McCarthy, Hugh Malloy, and Health Officer James J. Ward were present. The meeting was called to order by the president, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

it was doubtful if any acute cases existed in the Borough at this time. He also reported that one of the above-men tioned cases and one of those previously reported had died and had been burled according to law under the health officer's supervision.

President Schilcher stated that the attending physician had reported to him that while diphtheria existed in the family of James K. Boyle the unaffected children had been allowed to attend the borough school by the parents, and were received by the teacher without any certificate from him. This statement being corroborated by the health officer, the board instructed the secretary to notify the local school board of the violation of the law at once.

D. J. McCarthy reported that, according to the motion made at the last meeting, he had investigated the state law regarding vaccination of school children and had found it was compulsory, with penalties for its violation attached; whereupon the board instructed the secretary to call the attention of the school board to this law and notify them to see that it is enforced before June 1, 1896.

Court House Site Again.

The interesting controversy on the many-sided question of the location of the proposed new court house was again brought before the court at Wilkesbarre on Tuesday by a bill in equity of J. Harold Mahon, against the county commissioners. As Judges Lynch, Woodward and Bennett, of this county, have well known views on the subject, D. W. Searle, of Susquehanna county, heard argument on the case, which is to decide whether the commissioners have a right to build a new court house on the Public Square.

The bill prays that an injunction be issued to restrain and enjoin the commissioners from using or occupying any part of the Public Square for the purpose of a court house building and particularly any part not so occupied at the present time.

The answer sets out that the new court house would occupy twice as much space as the present one and is necessary for the proper accommodation of the several public offices of the county and for the public generally, and declares the commissioners have a right to occupy the ground for a new court house. The decision of Judge Searle was reserved.

This Marriage Was a Failure.

Bridget Reilley and Peter Tierney, of Wilkesbarre, were married on January 15 after a short courtship. The wedding was a secret one. They went to house-keeping and were comparatively happy, except for the fact that the husband appeared restless and melaneholy. His fellow workman say he was silent and depressed from the date of his marriage and kept getting worse every day, refusto affirm or deny his wedding.

He quit his work a week ago and reported that he was sick, brooding over something continually. His mania reached a climax on Tuesday, when he attempted to murder his wife. Investigation resulted in the doctors pronouncing the man violently insane. He was taken to Danville, and the doctors there say his is a hopeless case, one of the worst cases of melancholia at the asylum.

Borough Board Looking Up Plans and Money for Another.

The borough school board met in regular session last night with Messrs. McCarthy, Timony, Welsh and Ferry present. Minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and approved. A communication was received from Mrs. S. E. Hayes, relative to the insurance on the new school building, which will be advanced on account of the new opera house. President McCarthy was ordered to look the matter up and adjust it.

A resolution was adopted that all children attending the public schools shall be vaccinated on or before the first Monday in June, and furnish a certificate to that effect to their teacher, according to the communication of the

The First Fire This Year.

The First Fire This Year.

The first alarm of fire this year in Freeland was rang on Monday evening. Large sparks were discovered coming out of one of the chimneys on the building owned and occupied by Hugh Boyle and family, at the corner of Ridge and Walnut streets. The firemen arrived upon the scene promptly, and went to work with buckets. They succeeded in extinguishing it in a few minutes after they got to work. Water connections were made with the hose, but the latter was not needed.

A furious gale was blowing at the time the alarm was rang, and the people in all parts of town were afraid of the result. Had the blaze been allowed to break through the chimney it is certain that the town would have had a hard night, as the high position of Mr. Boyle's building would have sent sparks into the heart of the town.

The damage done to the building was slight.

Boner Got the Decision.

A lively bout took place on Monday night between John Boner, of Lansford, and "Pepper" Griffin, colored, of Philadelphia, at Tumbling Run, Schuyikill county. It was to have been ten rounds, but Referee Tom Clark had to call for another round before he could give his decision. Griffin was much lighter than Boner, but the latter was tailer and had the longest reach.

Boner had six points to Griffin's one in the eleventh round and got the decision. Boner received the most punishment, while Griffin appeared to be quite fresh at the close of the fight. Griffin showed better science, but Boner demonstrated that he was the better man in a short go. The fight was started about 12 o'clock and lasted over an hour.

Robert Emmet's Anniversary.

The one hundred and eighteenth anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet, the young martyr of Ireland, was commemorated last evening at the Cottage hall in fitting style by the members of the Wolfe Tone Social Club and their lady friends. The exercises of the evening began with an entertainment, as follows:

An oration by E. F. Hanlon on the "Life of Emmet," which was delivered in a manner that evoked much applause. A vocal solo, "My Emmet's No More," was well rendered by Thomas F. Quigley, who also sang Moore's sweet song, "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Charles Gallagher, of Jeddo, followed with a recitation, "The Lost Steamship," to which he done full credit.

Miss Mame McDonald's song, "Starlight," came next, and in response to an encore sang "Mack's Swing Song," which was one of the features of the entertainment.

James P. McNells, chairman of the evening, then led the way to the dining room, where Landlord Haas had prepared a sumptuous banquet for the club and its guests, and where all spent a pleasant half-hour or more.

Returning to the hall the audience enjoyed several selections by Quigley's orchestra, which were followed by more singing, reciting and impromptu addresses befitting the occasion.

At 3 o'clock this morning the assemblage adjourned, every one pleased with the successful manner in which the club conducted the celebration.

Electricity in the Mines.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Company is experimenting with electricity at Maltby colliery to haulmine cars. It is expected that before long the mules will be a thing of the past in the mines. The experiment of electricity for the surface workings has succeded so well that most of the conservative operators think it will work equally well inside.

The Lehigh Valley Company has built also a big fire-proof boiler house at the Maltby colliery, and in this they will put an immense dynamo, thence conducting the power wires into the mines through two twelve-inch bore holes to the big pumps below.

Tore Out a Mule's Tongue.

William Evans, a driver boy at Wilkesbarre was arrested on Saturday charged with tearing out a mule's tongue. The mule balked and the boy attached a chain to the animal's tongue and hitching another mule to the other end of the chain tore the member out. The case was proven, and out of sympathy for the boy's parents, he was permitted to go upon the payment of a heavy fine, otherwise he would have spent a term in jail.

A Sad Case.

A Sad Case. A Sad Case.

R. Calhoun Deringer, of Philadelphia, who contested with the Coxe heirs for several years for a piece of valuable coal land in the lower end of the county and lost his case, has become deranged. He is appealing to the mayor of Wilkesbarre and the sheriff of the county, claiming that he was swindled out of his property and a large sum of money by the illegal and unofficial sale of his property.

A Lehigh Valley Flyer.

The Lehigh Valley Company ran an experimental train from New York to Buffalo on Friday to fix a schedule for their new fast flyer between the two cities. The run was made in ten hours, which is two hours ahead of their regular time. The fastest time of the trip was made between Batavia and Depew, N. Y., when seventy-five miles an hour was reached.

A Water Main Burst.

One of the water mains burst near the reservoir on Tuesday and the upper part of Walnut street was flooded. This soon froze over, and the street, from Ridge up, was a solid sheet of ice. Burgess McLaughin had the street closed to prevent accidents, and the Water Company put a force of men at work- to repair the break.
