FREELAND, DECEMBER 2, 1895.

Borough Control of Light and Water.

That every municipality should own, control and operate plants for lighting and supplying water in its territory is a proposition which, when advocated first in this country, was frowned upon and viewed by many as a species of socialism that ought not be countenanced or encouraged. There have been radical changes of opinion on many subjects in recent years, however, and the public seems disposed to look upon this with a kinder eye than before. In fact, dozens of cities and towns are enjoying the advantages that can be derived from this form of public co-operation. The belief, once so strenuously maintained, that franchises of such character were only for corporations or private individuals to possess is rapidly losing ground, and there is not a city or town of any size in the country wherein the proposition to obtain municipal control has not been advanced. The plan has some disadvantages, and a few towns have found the experiment a costly one, but in nearly every instance the cause of failure could be traced to mismanagement or petty jobbery.

In Freeland, it can be truthfully said, the necessity of having the light and water under borough control is not so pressing as in some places, nevertheless the principle involved would not allow an exception to be made here, were it feasible at present to advocate the change. The financial condition of the borough is such, however, that it is nothing but an utter waste of time to talk of having this town control either its light or water plant. Some bonds which recently matured were defaulted last month, there is a floating indebtedness of nearly $1,500, the treasury is about empty, and all the money that will come in for the next year will be required to pay off the cost of laying proposed new sewers, opening and improving streets, etc. At the present rate of expenditures the money received from taxes, about $2,700, does not begin to pay the bills as they come due, and, by adding the $5,500 received as its share of the liquor licenses, the borough has barely enough to meet current expenses.

Of course, to carry out a plan to buy or erect a light or water plant, or both, another issue of bonds might be sanctioned by the voters, but even that is out of the question for some time. The assessed valuation of the borough is $182,173, and the present bonded indebtedness is $3,965. The law formerly allowed boroughs to be bonded to 7 per cent of their assessed valuation, but this limit was lately reduced to 2 per cent, which in Freeland would amount to only $3,643. From this it can be seen that there has been issued already over $300 worth of bonds more than the law, as revised, will allow, and no more can be issued until the bonded indebtedness is reduced to below $3,643, or the valuation increased. The amount of money that the borough would be allowed to borrow, if there were no bonds whatever to redeem, is so small that it would be useless to try to apply it for the purpose mentioned.

The TRIBUNE has steadily advocated municipal control of light and water works, and we still consider it to be a better plan than to depend on corporations or private individuals; nevertheless we cannot see how the people of Freeland can secure a plant of either kind under present circumstances. The time may come, perhaps, when the finances of the borough will be in a condition to take up the question for discussion, and until then the project must take its place on the shelf with many other improvements which progressive citizens would like to see inaugurated.

The Result Not Dissimilar.

The result in 1895 is not dissimilar to that of 1890 and 1892 except in a fact that in one instance the Republican party was the sufferer and in the other the Democrats. The Republicans obtained power in 1888 on a pledge of tariff revision in the interest of the masses. That pledge was violated by the passage of the tariff of 1894, though a measurable improvement upon the tariff of 1890, is full of cowardly compromises. It is not the measure the people had a right to expect. In their indignation they have thrust the Democrats out of power in congress and put the Republicans back. It remains to be seen whether in the interim of popular repudiation the Republicans have learned anything.—Phila. Record.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

It is reported that there are not nearly as many of the superintendents and foremen included in the bequests of the late Mr. Cox as was at first supposed, and that the amount bequeathed to employes in the codicil is not $26,000, as previously stated, but $21,000. The Lehigh university, it is also said, will receive $11,000. The money will be paid to the favored ones upon the death of Mrs. Cox, and in the meantime the legatees will receive interest upon their amounts at 4 per cent yearly.

The breaker worked steadily every day last week. On Friday there was an extra long shift. Commencing at 6:25 a. m. it ran until 11:30 o'clock, when an intermission of half an hour was taken for dinner. At 12 noon it started again, and continued without interruption until 11:30 that night.

Lewis Ortnor, Samuel Cunningham and Stewart Macfarlane spent Thanksgiving Day at their homes here. The first two named are students at Lehigh university and the last at a college in Andover, Mass.

William Brogan, of Freeland, employed in the boiler shop here, had two fingers on his right hand injured by a heavy plank falling on them last week.

Quite a number of our residents attended the funeral of the late Patrick Early, of Beaver Meadow, on Friday.

The employes of the Cross Creek Coal Company were paid on Friday.

JOURNALISTIC.

After last Saturday's issue the White Haven Journal changed ownership. W. A. Feist, who for sixteen years has been at its helm, has disposed of it to Messrs. Witmer & Ray, of that town, and will for the future devote all his time to his theatrical and show printing plant. Mr. Feist's friends in the publishing business are legion, and he made them by pursuing an honest, upright course in journalism. If the new publishers of the Journal will follow in the ex-editor's footsteps there will be no question of their success.

The Philadelphia Inquirer is authority for the report that Congressman Leisenring is going into the newspaper business. The Wilkes-Barre Record is said to be the paper that he will acquire.

The Weatherly Herald has donned a new dress of type and made other improvements in its appearance which places it in the front row of Carbon county newspapers.

Machines now do the type-setting for the Wilkes-Barre Newsleader, and the change from the old method makes a vast improvement in the typographical appearance of that sprightly paper.

He Had Raised Many Families.

The elevator boy in the big flat was airing his views to a passenger on the proper conduct of children.

"What do you know about it?" laughed the passenger. "You're not married, are you?"

"Well, no," replied the boy, "but I've brought up a great many families in my time," and then he gazed up at the elevator with a rapturous expression.—Denver Catholic.

Where He Forbore.
"Sometimes, John," said Brashkins' wife, "I do get a little discouraged, and think you are rather hard to please."
"You don't say so!" was the astonished rejoinder.

"Yes. But I must admit there is one thing you never found fault with."
"What is that?"
"The way I look when I wear my last year's clothes."—Washington Star.

Cruel Punishment.

Prisoner—The charge is true, y'r honor; but she had been eating onions.
Magistrate—Then I sentence you to kiss her again.—N. Y. Weekly.

High Proof.
"Do you love me?" he whispered.
"Can you doubt it?" she reproachfully demanded.
He followed her meaning glance until it rested upon her sleeves all crushed and shapeless, and was convinced.—Detroit Tribune.
