

TO FIGHT TO THE END

New York Liquor Men Will Contest Raines Law in the Courts.

ASSISTANCE FROM OTHER STATES

Little Benefit, However, May Be Hoped for by the Smaller Dealers, Many of Whom Will Soon Be Forced Out of Business.

New York, March 24.—Although the Raines liquor tax measure is now a law the strongest fight, it is claimed, is yet to be made by the brewers and saloon-keepers throughout the state assisted by funds from people interested in the liquor traffic in neighboring states against its enforcement. The fight, of course, must now be carried on in the courts, but nothing can be done until after the officials have begun to enforce the law. As proceedings of this kind are tedious and slow in action the smaller saloonkeepers, whom the law is intended to wipe out, cannot hope to benefit from any favorable decision to the liquor interests in the proposed proceedings as their places will be gone and many of them forced into other occupations before final decision of the courts is secured.

Grounds of the Contests.

Samuel Untermyer of the law firm of Guggenheimer, Untermyer & Marshall said: "We have been retained by the State Brewers' and Malsters' association and will proceed to fight the Raines law on the ground of unconstitutionality. As soon as the law goes into effect we will get up a test case to carry the matter before the courts. There are a number of points on which we propose to fight the law. We will contend that this is a tax in violation of section 21, article 3 of the constitution, which provides that no state money shall be devoted to local purposes without a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature. We will argue that the money collected is state money and comes under this head. We will also contend that the law is not a state law, but a collection of local laws and that it should have been sent to the local mayors for approval. Again, we will fight it on the want of uniformity in the tax and also because the twenty-third and twenty-fourth wards are differently legislated for."

Gov. Morton's Views on the Law.

Albany, March 24.—Gov. Morton in approving the Raines liquor tax bill filed a long memorandum explaining his action. The statement opens with a review of the excise question in its present status and points out the benefits which it is expected will be derived from the enactment of the law. He does not suggest any supplemental legislation as was looked for and in this respect disappoints the expectations of a large number of persons, especially Germans, who thought that although the governor would sign the bill, he would recommend that a second excise bill should be passed which would provide for an ale and beer license at a reduced rate of taxation.

"An Experiment Worth Trying."

The governor is sanguine of the effect which the bill will produce. He terms it "an experiment," but "one worth trying," and he believes if its provisions be carried out by "competent and faithful officers," the result will be such that "our people will not be likely to wish to return to the system of local supervision." He does not believe that the bill will reduce intemperance to any great extent, but that in large cities it will lessen the number of saloons. He does not agree with those who call the bill a "high license" measure. The memorandum is thought to be one of the most important documents that has issued from the executive chamber since Gov. Flower signed the Buffalo police bill in 1893.

PETER WOODEN'S WILL.

His Heirs Contest It in the Somerset County, N. J., Orphan's Court.

Plainfield, N. J., March 24.—In the Somerset county Orphan's court yesterday an action was commenced to break the will of Peter Wooden, who died in this city three years ago, and who was worth about $50,000. He left most of his property to the Seventh Day Baptist church of this city, and to the Seventh Day Baptist university of Alfred, N. Y. It is alleged that the members of the church used undue influence in getting him to make the bequest in their favor, and his heirs ask the court to set aside the will and make a division of the property among them. The church and university officials will make a strong fight to establish the legality of the will.

RUTHVEN TO BE ARRESTED.

The Alleged ex-Catholic Priest Likely To Be Sent to Jail.

Seranton, Pa., March 24.—Father Ruthven, the alleged ex-Catholic priest, who yesterday shot three men in the borough of Dunmore, a suburb of Scranton, is to be arrested, and he may be tried and sent to prison for assault with intent to kill. For a month or more he has been lecturing to men and women in this vicinity giving what he alleges to be exposures of the methods of the Catholic church. Afternoons he lectured to ladies and evenings to men. Several times during the past few weeks the police have been forced to protect him. He lectured in Christian church, Dunmore, Sunday evening, and some eggs were thrown at him while he was on his way to the car. His strictures on the Catholic church had greatly angered members of that faith, who are in the majority in Dunmore. Yesterday afternoon Ruthven lectured to Dunmore women and when he left the church at 5:30 o'clock, he was attended by detectives. A large crowd of hoodlums was waiting for him and saluted him with rotten eggs and snowballs. He walked about fifty feet to Drinker street and then drew a revolver and said that he would kill the next man who assaulted him. Some one in the rear of the crowd threw a missile of some kind and Ruthven opened fire. One of his detectives also began to shoot at the crowd and an unknown man in the crowd began to shoot back. Then Ruthven and two of his detectives retreated into a house nearby, carrying one of their number, who was wounded, with them. Ruthven escaped from the rear of the house through a vacant lot and ran away. Three men were shot. William Mink, one of the detectives received a bullet in the broad of his back. Will Seagraves, who was in the crowd, was shot in the leg, and a man named Kelley, also in the crowd, was shot in the hip. It is stated that all will recover.

