BRIEF ITEMS OF NEWS.

PARAGRAPHS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF THE REGION.

Synopsis of Local and Miscellaneous Occurrences That Can Be Read Quickly. What the Folks of This and Other Towns are Doing.

Lehigh Valley Railroad trainmen have donned their winter uniforms.

Miss Mazie Lewis and company will play three nights at the opera house this week.

Mrs. Charles Gibson, of Wanamie, is spending a month here with relatives and friends.

The school teachers of Luzerne county met in the Grand opera house, Wilkesbarre, at 10 a. m. today, for their annual convention.

Hazleton football team was defeated by Wyoming seminary on Saturday by a score of 23 to 9.

A number of the members of the G. A. R., of Hazleton, attended the semi-annual inspection of Maj. C. B. Cox on Thursday evening.

Prof. L. H. Howe and Magician Goldin gave very creditable performances here on Thursday and Friday evenings. The attendance both nights was small.

Ladies, don't forget to see the dress goods at A. Oswald's.

The state supreme court has decided that the act creating the new superior court is constitutional, and that voters can vote for no more than six judges.

James B. Cunningham, of Summit Hill, a manufacturer of anthracite coal novelties, has a large amount of his work displayed at the Atlanta exposition.

John M. Carr, Esq., of town, and Miss Mary Turnbach, of Wilkesbarre, will be married on November 6 in the latter city. They will reside here after the wedding trip.

William Miller was seriously stabbed at Humboldt on Saturday night by William Paisley. The wound may prove fatal. The men quarreled at a Tyrolean wedding.

Hugh Jennings, the Baltimore club's shortstop, will be banqueted by his admirers in Lehigh on this evening. The banquet will be held at the Exchange hotel, Lehigh.

One night last week the turbine water wheel which furnishes power for the White Haven electric light plant became clogged with eels and the town was in darkness as a result.

The Catholic parish of St. Mary's, at Wilkesbarre, became so large that Bishop O'Hara divided it last week. About 350 of the 1,100 families in St. Mary's will be in the new parish.

A meeting of the borough school board was held on Thursday evening. It was decided to request the teachers to attend county institute and to allow them $2 per day for actual attendance.

A fall of coal in Sandy Run mines on Friday struck Neil Johnson on the hand, smashing it badly. Mr. Johnson was holding a jumper when the fall occurred. He will not lose the hand.

Benjamin F. Myers, the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, attended a meeting of the county committee on Thursday. He reports Democracy well organized throughout the entire state.

Edward O'Donnell, who conducted the Harleigh hotel for the past year, has removed to Summit Hill, where he will engage in a similar business. Michael Lynch assumes the management of the hotel.

The Democratic county candidates toured the sixth district last week. In every place they visited the party workers were enthusiastic and confident of polling a large vote for the whole ticket.

Thomas Evans, of South Heberton, and Miss Annie Nicholls, of Freeland, were married on Saturday afternoon by Rev. J. T. Griffiths, of the English Baptist church, assisted by Rev. A. J. Morton, of Pittston.

Robert Blanchard is the seventh victim of the Dorrance mine explosion, dying Saturday morning at Wilkesbarre hospital. He was one of the two left at the mouth of the gangway and was badly burnt, but was expected to recover.

John O. Boyle, of Pottsville, on Saturday was awarded damages in the sum of $4,000 from the borough of Mahanoy City for permanent injuries sustained some months ago by being thrown violently upon a sidewalk in that town.

Manager Slattery intends to give the town three nights of drama at the opera house this week. Popular prices and a change of bill every evening should fill the house. The company is strongly recommended by the press of the state.

Rev. J. W. Bischoff, of Upper Lehigh, attended the tenth annual meeting of the Sabbath School Association of the Lehigh presbytery at Allentown last week, and delivered an address upon "The Sabbath School Work and Wants."

DEATHS.

Stroh.—At Drifton, October 17, Edgar, son of John C. and Ida Stroh, aged 9 months. Interred on Saturday at Freeland cemetery.

Explosion at Shenandoah.

One of the most disastrous mine gas explosions in the history of the Schuylkill region occurred at the Knickerbocker colliery, Shenandoah, on Saturday, when nine men were burned, four fatally. Five of the men are expected to recover. All the injured men reside in Shenandoah. The names of the victims are: George Karal, Charles Majak and Michael Chico, fatally injured; Peter Burns, Anthony Surrus, Andrew Bossar, John Sopotki, Felix Meolski and Robert Lord, seriously wounded. The men, except Lord, are Poles and Lithuanians. They were all seated in a small heading eating lunch when the explosion occurred, and besides being terribly roasted they were thrown about by the concussion and cut and bruised terribly.

The explosion did little damage to the workings outside of the immediate vicinity where the accident occurred and did not interfere with the other workings of the colliery.

