's vest, rushed up to him and exclaimed, "Where is he?" Before the officer had time to reply the man who made the inquiry caught sight of the young woman who was known as Mrs. Lemer, and rushed toward her.

The enraged man was Watkins T. Williams, of Hazleton, and the man with him was his brother, John. The young woman is Margaret Williams, daughter of Watkins.

Pursued by her angry father, Margaret ran through the hotel, and was on her way down stairs when her father attempted to catch hold of her, and accidentally struck her on the face, and from the force of the blow she was thrown down and slid to the bottom. She jumped up quickly, however, and ran crying to the street, and was there caught and held. In the meantime the officer had caught hold of Williams at the top of the stairway, and when he saw that the girl was out of the way he let the father go, and following the direction of the girl, took her to his own home.

As soon as the father was released, he went back to the platform of the station and ran after Lemer, who had put in his appearance. Lemer was caught by John Williams, and his brother Watkins, approaching the pair, struck Lemer a heavy blow on the jaw, knocked him from his brother's hold, and then rushed upon him.

Quite a crowd assembled by this time, and they separated Williams and Lemer. Lemer asked to be protected from Williams. During all this time Williams made ineffectual attempts to get at Lemer, and while in the office of the burgess tried twice more to get at him, explaining that he would kill him.

Even after Lemer was locked up, Williams showed his infuriation by offering to give the burgess $5,000 bail if he would only let him have the keys and get into the lockup with the prisoner. Williams finally went home, but returned to White Haven on the first train the next morning, with Officer Prescott and a warrant. The whole party went to Hazleton on 10.13 train, and the case was settled and the young man set free.

Lemer is an agent for picture frames. He is a good looking young fellow, but too smooth and too sleek for an honest man, but was just the kind of a fellow to be taken up by a foolish young girl. He had been acquainted with the young woman only a short time, but had succeeded in infatuating her.

Miss Williams is 20 years old, good-looking, well-dressed, and apparently well-educated. She maintained that she had been ill-treated at home. She had left home on Monday morning, with her father's consent, ostensibly to visit her grandmother at Scranton. Lemer knew of her intended visit, met her, and they stopped at White Haven. She refused at first to go back home but finally yielded to the persuasions of her family and friends. Her mother was killed in the trolley accident near Jeaneville on the 30th of last March. Hitherto she has held a good reputation and her acquaintances are much surprised at her conduct.

Liquor Law Violations.
A sensation was sprung on the people who have picnics at Hanover and other upper end parks of the county when Louis Tisch, Jacob Miller and other members of the Saengerbund Society, of Wilkesbarre, were arrested, charged with selling beer at their picnic at Hanover Park, near Nanticoke, without a license. Constable J. A. Wood swore out the warrants as prosecutor, and it is said that a number of liquor dealers who pay licenses and who are injured by the wholesale violation of the liquor law are at the back of the prosecution. The men waived a hearing and entered bail in $300 each for their appearance at court.

The prosecution say they have only begun this crusade and have served notice on a number of others, including many prominent citizens, members of societies which have sold beer at picnics. If they extend their suits against all parties who sold beer at parks in the county during the year many societies in the county will be implicated. A fierce war of extermination will also be begun against the speak-easies in and around the county seat, information against which has already been lodged.

Following closely upon the arrests of the Saengerbund managers came those of the Star Social Club members on Saturday afternoon. John Burke, J. J. Mackin, Henry Snyder, Genl McCarthy and Thomas Caffrey, all of Newton and Ashley, were arrested and gave bail for their appearance at court. The arrests of all others connected with picnics at which the beer was sold during the present season in Hanover park will be made as soon as possible.

National Temperance Convention.
The national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America was held in New York city last week. The sessions were very interesting to temperance people. The union now has a membership of over 65,000. Father Cleary, of Minneapolis, was re-elected president, and J. Washington Logue, of Philadelphia, was re-elected first vice president. James F. Brennan, of Mount Carmel, Conn., was elected second vice president, and Mrs. Lenora Lake, of St. Louis, third vice president. Rev. Father William McMahon, of Cleveland, O., who has been treasurer for the past ten or twelve years, was re-elected. Rev. Father Alex P. Doyle was re-elected general secretary. The next convention will meet at St. Louis on the first Wednesday of August, 1896.

No Change in the Coal Trade.
It is said that the efforts of the individual coal operators to bring about a settlement of the difficulties between the carrying companies have thus far met with no encouragement. They have visited President Harris and the executive heads of several other roads, and while treated with the utmost courtesy, they have failed to accomplish the desired end, and the situation is exactly as it stood four months ago. Business in all other sections of the county in improving and trade is better than at any time for two years past. The settlement of the anthracite troubles would give the people of the coal region an opportunity to take part in the business revival, and the inability of the various interests to arrive at an understanding is deplored.

