HAZED AT A SEMINARY.

INDIGNANT TREATMENT ACCORDED A STUDENT AT KINGSTON.

College Boys Accuse One of Their Number of a Misdemeanor and Violently Apply a Coat of Tar and Feathers to His Body—The Young Man from Town.

The following is an account of an outrage perpetrated upon a young Freeland boy by the students of Kingston seminary, as given by the Wilkesbarre Record of Tuesday: A commercial student at Wyoming seminary was unceremoniously pulled out of a warm bed yesterday morning, led to the campus and there treated to a coat of tar and feathers. This midnight escapade was participated in by about thirty of the students. Everything went off with the utmost secrecy, and nothing was known of what had taken place during the silent hours of the night until the breakfast bell rang, when the whole affair was exploded, and groups of the young men could be seen gathered here and there excitedly discussing the situation. The victim of the students' ire is a young man from Freeland, about 17 years old.

For the past three months petty robberies have been committed about the institution, which kept the students continually stirred, but all their efforts to fasten the thefts were futile. Complaints were made to Dr. Sprague and he put forth every effort to find out the guilty party or parties, but he too met no success. The robberies continued and the thief escaping detection seemed to be incited to bolder deeds. About four weeks ago the students were again startled to hear that R. N. Rymer, the football team captain, had been robbed of $18 while he was attending practice. A few mornings after Dr. Sprague again lectured the students and told them to exert themselves every way possible to find the thief and if they succeeded he (Dr. Sprague) would see that he would be summarily dealt with.

The students responded with a will and since have kept a keen lookout for a week, but as no robbery was committed, they again relaxed their vigilance and the theft was almost forgotten, when a few days ago another student complained of missing money and he suspected his chum of being the culprit. He made a rigid examination of his room and after a long search succeeded in finding his money ($10) in the toe of his chum's shoe. He at once confronted his chum, who confessed before the students present.

It was quietly whispered along the halls that the long looked for thief was caught, and a meeting was called to decide upon the punishment to be inflicted. About thirty of the students accordingly got together and decided upon 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning as the time for action. The students appointed to administer the punishment gathered in one of the rooms and proceeded quietly to the object of their night's work. A flying wedge was formed and the door went down as if made of so much paper. The victim was gagged and carried to the back campus where, terror-stricken and surrounded by masked students, he was tarred and feathered and made to resemble an Oklahoma Indian. The poor fellow was then allowed to return to his room, as did his persecutors.

When the proceedings of the night came to the ears of the faculty that body immediately gave a severe reprimand to the parties concerned in the affair and immediately expelled the victim.

The young man arrived at his home here on Monday. The charges made against him in the article printed above are not considered wholly true by his friends. Inasmuch as his parents have at all times granted him everything he desired and gave him every opportunity to procure a good education, it is not likely he would be guilty to the extent stated. His past reputation has been excellent, and his friends deeply regret that he committed any indiscretion to blight his promising career.

Cleveland's Stand Endorsed.

President Cleveland's special message to congress on Tuesday, in which the Monroe doctrine is reaffirmed very emphatically in regard to the boundary dispute between British Guiana and Venezuela, aroused much interest in town, and the president's firm stand in the matter is endorsed by every citizen, regardless of political affiliations. If it should come to the worst, Freeland will respond nobly to any call that may be made for defenders of American rights, especially when the aggressor is Great Britain, as in this case.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became a Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

If you own a horse buy a good warm blanket for it. Geo. Wise has hundreds for sale at his Freeland and Jeddo stores. Prices will be found right.

Rockafellow Has Spoken.

F. V. Rockafellow, the ex-banker of Wilkesbarre, who is in the eastern penitentiary serving a sentence for embezzlement, made an important statement on Saturday to Attorney John Shea and Sheriff Walter, who were in the penitentiary with George Metzger and three other prisoners. Both men refuse to make the statement public or give out any facts, but enough has been learned to know that the statement is very important. A reporter saw Attorney Shea in reference to the statement, but Mr. Shea said that he received the information in a professional way, as from a client, and added that it would not be proper to reveal it. Sheriff Walter was seen next. He said that he had the statement locked up in his desk and would give it to the public at the proper time. He positively refused to let the reporter see it, but said it contained a very sensational story.

Legion of Honor Officers.

On Monday evening the following were elected as officers of Union Council, No. 300, American Legion of Honor: Commander—William E. Belles. Vice Commander—Dr. G. D. Morton. Orator—Owen Fowler. Secretary—Dr. E. Schlicher. Collector—W. Scott Young. Treasurer—Reese Lloyd. Chaplain—Rev. J. W. Bishoff. Guide—James Norris. Warden—H. L. Blaklee. Sentry—William Schmidt. Medical examiners—Dr. Geo. D. Morton and Dr. C. H. Richards. Trustee—Dr. F. Schlicher.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Schlicher, the retiring medical examiner, who held the position for ten years, also to ex-Commander J. B. Laubach. The new officers will be installed on the evening of January 6.

