A HOSPITAL FOR DOGS.

Patients Are Treated with as Much Care as Human Beings.

How Diagnoses Are Made and Operations Performed—The Devotion of Misses to Their Pets—View of an Invalid's Case.

A pathetic and at the same time interesting sight may be seen any day in one of the New York Veterinary hospitals. In the room devoted to cats and dogs are rows of cages containing suffering pets which, sick though they may be, all eagerly jump up upon the entrance of a stranger and anxiously strain their eyes in the hope of seeing a familiar face. The hospital is patronized by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and is the one which enjoys the distinction of receiving as patients the sick pets of the rich people in the city.

The cages, says the New York Tribune, are always full of animals suffering from overfeeding and unsuitable diet, in which a week or two of wholesome food works a wonderful change. Such delicacies as ice cream, weak tea and pound cake are strictly tabooed, to the disgust of many a pampered pug, which at first turns up its nose at dog biscuit and other hard but wholesome diet. A moderate sum per week is charged for keeping and curing the sick dogs and cats, varying according to the ailment and size of the animal. The patients are allowed to receive visitors, and many owners come and sit for an hour or more before their caged pets. They are not allowed to bring any food or dainties into the hospital unless accorded special permission by the house surgeon. Though most of the patients are of high pedigree and generally suffering from excess of kindness and luxuries, any poor boy may bring his mongrel or girl her dilapidated kitten, with the certainty of its being treated free, with as much care as those which are being paid for. They cannot be kept at the hospital, but advice is given and medicine furnished free to any body who cannot afford to pay for the cure of his or her pet.

The cages for both cats and dogs are of iron, painted white and filled with sweet hay every day. Everything is spotlessly clean, and there is a bath in which the animals are frequently washed. The intelligent creatures seem to know that everything possible is being done for their good, and submit quietly to the hands of the doctor and his assistant in being bathed, brushed, or even operated upon.

Some interesting operations have been performed in the hospital. Extraction of teeth is common. One Skye terrier which had lost an eye had a glass one inserted. Cancerous growths have been removed from dogs, though this operation is rarely successful. In several cases a leg has been amputated, and in one case an artificial rubber leg was fitted on. Artificial limbs can be put on very quiet dogs only, however, because they are nearly always torn off by the animal. A big Newfoundland puppy in the hospital is suffering from a rather peculiar disease called rickets, or softening of the bones, known as "ricketts" in human beings. The legs of the dog will not bear the weight of his body, and are curved in the form of a bow. This disease is caused, as are most canine affections, from unsuitable food. He has been fed on food deficient in lime salts, which are needed to give strength and hardness to the bones. Rickets is a common ailment among dogs, especially as they become old.

The cases of the patients are diagnosed in much the same way as in human practice, except that the sick dog cannot answer any questions. The doctor places his ear against the animal's chest and listens for indications of bronchitis, wheeziness or dropsy. The most extraordinary devotion is manifested by the owners of many of the pets. Some women visit their dogs two or three times a day, remaining for two hours at a time. When an operation has to be performed the women often insist upon remaining. The surgeon says nothing, though he does not like owners to be present during operations, which they distract his attention. He produces two or three glittering instruments, and carefully feels the edge of some formidable-looking scalpel. As soon as the instrument appears most of the women scurry out with a shriek, first beseeching the doctor "not to hurt poor dear Fido." They then wait outside in an agony of apprehension until the operation is over.

Schuykill Judgeship Contest.

The contest which T. H. B. Lyons, of Mahanoy City, is making for the seat of P. M. Dunn, of Minersville, Democrat, who was elected judge of the orphans' court of Schuykill county at the last election, commenced at Pottsville on Friday in the presence of a large number of the members of the Schuykill county bar and politicians of all parties. Mr. Dunn was elected over his Republican colleague by fifty-six votes, according to the official count, and Mr. Lyons and his friends claim that Mr. Dunn's election was accomplished by a number of fraudulent votes which were cast for him. The contest is going on before the judicial board, E. R. Ecker, of Columbia county; Allen Craig, of Carbon, and A. W. Ehrgood, of Lebanon, who were appointed by Governor Hastings to conduct the case. A motion to quash the proceedings was argued by Mr. Dunn's counsel, W. J. Whitehouse, A. W. Schlaack and W. A. Marr, while John W. Ryan, W. P. Ramsay and Charles E. Berger, counsel for Mr. Lyons, opposed it. The case was adjourned for further argument on January 23.

Prominent Wilkesbarre Dead.

Ex-Tax Receiver John W. Gilchrist died on Friday morning of congestion of the stomach at his home in Wilkesbarre. The deceased was 55 years of age. On August 10, 1861, he responded to his country's call for troops and enlisted in Company A, Fifty-second Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. In 1863 he re-enlisted in the same company, attaining the rank of captain for meritorious conduct and served until July, 1865, when he was honorably discharged. He is survived by his wife and four children. Mr. Gilchrist enjoyed the respect and confidence of his fellow citizens and was frequently elevated to public positions of trust and honor. He was chief of police in 1878, warden of the county prison from 1879 to 1882 and was appointed tax receiver of the city in 1883 and was continued in office until 1895. He was quite prominent around the county seat and had a large circle of acquaintances.

