HAUNTED BY A CRIME.

MURDERER METZGER SURRENDERED ON MONDAY NIGHT.

The Accomplice of Will Bowman, Who Is Now Under Sentence of Death, Gave Himself Up at Mauch Chunk—He Was Haunted by His Crime.

After being at large nearly a year, George Metzger, the murderer of the Arabian peddler, Mike Johns, gave himself up on Monday night in Mauch Chunk, and was taken to Wilkesbarre on Tuesday. William Penn Bowman, a 19-year-old boy, is in jail waiting for the day of the execution for this crime. Metzger is a year younger. Ten months ago Bowman, whose conscience troubled him, gave himself up and was found guilty on his own confession, and sentenced to death. Now Metzger, after wandering all over the country, has delivered himself into the hands of the police. He, too, was conscience-haunted and from a big strapping boy of 150 pounds he has wasted until he does not weigh 100. Weak and sick and haunted by his thoughts he could not hold out. Three times he went to Wilkesbarre to give himself up, and three times he sneaked away again afraid.

Metzger presented a most pitiable appearance as he stepped from the train at noon on Tuesday, securely handcuffed to Constable Lauth. He was nothing but skin and bones; his eyes, sunken in his head, shone with a wild, glaring, haunted look; his face was pale and drawn and his every appearance showed the haunted life the boy had led. He did not seem to realize anything or know anybody, and would speak only a few words. He appeared to be deathly sick, and if not well taken care of may change his prison cell for a narrower one in the cemetery. Nothing but pity was heard from those who looked on this human wreck and many think his reason is gone.

Metzger was put in jail and District Attorney Fell notified. He ordered the prisoner to be held. Colonel Martin, the attorney for Bowman and Metzger, drove up to the alderman's office the moment the prisoner arrived. Colonel Martin pleaded for a stay of the hearing because neither the defendant nor commonwealth was in a position for a hearing. So Metzger was committed to jail for another hearing.

When Mrs. Metzger saw her son she cried bitterly and said: "O, my poor boy, he would have better been dead than in this condition." He turned to her and said: "O, mother I am very sick." He was asked if he had anything to say about the case and replied in a weak voice: "I don't want to talk about the shooting at this time."

He was asked where he had been since he left and gave a disconnected account of going from Wilkesbarre to Philadelphia, then out to Youngstown, O., where he worked in a boiler shop three months. The rest of his time has been spent in wandering over the country. He was in Wilkesbarre three days ago, but did not go near his home, and only spent a few hours in the town. He had only been in Mauch Chunk a short while. He told Constable Lauth he did the shooting, and this confession may result in saving Bowman's life, for he was convicted chiefly on the assertion of the Arabian who escaped and swore that Bowman shot his companion.

Coal Land Values Revisited.

The Carbon county commissioners, who have been sitting as a board of tax revision for the past two weeks, have completed their labors, with the result that the valuations of coal lands in the county are over $2,000,000 higher than in former years. The coal companies interested have been notified of their rating, and September 7 is fixed as the date on which they will be given an opportunity to be heard in their own behalf. The proceeding is similar to that in Schuylkill county of three years ago, when the valuation of coal lands in that county was increased by about $11,000,000.

It has been a notorious fact that, compared with other property, coal lands have been rated remarkably low. Lands that are known to have veins of coal beneath their surface over 100 feet in depth were assessed for $175 an acre. Other lands valued at $1,000 an acre were assessed at $100 an acre, and some even less.

The commission engaged experts on coal valuations and they have made a revision that they think will withstand any opposition that may be brought against it. The following is a list of the companies affected and the increase of each:

- Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, increase $494,672.
  - Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, $97,318.
  - The Lehigh Valley Coal Company, $95,257.
  - The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, $154,217.
  - The New York and Lehigh Coal Company, $36,438.
  - A. S. Van Winkle & Co., $100,754.
  - Coxe Bros. & Co., $68,773.
  - The Evans Mining Company, $3,000.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT HAZLETON.

There was a family quarrel at Hazleton on Monday night. The victim is Mrs. George Chisnell and her assailant is her husband, Chisnell, was at one time the champion five-mile runner of the state, and is well-known throughout the country. For several weeks he has been drinking heavily. He went to work on Monday in the mines, and came home at quitting time, seemingly in good spirits. His stepson, Nick Victor, entered the house some time afterward. It seems that Chisnell entertained some hard feelings toward the latter. After washing himself, Chisnell picked up his mining clothes and took a revolver from his pocket, at the same time remarking that he might as well settle the matter at once and made a dash for Victor.