Thought the Child Was Dead.

From the Wilkesbarre Record. Fringle Hill, situated above Kingston, is now undergoing a severe epidemic of diphtheria and scarlet fever. Six families are down with the malady and a number of little ones are convalescing. A startling circumstance occurred in the family of Patrick Kelly a few days ago. The two-year-old son was so ill that all hope of recovery was abandoned and the child apparently stopped breathing and was pronounced dead. The nurse washed and dressed the little body, and laid it out on a table to prepare it for burial. A short time after when she went to look at the "corpse" she was startled to see it move. It was immediately attended to and rapidly regained consciousness, and is now in a fair way to recover. It is supposed that the warm bath revived it.

E. B. Leisner's Estate.

The account of John S. Wentz, Mahlon S. Kemmerer and Edgar T. Wining, all of Mauch Chunk, and the Fidelity Insurance, Trust & Safe Deposit Co., of Philadelphia, executors of the $2,000,000 estate of Edward B. Leisner (brother of Congressman Leisner), who died at Hamburg, Germany, on September 20, 1894, was adjudicated on Monday in the orphan's court of Philadelphia. The legacies left by the deceased were published in the Tribune several months ago.

Nothing in the Strike Talk.

Prominent Lehigh Valley Railroad officials strongly deny the information sent out from Hazleton to the press regarding the mutterings of an inevitable strike on the road. Members of the various brotherhoods say there is peace all along the lines of the Mauch Chunk, Wyoming and Delano divisions, and that the secret railroad meeting held in Hazleton was not for discussion of anything pertaining to an intended strike.

Victim of a Peculiar Accident.

John Lynch, a driver boy, had his head crushed on Tuesday between the bumpers of two cars in the Empire mines at Wilkesbarre and died soon after, William Brennan, while watching the body being brought out, fainted at the sight of the blood, and in falling his head struck a stone, fracturing the skull. He is not expected to live.

Burgess Sued for $5,000 Damages.

Burgess T. B. Smith, of Wyoming, this county, has been sued for $5,000 damages by W. H. Jeffries for alleged false imprisonment. Jeffries is one of five men whom the burgess had arrested without a warrant while they were at work on a sewer. Each was required to pay $2.25, and in default all were committed until the fine was paid.

Severely Beaten in a Saloon.

Thomas Toy, living on Miller Hill, Durysa, was severely beaten in the saloon of Joe Mileski, by a gang of foreigners. Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of the proprietor of the place and others, but all escaped except Mileski, who was held in $500 bail as a witness should the real assailants be caught. It is feared Toy cannot recover.

DEATHS.

Currow.—At Highland, December 16, Annie, wife of Harry T. Currow, aged 29 years, 4 months and 16 days. Interred yesterday at Freeland cemetery.

WON THE GUN.

Hugh Malloy Was the Successful Contestant for the Game Club's Prize.

The judges chosen by the Freeland Game and Fish Protective Club met at the residence of H. C. Koons on Monday and elected Eckley B. Cox, Jr., of Drifton, as chairman, after which they proceeded to count the points made by the contestants. The seals of the various game-destroying animals which were killed were produced, and the result of the count was as follows: Hugh Malloy, Freeland, 26 weasels, 300 points; 3 red foxes, 42 points; total, 432. Dr. G. S. Wentz, Jr., Drifton, 2 weasels, 30. Arthur Davis, Freeland, 1 weasel, 15. Samuel Jeffrey, Upper Lehigh, 1 weasel, 15. Nathan Drasher, Butler, 1 weasel, 15. Henry Kutzberger, Eckley, 1 weasel, 15. Calvin Waldron, South Heberton, 1 weasel, 15.

The judges decided unanimously that Mr. Malloy had won the prize, which consists of an $85 Parker hammerless double-barrel breech-loading gun, and they left Mr. Koons' residence in a body and repaired to the store of the winner, where the presentation speech was made by Chairman Cox. Mr. Malloy was highly complimented for his excellent showing. After thanking the committee for the work they had done, the successful contestant surprised everybody by exhibiting 16 more weasels and the scalps of 3 more red foxes, which he had not turned in, making a total of 44 weasels and 6 red foxes killed by him between December 15, 1894, and December 16, 1895.

The members of the committee, the club and others who were present were then invited by Mr. Malloy to the Delmonica restaurant, where they drank Mr. Malloy's health and the success of the club, and had a merry time with Landlord Drasher until a late hour.

