The Harrisburg Excursionists.

Six well-filled Pennsylvania Railroad coaches left Drifton at 8.30 a. m. on Tuesday, containing Daniel Cox and his invited guests, bound for Harrisburg to attend the Republican state convention. The train was drawn by D. S. & S. engine "Daniel H. Hastings." The majority of the excursionists are said to have been Democrats. Music at Harrisburg and on the train was furnished by St. Patrick's cornet band. Very few of the prominent Republicans of Freeland attended the excursion, and a great deal of dissatisfaction is said to exist on account of the arrangements.

The excursion train left Harrisburg about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, arriving at Drifton at 9.30. The result of the convention had no apparent effect upon the crowd, as they were nearly all out for the fun that was to be had out of it and cared nothing who won. The leaders, of course, had a pale blue look about them, and were chagrined to learn that they were of no consequence after Harrisburg was reached. The crowd, however, had no sympathy for them, and whooped it up for Quay without regard for the feelings of Danny Cox and his lieutenants.

To Manage the Campaign.

The Republicans have completed their county organization, and the list of officers to conduct the campaign is as follows: Chairman, W. S. Thompkins, West Pittston; first assistant chairman, R. P. Robinson, Wilkesbarre; second assistant chairman, H. P. Koons, Lattimer; third assistant chairman, John M. Jones, Pittston; secretary, W. B. Koons, Wilkesbarre; treasurer, Fred Theis, Wilkesbarre.

Those selected as members of the committee from this part of the fourth district are as follows: H. C. Koons, Thomas Birkbeck, M. Zeman, Peter Magagna, B. F. Davis, M. Sewabe, A. Rudwick, Gilbert Smith, Freeland; Ziba Fairchild, Frank Solomon, Zehner; Jere Woodring, John E. Hoover, Sandy Run; Daniel Cox, H. E. Sweeney, Drifton; W. R. Jeffrey, Upper Lehigh; A. P. Goedecke, Jeddo, and A. Vanauker, Eckley.

Shot Dead Yesterday.

Frank Potteboffe, a clerk in the Lehigh Valley Company's office at Maltby colliery, was shot dead yesterday by Frank Seeling, a civil engineer. The men were in the office when Seeling took down a rifle from the wall. While examining the weapon it was discharged. Seeling is almost insane with grief, and would have shot himself but for the arrival of friends. He was arrested and afterwards released on bail. Witnesses testified at the hearing before Judge Bennett that the shooting was purely accidental.

Rumors of a Settlement.

It is confidently asserted in New York that an arrangement would be made within a few days by which the difficulties between the anthracite coal carrying companies will be settled. The settlement, it is announced, is upon an entirely new basis and involves a slight concession on the part of the Reading Railroad Company. It is said that the proposition as agreed to followed a threat on the part of practically all the New York companies to combine against the Reading.

Took Away the Mill Water.

M. L. Smith, the proprietor of a paint mill located on Quakake creek, at Hudsondale, near Weatherly, has begun injunction proceedings against the Silver Brook and the A. S. Van Winkle Coal Companies, of Banks township, to restrain them from interfering with the water that supplies his mill. The coal companies have erected large dams in Quakake creek from which water is pumped to supply their collieries.

Killed by a Fall of Coal.

George Primbula, aged 23 years, residing on Washington street and employed as a laborer at No. 7 Upper Lehigh, was instantly killed by a fall of top coal on Monday afternoon. He was working on the night shift. He was a resident of this country four years, and was a cousin of Officer John Mollek. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, interment being made at St. Ann's cemetery.

Foreigners Lead in Numbers.

The report of the miners' examining board of the Shamokin district shows that of the 475 certificates issued to miners during the year ending July 1, 1895, 371 were given to Poles, Huns and Italians, while only sixty-seven native Americans, eighteen Germans, seven each English and French, three Welsh and two Scotch were among the applicants.

BURNED THE BANNER.

A Harrisburg Darkey Broke Up the Drifton Delegation's Parade.