The woman came between them at this juncture and as she did so the pistol discharged. A second shot rang out and Mrs. Chisnell dropped to the floor. The would-be assassin made his escape in the excitement, but surrendered himself four hours later. He has been committed to the county jail. The woman was shot in the thigh, but is not dangerously wounded. Chisnell says he was drunk at the time.

A Delicate Operation.

From the Hazleton Standard.
P. M. Boyle, mine foreman at the Hazle Mines colliery, had a delicate operation performed on Tuesday morning. Over three years ago, while descending the slope at Drifton in a car, Mr. Boyle slipped, and in trying to recover himself, his right hand came in contact with a lead pencil in his pocket. The point of the pencil, over a quarter of an inch long, entered the palm of his hand. A physician attempted to remove the point at the time, but was unable to accomplish it.

Mr. Boyle suffered considerable pain during the past week and decided to make another effort to have the point removed. He presented his case to Dr. Gayley, who after probing found the mischievous piece of lead and extricated it.

Colliery Suspends Indefinitely.
The Nelson shaft, one of the largest mines in the anthracite coal fields, has shut down for an indefinite period on account of the low prices of coal, and 500 men and boys, most of whom live in West Shamokin, have been thrown out of employment. Operations will not be resumed until there is a decided increase in the selling price of coal. All of the mules have been hoisted from the mine, and all dead work has been stopped. The colliery is operated by J. J. Langdon & Co., of Elmira, N. Y.

Father Mathew Celebration.

The anniversary of the birth of Father Mathew, the apostle of temperance, will be celebrated here on October 10 by the Young Men's C. T. A. B. Corps. A parade will be held in the afternoon, to which invitations to participate will be extended to the temperance organizations of the fourth district. A picnic at the Public park will follow, and a ball at the opera house in the evening will close the celebration.

Struck by a Trolley Car.

John McLaughlin, a young man of Adams street, was struck by a trolley car near No. 2 Drifton station last night. He received a severe scalp wound and had his right jawbone slightly fractured. He was placed on the car and taken to Hazleton hospital, where his injuries were attended to. He will be able to return home today.

TEACHERS APPOINTED.

Borough Directors Provide Experienced Instructors for Twelve Schools.

All the members of the borough school board were present at the meeting held on Monday evening. The purpose of the meeting was to appoint teachers for the coming term and to transact such other business relating to the new school building as might come before the board. President McCarthy appointed Messrs. Timony, Rate and Ferry as a committee to confer with J. D. Myers, who was given the order to furnish the seats and desks for the new schools, in regard to the amount of furniture to be purchased.

It was decided that the new school building shall be known as the Eckley B. Coxe School, and the president was authorized to have a marble slab with the name inscribed placed on the building.

President McCarthy stated that a census of the borough recently taken for the purpose of ascertaining the number of school-going children, showed that there are over seven hundred who will attend the public schools this year. The president called attention to the necessity of providing ample accommodations for the children, and suggested the advisability of establishing a sufficient number of schools.

Director Rate moved to establish nine schools, but the motion failed for want of a seconder. Mr. Welsh then offered a motion to create twelve schools, which was seconded by Mr. Timony. The motion prevailed, all voting for it, except Mr. Rate.

The board decided to award the contract for painting the new school building to A. A. Bachman for $97.

The appointing of teachers was then taken up, and resulted as follows: Misses Tillie Lindsay, Nellie Gillespie, Kate Timony, Bella McGill, Bid McLaughlin, Kate Rogan and Mrs. S. M. Denney; Messrs. John D. Herron, Edward F. Hanlon, George McLaughlin, John F. McBrierty and Wm. J. Schmidt.

Mr. Herron was elected principal of the Ridge street school and Mr. Hanlon principal of the Washington street school. Their salaries were fixed at $90 per month. Mr. McBrierty was assigned to the new building, Mr. McLaughlin to the old and Mr. Schmidt to Bivanton, at salaries of $50 per month. The salaries of the female teachers were fixed at $40 each per month, but no assignments were made.

An eight-months' term was agreed upon. The board adjourned until this (Thursday) evening to meet the teachers and hear their recommendations on text books.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

Somebody is playing tricks on the electric car motormen. A few evenings ago a suit of old underwear was filled with straw and laid across the track. As the car dashed towards the object the motorman's heart gave a jump and he almost upset the car by the sudden stop, not wishing to kill what he thought was a human being. This is somebody's idea of a joke, and goes to prove that the foolkiller can find work here if he calls.

A large crowd of young fellows got together the other night and organized a drum corps for the purpose of serenading a young couple, whom they heard had been married on the q. t. Such was not the case, still the drum corps paraded up to the house of the supposed groom, and played some very nice selections. The music was not a bit appreciated by the family, and the serenade was labor lost.