The winner of the gun is very modest in telling how he managed to capture so many of the game-destroying animals. The weasels were all trapped within five or six miles of town, principally in the vicinity of the Honeyhole. He had about thirty fine steel traps set in the woods all year, and was kept busy traveling from the mountain back of Eckley to Butler valley, then to Kelper's and from there to the streams along the Nescopeck creek. His work serves to show how easily the hunters could rid the woods about here of everything deadly to game, if all would give some of their time to killing off the weasels, which are the greatest enemies the rabbits have. Mr. Malloy is proud of his handsome prize, and has good reasons, for he earned it honestly.

Married Yesterday Morning.

At St. Ann's Catholic church yesterday Rev. M. J. Fallis united Edward O'Donnell, of Drifton, and Miss Rosine O'Donnell, of Freeland, in marriage. The best man was Patrick O'Donnell, a brother of the groom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Cella Brennan. A reception and dinner took place at the bride's home after the ceremony, and in the afternoon the young couple left on a wedding tour to New York. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents on Washington street.

Actor Russell Caught.

Sid K. Russell, the actor, who some weeks ago eloped from Pottsville with seventeen-year-old Gertrude Houser, of Tamaqua, has been committed to jail at Pottsville in default of $3,000 bail. He was arrested at Lewistown Junction and was given a hearing before Justice Lutz at Tamaqua. Three charges were preferred, chief of which is bigamy. It is alleged that Russell was married before this last escapade.

Offered a Position.

Borough Surveyor P. M. Boyle, of Hazleton, has been offered the position of superintendent of the workings lately operated by the Hanover Coal Company at Sugar Notch. A new company has been formed to operate the collieries, and Mr. Boyle's friends here will be pleased to learn of his promotion. He is at present foreman of the Hazle Mines colliery, Hazleton.

Policies Not Taxable.

In a lengthy and exhaustive opinion handed to the auditor general on Tuesday, Attorney General McCormick decides that life insurance policies are not taxable under the revenue act of 1891 as "moneyed capital." The proposition to tax the policies created quite a stir among the holders in this state.

Christmas Day Shooting.

Eckert Sentenced to Hang.

Abraham J. Eckert, who was convicted of the murder of Fred J. Bittenbender, of Nanticoke, was called up for sentence on Monday morning before Judge Woodward. After ascertaining that one of the prisoner's counsel, J. F. O'Neill, was present, the judge asked if Eckert had anything to say as to why the sentence of the law should not be pronounced. The prisoner stood facing the judge and made no effort to speak. After a few moments' silence the attorney stated they had nothing to say. Judge Woodward then reviewed the case and trial briefly, and pronounced the sentence of death, as follows:

"The sentence of the law is that you, Abraham J. Eckert, be taken hence to the Luzerne county prison, from which you have been brought, and be kept there until the time appointed by the executive of the state of Pennsylvania for your execution, and when that time so to be fixed shall arrive, that you be taken thence to the place prepared for your execution within the walls or yard of said prison and jail and be then and there hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

Eckert, after being sentenced, heaved a long-drawn sigh and went over to the prisoners' corner. He had not moved a muscle during the ordeal and seemed relieved that the agony was over. Mrs. Eckert, his wife, was in the corner sobbing, and when her husband was getting ready to return to jail she hung on his neck, crying and wishing she could take his place.

Pittston Has a Murder.

A murder occurred at Pittston on Tuesday in an Italian boarding house. The victim was Feliciano DeLong, and Giovanni Destacio is in jail charged with murder. According to the story of Silequo, the boarding boss, DeLong promised to pay for ten cents' worth of beer, but when the beverage was brought in he refused to do so. His refusal angered Destacio and a quarrel ensued. Destacio drew a stiletto and sprang at DeLong. The latter tried to escape, but was prevented by an enclosure that blocked every avenue. Realizing his danger he attempted to wound his assailant with some cobblestones. Then the stiletto was plunged through DeLong's neck and severed the jugular vein. DeLong sank to the ground and died in a few minutes. Destacio was captured and committed to the county prison.

A Mysterious Shooting.

A shooting affray took place at Trescow on Sunday night. Pasquale Valente did the shooting and his victim is Peter Marsa. The latter was taken to the Hazleton hospital, where it was found that his wounds were fatal and Coroner Gorman was notified to take his ante-mortem statement. Marsa says that Valente deliberately shot him without warning or cause. There was no quarrel and the men were sober.

Valente was captured on Monday morning by Officer Simpson and taken to Mauch Chunk jail. He says that the shooting was accidental. The revolver was in his hand when it exploded, but he did not know what caused it to go off. The bullet passed through his own hand first, then lodged in Marsa's stomach.