For a time the excitement about the mouth of the slope was intense. Hundreds of people flocked to the scene of the disaster, crying and weeping for their lost fathers and brothers, as the first report was that all the men working in the Buck Mountain vein were killed. The colliery is owned and operated by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company and employs 600 hands.

Little Boy Burned to Death.

Robert Williams, a six-year-old boy, of Wilkesbarre, was burned to death on Friday, and his sister Mary was severely burned in trying to save him. It was all due to a cigarette. The little boy was at the window of his home when Miss Edith Tanner, a young lady who lives next door, raised the window, and, according to Mary Williams' story, gave the child a cigarette, which he put in his mouth. Miss Tanner then struck a match and gave it to the boy. He dropped it and it fell down the sleeve of his dress, igniting the material, and in a moment he was enveloped in flames. His sister Mary, who is eleven years old, ran to him and tried to put out the flames with her hands, and then Mrs. Allen, a neighbor, who was attracted by the children's screams, threw a piece of carpet over them and extinguished the flames. The boy died in two hours.

Six Dwellings Destroyed by Fire.

Six double dwelling houses at Stockton were burned to the ground at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. It is not known how the fire originated. The buildings were valued at $10,000, and were owned by the Stockton Coal Company. They were occupied by the following and their families, many of whom lost everything in their homes: Mrs. Michael McGilroy, Patrick H. Conahan, Jacob Bachman, Adam Kluck, Thomas Miller, G. W. Miller, John Mulhearn, John Taylor, Samuel McAvoy, Josiah Woodring, Thomas Burgess and Patrick Somers. A collection will be taken up to assist the sufferers.

Anxious to Have Him Home.

Robert Clemens, a son of ex-Poor Director Thomas Clemens, of Lansford, and a young man of about the same age by the name of John McHugh, left their homes on September 28 and nothing is known by their parents of their present whereabouts. Young Clemens' parents are very anxious to have him returned home and any newspaper copying this article so that it may perhaps come to the notice of the boy will be doing an anxious mother a great favor.

Patents Granted.

Reported by C. A. Snow & Co., Washington, D. C.

W. L. Dunham, Williamsport, cash indicator and register.

P. Good, Wilkesbarre, bibbed valve.

C. Hansel, Easton, interlocking signal apparatus.

O. F. Leibert, Bethlehem, breech mechanism for ordnance.

T. T. Strait, Williamsport, carpet-beater.

The Official Ballot Ready.

There will be six columns on the state ballot to be sent out as samples by the state department except in three counties, Greene, Huntingdon and Millin, where there are independent candidates for president judge. While the other parties have nominated full state tickets, the People's party have a state treasurer and only three judges, and the Socialist-Labor party only a state treasurer.

Pleased the Large Audience.

From the Gazette Leader.

Despite the sweltering hot weather an immense crowd attended the opera house last night to see the production of "The Black Flag" by the Mazie Lewis Company. In the play proper Miss Lewis earned deserved praise by the capable manner in which she took the part of Naomi Bradford, the heiress. J. H. Wright, as Barry Glyndon, struck the right chord in Carlisle hearts. A. G. Kranz in his take-off of Lazarus, the Hebrew, with his "Turnover" song made the hit of the evening, and C. Curtis as Queen Glyndon, the rich farmer who had been assaulted and had partly lost his mind, made a ten-strike of the first water in the fourth act. Before the third act the four ladies of the company gave several dances and songs. Tonight "The Great Metropolis" will be presented with a number of new scenic effects and varieties, including the famous French matinee dance.

FIRST FOOT BALL GAME.

Two Teams of the Tigers Club Made a Good Showing Yesterday.

Football was given its first trial by the Tigers at their park yesterday afternoon, and the initial game has increased the interest of the boys in the sport. It was a beautiful day for a game, and two teams were chosen from among the young men who are preparing to defend Freeland's name in that line. The Regulars were captained by J. P. Carey, and the Reserves by Peter Gallagher. W. J. Schmidt, who has been chosen as coach by the Tigers Athletic Club for this season, was unavoidably absent for some time and John J. McGill, and Harry King instructed the team in the game. The players had considerable indoor practice at the club rooms during the past week, and anxiously awaited the order to play.

Two twenty-minute halves were played. The first resulted in a score of 12 to 0 in favor of the Regulars. In the second the Reserves made 6 points to 2 for their opponents, thus making the score 14 to 6 in favor of the Regulars.

There were some very exciting plays during the game, and several men on both sides showed up well. A number of slight accidents also occurred. From the two teams will be chosen a first-class football club, and every spare moment the players have will be devoted to practice. They were lined up yesterday as follows:

Regulars. Positions. Reserves.

Death of Charles McGeohan.

