Werk of the Barbarous Kurds.

Philadelphia, Feb. II.—The denial of the stories by the porte that Armenians are boing given the choice of accepting Islamism or death would seem to be again refuted by undeniable educe. H. M. Siraganian, who resently learned of the murder of his father, the Rev. M. Siraganian, a Bapliat missionary, and thirteen relatives, by Kurds and Turks, yesterday received a letter from his son at Arabkia. This letter is dated Jan. 13, and is as follows: "We have wept already on the misery of our country. You also read, and think, and weep. The barbarous Kurds auddenly attacked us. Those of us who could walk escaped to the mountains, with the hope of saving our lives, as we had no means to protect ourselves in other ways. For four days we wandered in the rocky hills that surround our villages, hungry, thirsty, naked and unprotected. After four days we went back to our homes filled with awe and anxiety, but, alas, there was not even left a dry lond of bread or a handful of flour or a piece of carpet. They had carried away everything; however, our misery did not end with this. Our enemies did not give us time enough to mourn our synoged honor. They came back after two days with double forces and burned down all the houses left unburned.

Forced To Accept Islamism

ourned.

"I am unable to describe all the particulars of it because after seeing that bloody scene I have lost reason and everything. Dear father, your Christian son is now a Mohammedan (nay, by name only), as they forced us to accept their religion as a means of salvation. My name is Mohammed Zeki. If you ever write to me please address me in that name, or I will never get your letter. We have no bread to eat, no home to live in, but that gives us no more pain than to see our church robbed of all its glory and made a mosque of. Instead of the ringing of the bells we hereafter will hear the voice of Imam (Turkish minister), and instead of paalms and hallelujahs the praises of Mohammed. Blessed are those who are dead. They were more fortunate than we are. We also will die, while there seems to be no mercy in the seed of the content of the world. fortunate than we are. We also will die, while there seems to be no mercy in this world. We will die, but alas, they will even decline a little space near our forefathers in the church yard. Mohammedan priests will say prayers upon our graves. Think, dear father, about our condition. Accept her, about our condition. Accept ir son's salutation. Perhaps it is the

TO EXTEND RECIPROCITY.

An Effort To Get Rid of Our Surplus Agricultural Products.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The house committee on accounts has decided to recommend the passage of the resolution presented by Mr. Tawney, rep., Minn., authorizing the committee on ways and means to investigate the reciprocity question. The inquiry will be conducted by a sub-committee headed by Mr. Tawney which may employ an expert. The scope of the inquiry is outlined in the resolution, which recites that it is desirable to extend the export of surplus agricultural and manufactured products of the United States to foreign countries, and that in certain countries the importation of these products is restricted by discriminating duties; therefore, the committee on ways and means is directed to report in what countries such restrictions are in force, the causes alleged therefor, their effect upon our foreign commerce as relating to the trade resulting from the commercial agreements with foreign countries entered into after October 30, 1890 (under the Blaine reciprocity treaties).

PAYING FOR BONDS

Nearly $9,000,000 Deposited at New York Sub-Treasury.

GOLD RECEIVED FOR EXAMINATION

anation of the Story Regarding ejection of Certain Deposits—Ti Treasury Not an Annex for a Bullion Broker's Office.

Treasury Not an Annex for a Bullion Broker's Office.

New York, Feb. 11.—The deposits of gold in the sub-treasury up to this morning in payment for bonds amount to $8,740,524.15. In addition considerable gold has been deposited for examination. The report that the sub-treasury had rejected gold arose in this way: For some time past a bullion broker on Wall street has been turning in legal tenders for gold and selling the gold at a premium. Yesterday afternoon he presented $800,000 in legal tenders and withdrew the same amount of gold. Five hundred thousand dollars were immediately turned into the bond department. On the second transaction of $300,000 he secured the gold in bags and gave it to the clerks of the firms who had subscribed for the 4's, and who had accompanied him to the subtreasury. It was then that Assistant Treasurer Jordan objected to having the sub-treasury used as an annex to a bullion broker's office. The dealer in question made charges of favoritism against Mr. Jordan, but the pith of his argument lies in the fact that he did not care to cart the gold from the subtreasury and then bring it back. Probably such a course would reduce the insignificant profit he secures by selling government gold drawn out through the agency of legal tenders.

Secretary Morton Replies to Senator Vest's Charges of Favoritism.

Charges of Favoritism.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Referring to the charge of Senator Vest that the secretary of agriculture had distributed 150,000 more packages of seed in Nebraska than that state was entitled to last year, Secretary Morton says: "Under the law one-third of the seed purchased was distributed by the secretary of agriculture. In secretary says. Under the any object to the second purchased was distributed by the secretary of agriculture. In accordance with that provision, some years ago when there was great suffering along the sea islands of the Carolina coast, the secretary of agriculture, through Clara Barton and the Red Cross, gave a great portion of the one-third of the seed which he was authorized to distribute to the people whose fields and gardens had been ruined by the tidal wave. As to that very large distribution of seed to those southern sufferers no complaint was made. The people in the substance from the city. The people in the suburbs of Madrid were also paniestricken by the explosion. The operatives in the factories, the children in the schools and the employes and others in the markets rushed into the streets in a wild stampede, believing that the world was about to be destroyed. Many of them threw themselves prone upon the ground and commended their souls to God, while others in a frenzy of terror rushed hither and thither crying upon the saints to save them. Many persons were injured in the aimless rushes by running into each other or by being thrown down and trampled upon. The shock of the explosion was so great in the city that it caused the collapse of one house, and threw down a partition wall in the building occupied by the American legation. The shock was strongly felt in Guadalajara, the province bounding the province of Madrid on the northeast, and in other places. Among the superstitious the visit of the aerolite is believed to have been a dire portent.

Thickness of Skull To Penetrate.

Orange, N. J., Feb. 11.—Thomas Edison is attempting to secure the best vacuum in the tubes which are to be used in his new method of photography. There is some doubt in his mind as to the degree of vacuum in the tubes that will produce the best results. He will not try to photograph the brain of a man until he is sure that he has decided upon the proper vacuum. He has decided upon the proper vacuum. He has decided upon the proper vacuum. He has decided upon the proper vacuum will have a special plateholder, two inches by two inches in size, which will be placed in the mouth of the subject, while the battery of tubes will be placed on top of the subject's head. In this way there will be only one thickness of skull for the X rays to go through. Mr. Edison is confident of success. He has just secured some shadow photographs showing the rays passing through steel bars a half inch in thickness. He found that on substituting steel plates for the aluminum ones in the tubes no rays were developed, they being absorbed by the steel. Mr. Edison says that after making thorough experiments in photographing the human brain he will take up the question of the effect of the rays upon bacteria. He claims that the rays will retard the germination of bacilli, and believes that they will destroy them. He intends making an exhaustive series of experiments on this point.