The scenes at Harrisburg before the Republican state convention was held were exciting. One, of particular interest to the people here, is mentioned in the Philadelphia Record yesterday, and reads as follows: "A delegation of Luzerne county workers from the fourth and sixth districts, comprising Hazleton and the surrounding sections, were the next to get here to the number of about 3,000 with a monster transparency bearing the legend, 'For Hastings and Gilkison. Fourth and Sixth Districts, Luzerne County.' The delegation is headed by Daniel Cox, a nephew of the late Eckley R. Cox and an enthusiastic Hastings man. The delegation came on a train of Pullman cars drawn by a brand-new locomotive and named the Daniel H. Hastings. Mr. Cox himself ran the locomotive to Harrisburg.

"They marched over the principal streets. As they passed the Commonwealth hotel Governor Hastings appeared on the balcony at the corner and stood there bowing as long as any of the paraders remained in sight.

"Disaster overtook the paraders, however. The transparency was longer than a street car, and the men carried it. As they turned the corner of Third and Walnut streets, a colored man suddenly dashed out of an alley, set fire to the gauzy affair, and before the paraders could recover from their surprise, had dashed away again as rapidly as he came. Nearly every man in the parade made a break after the colored man, but they never caught him. The transparency was ruined and the parade broken up."

Great Alley Ball Game Today.

From the Wilkesbarre Leader. County Commissioner Thomas M. Dullard has consented to serve in the capacity of referee in the great game between John Rickaby and Thomas Dove of Scranton, on the one side and Pugilist James J. Corbett and his brother Joe on the other. The game will be played at Scranton this afternoon. Rickaby and Dove are considered the best open alley players in Pennsylvania and Champion Corbett and his brother have defeated the best teams in New York city. While Corbett was filling his recent engagement with the Scranton base ball club, the match was arranged and will come off today at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Dullard's reputation as an impartial referee in contests of this character is almost national, and when his name was mentioned to the champion the latter readily accepted him. The match is for a purse of $1,000, and that it will be one of merit is assured by the connection of County Commissioner Dullard's name with the affair.

A Scranton Man Made Happy.

Joseph McNamara, of Scranton, has received a letter from Ireland acquainting him of the fact that a bachelor uncle of his had died and left an estate which is estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of $200,000. The news was received with exultation by Mr. McNamara and his wife, and by the next mail they had letters speeding across the Atlantic ocean calling for a verification of the fortune intelligence. The prospective legatee is employed loading coal in the Oxford shaft. He has been married several years and has a large family of small children. He is industrious, and the intimation that he has a prospective fortune in store has not caused him to lie idle and quite work.

Burglars Used Chloroform.

Burglars broke into the home of William Gabel, of Wilkesbarre, on Monday night. They secured $30 in cash and two watches. They overlooked a gold watch which was lying on a sideboard, and a big safe, whose doors was open. In the latter there was a large sum of money, checks, silverware, jewelry, etc., amounting to many hundred dollars. Next day when the family awoke each member experienced a headache, and there was the odor of chloroform about the house.

May Be Unconstitutional.

The law firm of Watson & Zimmerman, of Scranton, will attack the constitutionality of that provision of the superior court law which says that each voter can vote for only six of the seven judges to be chosen. Watson and Zimmerman think that the constitution grants the voter the right to vote for all the officers to be voted for in his respective district, and the legislature has no right to attempt to deprive him of one-seventh right of his suffrage.

Railroad Tracks in Danger.

The undermined spot along the Lehigh Valley Railroad, near Stockton, which has sank several times, caved in between 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The hole is quite deep, and appears to be exceedingly dangerous. Passengers to and from Hazleton were transferred at the cave in. Workmen started to fill up the gap.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Allentown is gay with bunting and flags in honor of the state convention of Patriotic Order Sons of America, whose thirtieth annual convention is in session there. The amount paid out for relief during the year ending December 31 was $107,382.82; total receipts by subordinate camps during year, $320,259.66; total expenses, $293,069.12; amount of cash in subordinate camps' treasuries, $140,877.55; amount invested in bonds and real estate, $480,560.78; value of paraphernalia $206,706.32; total valuation of subordinate camps $377,143.85.