Between 6 and 7 o'clock last evening Charles McGeohan died at his home at Ridge and Front streets. He was one of the oldest residents in town, having attained the age of 93 years. Mr. McGeohan for the past year or two has been very feeble, and death was due to general debility. He was born in 1802 in the County Donegal, Ireland, and emigrated to the United States in 1868. With his family he settled at Summit Hill, where he lived several years, then removed to Upper Lehigh, and eleven years ago came to Freeland. He was a very pleasant old gentleman, and had many friends in the towns where he had resided.

Mr. McGeohan is survived by his wife, four sons and three daughters, as follows: John, of Nesquehoning; Edward, of Drifton; Patrick and Hugh, of Freeland; Mrs. Neal Pury and Mrs. Thomas Molly, of Coal Dale, and Bridget, of Freeland. He will be buried at St. Ann's cemetery tomorrow. The funeral will leave the residence at 8.30 a. m., and proceed to St. Ann's church where a requiem mass will be read.

Sudden Termination of a Case.

The secret inquiry which Colonel Colquitt, of the internal revenue department, was making into the charges of misconduct in office preferred against Revenue Collector Grant Herring by ex-Income Tax Collector Burke came to a sudden termination shortly after noon on Thursday at Scranton. Burke is seen to suddenly leave the room where the inquiry was on and in which at the time there was no one but Colonel Colquitt, the stenographer, Herring and Burke. Neither the inspector nor collector would say what was the cause of Burke's sudden departure, and the latter also, refused to tell except to state that the examination as conducted was a farce, and it was useless to bring on witnesses whose testimony would not be credited by the inspector.

Stars Ball Tonight.

The Stars Athletic Association will hold its first annual ball this evening. DePierro's complete orchestra has been secured for the occasion, and the opera house will be handsomely decorated. The young men who compose the organization are putting forth every possible effort to make the affair a pleasant and enjoyable one. The admission is 50 cents.

Sweepstake Shooting Match.

On Saturday, October 26, a sweepstake shooting match will take place at Dave Mace's hotel, Butler valley. Shooting at live birds in forenoon for a cow, in afternoon at blue rocks for the sweepstake. All hunters invited.

Mine Owners Not Responsible.

The text in the supreme court case, Durkin vs. the Kingston Coal Company, has been received by the courts of this county, and it is very important by reason of the fact that it is one of the first cases tried under the law of 1891, making mine owners responsible for accidents. In the trial before Judge Lynch the jury awarded the plaintiff about $700 for loss of service of his son, who was killed in the mines by the floor of a gangway giving way and precipitating him to the gangway below. The supreme court directs that this verdict be stricken off so far as the Kingston Coal Company is concerned, but allows it to stand as far as it relates to the foreman, William Jones.

The case was tried under the act of 1891, which makes mine owners responsible in damages for accidents that result from carelessness or inefficiency of employes. The supreme court questions the constitutionality of part of this act, principally for the reason that before a mine foreman or miner can enter a mine he must have a certificate of competency granted by the state. Thus the employe's ability is vouched for by the state and the mine owner is relieved of responsibility.

The opinion in this case goes at length into the discussion of this contention and gives a full history of the acts which require miners and mine foremen to have certificates of competency.

Another Swindler About.

A reader of the Record informs the publishers that she has been victimized by a sleek agent who palmed himself off as a representative of a bible publishing house. He represented to her that by taking an agency and directing circulars, etc., she would be paid $5 a week. She was poor and eagerly took the bait, the agent meanwhile getting $1.50 out of her as security. He represented that the German minister's wife in Pittston was making a nice sum in this way, but the facts prove the agent was an unconscionable liar, and that he had swindled her, too, out of $1.50 as also other unsuspecting women. It is to be hoped that the authorities may capture this confidence-man and put him behind the bars.

Serious Mine Fire Averted.

The Hoyt shaft, of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, at Port Griffith, was on fire and considerable damage was done before it was extinguished. The fire started at 8.30 o'clock Friday morning and was caused by a blast igniting a large feeder and the coal was set on fire. The scene of the fire was 1,900 feet from the mouth of the shaft, directly under the river. Two thousand, two hundred feet of hose was borrowed from the Pittston fire department, and a force of men were put at work fighting the fire. They made but little headway, owing to the difficulty in reaching the fire, but finally extinguished it on Saturday.

Foiled With the Mail.

Wladyslaw Marcinkowski was before United States Commissioner Hahn on Friday night on a charge of having a key made to fit a private box in the post office at Plymouth belonging to Rev. Thomas Kierwicz and taking his letters and other mail therefrom. District Attorney Wurzel, of Pittsburg, assisted by Attorney James L. Lenahan, conducted the case for the government, while Attorney Thornton represented the defendant. He furnished bail in the sum of $2,000 to appear before the United States court in Pittsburg at its next session.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, proved that it is a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

The Result Was Captivating.