After the Stockholders.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has forwarded a number of large stockholders a circular asking them for their proxies. The company claims to have received more than a majority of the proxies, but the officers are desirous of securing a response from every stockholder. The opposition committee under the lead of Dick Bros. & Co., of Philadelphia, is receiving a large number of responses to its circular and the number of proxies sent it runs up into the thousands. This committee claims to have a large amount of stock in its own name, and it is thought that a sharp fight will be made at the annual meeting on the 21st inst.

Followed the Footprints.

Footprints in the snow aided in the capture of two thieves who stole an overcoat from H. Miller at the Maltby colliery, near Wilkesbarre. Miller left the garment in a shanty when he went to work. Returning late his overcoat was gone, and tracks in the snow he thought indicated the direction the thieves had taken. Miller followed the track for two miles and finally came up with two men, one of whom had the missing coat. The men were arrested, pleaded guilty and were sent to jail.

Jury Censured the Company.

The coroner's jury which has been investigating the cause of the boiler explosions at Law shaft, Avoca, on December 31, and by which three men lost their lives, returned a verdict censuring the Pennsylvania Coal Company. The relatives of the dead men have retained Paul Sherwood and John McGeehan, of Wilkesbarre, as counsel, and it is understood actions aggregating $25,000 will be instituted at once against the company.

Drawn on the Jury.

The following citizens from this section have been drawn to serve as common pleas jurors:

February 19—Hugh A. Shovlin, Freeland; F. C. Stout, A. B. Cox, William Hall, M. McHale, Hazle; Edward Murfin, Joseph Logan, Ley Harris, Foster; Henry A. Williams, J. S. Oberrender, Butler.

Proposals in Postoffice.

The treasury department has begun the task of sending to each postmaster in the United States a copy of Secretary Carlisle's circular of January 6, asking for proposals for the purchase of the new bonds. By direction of the postmaster general these notices are to be posted in a conspicuous place in each office.

Will Open a Store.

John Rogan will open a store today in the Campbell building, Centre street above Luzerne, where a choice selection of fish, oysters, seasonable fruit, vegetables, etc., will be kept in stock. He will also have on hand cigars, tobacco of all kinds, candies and confectionery. Mr. Rogan respectfully asks a share of the patronage of the public.

PLEASURE CALENDAR.

January 20.—Ball of the Citizens' Hose Company at Freeland opera house. Admission, 50 cents.

POLITICAL PICKUPS.

The committee appointed at the Democratic borough convention last spring to provide rules and laws to govern future meetings of that kind met last week and performed their work. They have decided to have district nominations made by the delegates of each district, ward and the borough ticket by all the delegates. Primary elections, the committee decided, will be held between 4 and 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, when three delegates will be chosen in each district. The date of the convention has not been set by the committee, and no one has been authorized to announce a call for the same.

The Democratic township committee of Poster met on Saturday at J. J. Maloy's and received reports from all sections of the field. The committee concluded that the party has an excellent chance to win this spring and the members decided to get to work immediately and wage an aggressive campaign. Delegate elections will be held in each of the ten voting districts on Saturday evening next, and the convention will be held on Tuesday evening following at Woodside schoolhouse.

The conferees who will select the Democratic candidate for poor director will meet at Maennerchor hall, Hazleton, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Five conferees will be present from the Lansford-Manch Chunk portion of the district, the same number from the Weatherly portion and seven from the Hazleton-Freeland section. The seven to represent the Luzerne end will be chosen at Hazleton this morning by the delegates elected on Saturday evening.

There is no telling this morning who will be the candidate named for poor director by the Democrats today. There are several candidates in the field, yet the sentiment of the party is not wholly in favor of any yet announced. It is possible that someone not a candidate will be placed on the ticket, probably some prominent Hazletonian.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

Delegates were elected to the poor convention on Saturday evening. John Boner was chosen to represent the poll at No. 1 and Harvey Hoffman the poll at No. 2.

The miners are engaging teams to carry home their pay, which will be distributed tomorrow.

The shops are working full time now. Some days they run thirteen hours.

Skating on the big pond is still the popular pastime of the rising generation.

John McNamee's countenance is wreathed in smiles over the arrival of a bright baby boy.

It is reported that a case of diphtheria exists in a Hungarian family at "Shanty Hill."

Mrs. Patrick Sweeney, of Wilkesbarre, is the guest of Mrs. B. O'Donnell for a few days.

Two of our belles are nursing their ears these days. They had the misfortune to have them frozen last week.

P. M. Sweeney, tax collector of Hazle township, made a friendly call upon some of those who neglected to pay their taxes in 1895.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