A Successful Year.

It is almost a year since I. Refowich reopened his clothing and gents' furnishing store in Freeland. The exact date is September 1, at which time the business, for two years previous owned by Jacobs & Barasch, was again taken charge of by the original proprietor, and the record made by the establishment in the past twelve months exceeds all other years by far. This is a statement that the proprietor guarantees, and there is no telling to what extent the business might not have increased were it not for the condition of the times in this vicinity during that period.

When Mr. Refowich took charge last year the business done required the attention of but four tailors. Since then there has been thirty people employed almost steadily in the manufacture of the clothing he sells. In fact, the rush upon the house has been so great at times that work has actually been refused. This was notably the case last May, when Mr. Refowich had to refuse a large order from the Freeland firemen for white trousers, although two weeks time was offered him to complete the work.

The establishment has won for itself a reputation for fair and honest dealing with its patrons that few business men would not give much to possess. The good opinion of the house that is held by the public is well-deserved. Its manager, who, by the way, is I. Refowich, Jr., a nephew of the proprietor and a bright young man who understands cloth and clothing from A to Z, is largely responsible for the increase of trade that the house is enjoying. He has complete charge of the business, and, though modest and unassuming, has proved himself a hustler.

Another feature that has added to the popularity of Refowich's store in the custom-work trade is the fact that an experienced New York cutter is employed all the year round, a gentleman who is up to date in all departments of his profession, and can give the patrons the very latest in style while the manager gives the very lowest in price.

QUAY WON HIS FIGHT.

HASTINGS AND THE COMBINE THOROUGHLY ROUTED YESTERDAY.

Finding Themselves Whipped on Every Side the Administration Forces Readily Agreed to the Terms the Senator Offered Them Months Ago.

Governor Hastings, Dave Martin, Charles Porter, Chris Magee and the city political rings of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, with all their little corporation allies throughout the state, were routed yesterday at Harrisburg by United States Senator Quay. The great contest that was waged against the latter, and for the success of which the governor and his friends sacrificed so much, failed to dethrone Quay as the Republican leader in Pennsylvania. The "Hog Combine," as the clique opposing Quay was appropriately named, was beaten at every point of the game, and was only too willing to accept terms of settlement at 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning. The terms, which were the very ones offered to and rejected by Hastings after the fight began, gave the superior court judges a renomination, made Hastings chairman of the convention, Quay state chairman and Benj. J. Haywood the nominee for state treasurer.

After each faction held a caucus on Tuesday night the "Combine" saw defeat staring them in the face, and when a settlement was broached they readily assented to any plan that would let them down easily. The only test of strength was for the election of temporary chairman. Quay named Congressman Robinson and his opponents put up Representative Hall. The vote was: Robinson, 1634; Hall, 1233. It was a clear majority of over 40 for Quay.

The convention was quiet and peaceful, it being too one-sided to be otherwise. The administration people were given a voice in its affairs, Quay having graciously consented to allow Gilkison, his opponent, to nominate him. Hastings and other leaders were also permitted to speak and make motions, and the senator did not make their medicine more bitter than was necessary at the time.

About the most disgusted and thoroughly whipped crowd at Harrisburg was the little coterie of Democratic Republicans from the fourth district. For two months, since the governor vetoed the Quay county bill, they have been shouting themselves hoarse for the "Hog Combine," and their ownness in politics was made conspicuous by their honest belief that the governor would win. These "leaders" came home last night defeated and dejected, munching their bits of "crown" as if they liked it.

When the news of the senator's victory reached Freeland flags were displayed by the Quay sympathizers. Oliver Miller was the first to float the starchy banner. In the evening a parade was hurriedly arranged, and was led by Marshals Charles Seesholtz and W. U. Fetterman and the Junior Mechanic drum corps.