On a Visit to Wales.
George F. Reese, of Hazleton, one of the passenger conductors on the Highland branch of the L. V. R. R., will leave tomorrow for New York, thence he will sail on Wednesday on the Majestic for a brief visit to his native town, Merthyr Tydvil, South Wales. Mr. Reese has been a faithful employe, and the company has granted him a few months vacation. His many friends in Freeland and Hazleton wish him a safe and pleasant journey.

PLAYED A POOR GAME. The Tigers and the Hamburg Club Gave an Unsatisfactory Exhibition.

What can reasonably be said to be the poorest game of the season, was that played yesterday afternoon by the Tigers against the Hamburg club, of Berks county. The latter came with a very good record, but after taking the field for practice it was evident that they were not in the Tigers' class, and the only thing wondered at was what kind of clubs they had been playing to obtain the record they have. No one doubted that the Tigers would be able to walk away with their opponents, and for the first few innings they did it in apple pie order. It required three innings for the visitors to get a bat around.

The Tigers were first at bat and fell onto Johnson's delivery without any difficulty from the start. Five runs were scored on hits by Gillespie, McGarvey, Gaffney, McFadden and Brislun, and errors by Hartman and Owens. In the second inning 1 run was scored. In the third and in the fourth 4 were made. The ease with which the Tigers batted Johnson up to this time made them think they had a soft thing of it for the day, and when they took the field in the third inning they appeared somewhat careless and over-confident.

They were rudely awakened, however, when Hartman opened the inning by lighting on to Brislun for a three-bagger, followed by Shollenberger and Lielke with two-base hits and Williams with a triple. Johnson was hit with a pitched ball and Burnhart given a pass. After this Brislun left the box and was replaced by McFadden. Eight runs were made in the inning and the score tied.

Rain interfered with the play for several minutes at this stage of the game. The Tigers' 4 in the fourth gave them a lead which was met again promptly by the visitors.

The game then dragged along to the finish without any particular features. McGarvey's catch of Williams' long fly in the ninth was the only difficult play made in the game.

The score:

ON THE DIAMOND.
In the Eastern league game at Scranton this afternoon James J. Corbett and his brother will play with the club of that city. Corbett will be signed in regular form before the game, and given his release immediately after. This is supposed to be the greatest advertising scheme to draw at a ball game that has been tried in base ball.

The Fearnots were defeated yesterday afternoon at Drifton by the Stars, of Jeaneville. The score was 16 to 17.

The Hustlers, of Drifton, defeated a club at Upper Lehigh on Saturday afternoon. The score was 12 to 13.

Tigers have ten games won and six lost. Percentage, .625.

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.
On Friday morning a passenger train on the Central road struck a cow, breaking one of its legs and crushing the animal internally. The cow lay dying near the track all day, and about 7 o'clock in the evening it expired. A large crowd of Hungarians, who work on the stripping here, made a Jersey splice and bought the cow for $10 from the owner, John Frisko. They were busy cleaning the animal all night. On Saturday and Sunday they had fresh meat three times each day, and at supper last night the last bone of old "Bossy" was picked clean.

An exciting game of ball was won on Saturday afternoon by the employes of No. 5 colliery, who defeated the men of No. 6. The score was 26 to 22. Three hours were consumed in piling up the runs. No. 6 men want another chance.

George Wise, at his stores in Jeddo and Freeland, has a few more sets of fly nets and large umbrellas, which he is selling very cheap.

School Board Meeting.
Directors McCarthy, Ferry, Welsh and Timony were the only members present at the school board meeting on Thursday evening. There was considerable business to be transacted, but the board failed to dispose of any of the work before it. The selection of seats for the new building on Ridge street caused a disagreement which prevented action in the matter. A vote on the question of single or double seats resulted 3 to 1 in favor of the former, Messrs. Ferry, Welsh and Timony favoring the single while Mr. McCarthy voted for the double seats. The president decided that the vote taken did not settle the question, and an adjournment was agreed to until tomorrow evening. Half a dozen agents from as many desk manufacturers were present to enlighten the board upon the merits of the school furniture which they carried.

The proposals for painting and heating the building were not acted upon, neither was any of the routine business transacted.

On Tuesday afternoon a parade will take place. A fireworks display and reception and ball on Tuesday evening; memorial exercises on Wednesday evening; a boat excursion on Thursday evening, with concert, music and other entertainments, will make up the programme.