From the South Bethlehem Globe.

"The Black Flag" was unfolded in a manner to display all its beauty, by the Mazie Lewis Lewis Company at the Central Music hall last evening. The production of "The Black Flag" proved to be a positive demonstration of the strength of both the piece and the company presenting it. The bright little star of the company proved herself to be an actress of much talent, and in the leading female role showed rare discretion and judgment in the handling of a role full of light and shade and requiring a master hand to bring out that shading in dramatic harmony. The support surrounding Miss Lewis shows that the management of the company has used good judgment. Each member played with great care the role entrusted to him or her, as the case was, and the result was captivating and highly appreciated ensemble. The applause was loud and hearty, and at the fall of each curtain it reached deafening proportions.

CAMPAIGN EXPERIENCES.

NEWSPAPER STORIES ABOUT THE NOMINEE FOR RECORDER.

Candidate Maloy Meets Some Queer People on His Rounds—His Inexhaustible Fund of Humor and Good Nature Is Enjoyed Everywhere.

From the Shickshimy Democrat.

Candidate for Recorder James J. Maloy is a true American and his loyalty to and affection for his widowed mother and young wife is most touching. His home is the sunshine of his life. Jim Maloy, through his sympathetic nature and kindly acts of charity, is conceded to be the most popular young man in the lower coal field. Personally the editor has known him only a few months, and although our knowledge of the subject is brief as to length of time, Mr. Maloy impresses us as a manly man with broad, liberal views; devout, but not sanctimonious; genial and witty, but not vulgar or boisterous; he has a thorough common school education, a retentive memory, is a good accountant and a most excellent penman. He is of pleasant address, but is no dupe and does not smoke cigars.

The other day Mr. Maloy called upon some of his lower end friends, among whom was a Republican, who is also an A. P. A. member. The conversation naturally drifted into political channels. Mr. Maloy modestly asked Mr. Mud if he could consistently support him.

"No, sir," replied Mud, "I'll never vote for a d—d foreigner."

"Indeed! How about my Nanticoke opponent on your ticket. He is a Welshman, and born in Wales, too," retorted Maloy.

"Don't give a rap, I won't—"

"Say," interrupted Maloy, "right over that little knoll yonder stands the house in which I was born, and not far from it is the little school house where I secured my education, and for years my father paid taxes and since his death the tax collector has never failed to call on me. More than that, I had to wait until I was twenty-one years of age before was allowed the right of suffrage, and if that does not constitute American citizenship, what does?"

"Oh, but—"

"Now see here, Mud, how long have you known me?"

"Twelve years."

"How about our business relations?"

"They've always been pleasant and you are truthful and honest and you have settled promptly every bill I presented; but I won't vote for you or any d—d foreigner."

And Maloy turned on his heel with a grim smile, saying: "You forget, Mud, that your father and grandfather were foreign importations from the old sod. Good day."

'Tis a pity that so many are ignorant and prejudiced, and 'tis a greater pity that there is no law to punish such consummate fools as that man Mud.

Talks Well of His Opponent.

From the Nanticoke News.

Mr. Maloy, of Freeland, the Democratic candidate for recorder, is certainly a very hospitable and good-natured gentleman, having the happy knack of seeing the pleasant side of everything and setting it forth in a droll and witty manner, all his own. Mr. Maloy got off a number of good things about the present campaign while entertaining a number of our boys the other day. Says he: "Glad I met you boys. Glad to meet any one from your locality, as I am decidedly interested over there at present, it being the home of my opponent. Often now, while seated in the train going down toward the mountains, I look over at your 'Booning City' 'Bait all o'er the Triple Hills' and breathe a little prayer, soft and low, that you will not wholly desert me in my present need. However, I have a host of friends over there, powerful and influential, who assure me that they won't let them steal the town on me. So I'll just let the other fellow do the worrying."

"No, I am not making the poverty plea (charity, though a powerful factor, seldom is seen at the polls), not that I am overburdened with the national coin, nor because I own a valuable corner property and palatial residence over in the aristocratic fifth ward in the borough of Nanticoke, though the other fellow does."

"Yes, I'm a graduate of the coal mines. Graduated a few years ago, got my diploma, too (as he pointed down at his crippled limb). They carried it home with me on the stretcher. But I saw many a poor fellow got worse than that, so I'm thankful."

"As to Mr. Richards, why I haven't a thing agin' Phil and sincerely wish him all the success in the world—after election. But just now I hope he will have an awful hard time making votes, because I want to defeat him for the office of recorder. And now, if you gentlemen have any doubts as to how the election is going, why just settle them by doing this, and he handed each a card which read: 'Vote for James J. Maloy, of Freeland, for Recorder of Deeds.'"