It would be advisable for the fathers and mothers of town to prevent their children from promenading up and down the road between Jeddo and this place, on what is known as "Lovers' Lane." The language used in that locality by the elements which congregate there is not going to improve the morals of our rising generation.

The Children of Mary Society held a picnic over at St. Ann's church Tuesday afternoon. The happy crowd spent a pleasant day until 5.30 o'clock, when they partook of a palatable supper furnished by the Sisters of Mercy.

Miss Rose Carr returned home last evening, after spending a few weeks with friends at the county seat.

Miss Mary A. Malloy returned home on Saturday after a three weeks' visit at Hazleton.

Mrs. John L. Sullivan, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mrs. John Curran.

Miss Maggie Harkins is visiting at Norristown this week.

Miss Katie Gillespie is visiting friends at Mahanoy City.

Mrs. Edward O'Donnell called on friends at Wilkesbarre on Monday.

Mrs. John Carr is spending a few days with friends at Yorktown this week.

Here on Monday Next.
Leon W. Washburn's great all-day shows, big three-ring circus, museum, menagerie and hippodrome are to exhibit here Monday, August 26. It has a large corps of riders, leapers, jugglers and acrobats, together with trained beasts, well-selected menagerie and some most exciting hippodrome races. It is said to be an excellent show and leading papers are loud in their praises of it.

Extensive Caving at Luzerne.

Quite an extensive and disastrous caving has begun in Luzerne borough. The region affected is over the old Hutchison workings and in what is now the Haddock mine, although at present the caving part of the colliery is not being worked. The displacement is about one hundred feet in diameter and thirty feet deep, and is still settling. Five houses and lots adjoining are badly affected, three owned by John Holmes and two by S. A. Morton. Immediately after the first settling the occupants of the five houses moved out. The residents in close proximity feel very shaky and are preparing to move.

The ground supporting the houses owned by John Holmes and John Pryde, William Harbster and Mrs. Knarr is gradually going down. The kitchens of all three of the houses are torn off, and have gone down a distance of about fifty feet in a hundred feet of water. The property owned by Samuel Morton started to give way and in a short time the house was all racked to pieces from the jar of the cracking of the ground. The people believe that the pillars have been robbed.

The cave ruins some of the property and greatly depreciates that adjacent to the affected region. The loss will run up into the thousands. It does not affect the operation of Haddock's mine, as the caving is in an abandoned working.

Paid a Fraternal Visit.

From the Hazleton Plain Speaker.
Major C. B. Coxe Post, No. 174, G. A. R., of Freeland, paid a fraternal visit to Robinson Post, No. 20, G. A. R., of town, on Tuesday evening. They came over by trolley. The visitors, numbering eighteen, were led into the post room by John Wagner. An address of welcome was made by Comrade Thomas Monroe, followed by an address by John Wagner, of Freeland. "Barbara Fritchie" was recited in an able manner by Comrade Christ, of Minersville Post, No. 17. Several other addresses were made by the members of Post 20, and Mr. Oliver, of C. B. Coxe Post, gave a description of his travels in Egypt, stating how the Egyptian soldiers honored him when they learned that he had been an American soldier. He was taken through their camp on a camel guarded by a corps of soldiers. At the adjournment of the meeting all repaired to Henry Schaeffer's hotel, where a banquet was spread. Camp fire tales were told and songs sung. The J. O. U. A. M. drum corps accompanied the Post.

Elected State Delegates.

Delegates representing several of the election districts of the fourth legislative district met at Hazleton on Monday afternoon, to elect two delegates to the Democratic state convention at Williamsport on September 11. Chairman Breihof presided and Secretary Hanlon recorded the proceedings. The nominations for delegates were L. G. Lubrecht and C. Heid, of Hazleton, and Edward O'Donnell, of Harleigh. Messrs. Lubrecht and O'Donnell were elected. A resolution was adopted calling upon the state convention to nominate a complete ticket for judges of the superior court.

No Pay for Deputy Constables.

The deputy constables of the county are up in arms against the commissioners, who, through their attorney, have refused to approve their bills for service in various cases during the past month. County Solicitor Moore says that he will not sanction the paying of any constable who is not regularly elected by the people. Most of the deputies are deputized by the aldermen and justices of the peace and are not under any bond. Mr. Moore thinks the law will uphold him in his course.

Mountain Park Excursion.

The annual excursion to Mountain Park of the White Haven Odd Fellows' Relief Association will take place on Saturday. The times of trains and rates will be found in our advertising columns. As in former years, the association will apply the surplus in relieving the wants of the needy in the towns about White Haven and Freeland. The work in this respect has earned for that body the respect and esteem of all classes of people, and the best way to show your appreciation of their liberal spirit is to accompany them on Saturday. The money cleared is used for no other purpose than charity.