Baltimore, March 24.—Dr. A. P. T. Grove, a well-known physician of Dallastown, York county, Penn., between 45 and 50 years of age, swallowed aconite and then shot himself in the left temple at the Eutaw house yesterday afternoon. The doctor arrived at the hotel Sunday night. Yesterday afternoon he was found in his room in an unconscious condition. Beside him lay a revolver with one chamber empty and near by was a vial that had contained aconite mixed with oil of lavender. On a table in the room lay a note giving the would-be suicide's address and asking that Max Fulton of York, Penn., be notified. The note also stated: "It pains me when I think of the misery that it will cause my dear wife and children, but I cannot help it, as I have been fighting against a terrible feeling for the past two months."

The jury, after a short deliberation, rendered a verdict to the effect that death was due to excessive drinking, which brought on an attack of delirium tremens.

Pettibone Mine Fire Is Out.

The fire in the Pettibone mine, near Wilkesbarre, is extinguished. The fire started January 30 from an explosion of gas. Men were immediately put to work fighting the fire. Hundreds of feet of hose were laid, and heavy streams of water were played on the fire. Considerable progress was made during the first day, and the men were greatly encouraged, although four men were buried by an explosion of gas. From the beginning to the end it has been one unceasing battle with the fire. Hundreds of small explosions have occurred, but fortunately no one has been seriously injured.

Beautiful Story of American Life.

The most beautiful story of American life will be told again at the Grand opera house, Freehold, this evening, the story of Augustus Thomas' now famous "Alabama." The mellow moonlight of the South will again gild the battered walls around Colonel Preston's little yard. Around the sweet music of darkey voices will rise and fall through the shades of palmetto groves. Again in the glamour of the moonlight that pours down so warm and tender through the trees the hero will meet again the love of his early years, will find his father and his daughter, and the old wounds and scars will be covered with poverty and peace. No play was ever so fascinating as "Alabama." One can see it over and over again and discover new beauties in it each time. It is refreshing in those days of horseplay and sensation to witness a play like "Alabama," and it is pleasant to record that it is the one of the most successful plays of the day.

The cast is a remarkable strong one, and includes Clement Bainbridge, Scott Cooper, George B. Miller, Edward B. Kelley, Robert Conness, Dwight Allen, Charles Moore, W. N. Worsworth, and the Misses Ethel Irving, Zoe Halbert, Julia Folland and Adelaide Sawyer.

Mr. Hall says he has no reason to believe that the bullet fired was intended for him. On the contrary he believes the shooting was accidental. The consul's house is opposite the Spanish prison at San Juan, as previously stated in these dispatches.

MILLS' RESOLUTION

Senators Do Not Believe the Bell-Cose Measure Can Pass.

PRACTICALLY A DECLARATION OF WAR

The Texas Member To-day Speaking in Favor of Its Passage—Mr. Hale Says the Cuban Affair Is Finally Disposed Of.

Washington, March 24.—Senator Mills, dem., Tex., who introduced in the senate yesterday the joint resolution which, if passed, is almost certain to produce war with Spain, is to-day speaking on the subject. The resolution directs the president of the United States to request the government of Spain to grant to the people of Cuba the power of local self-government and (in case the government of Spain shall refuse) to take possession of the island of Cuba and to hold it until its inhabitants can institute such government as they may wish to organize, and arm and equip such military forces as may be necessary to protect them from invasion. This is looked upon by many senators as a practical declaration of war, and it is not believed possible that the resolution can be passed. Senator Mills was led to introduce his resolution by the delay on the concurrent resolutions, and the fact that they were again sent to the same conference committee forced him, he says, to introduce the more radical measure. The senate conference committee is composed of Senators Sherman, rep., O.; Morgan, dem., Ala., and Lodge, rep., Mass. Senator Platt, rep., Conn., introduced a concurrent resolution expressing the earnest hope of the senate that Cuba may soon become a free, independent and republican government, and requests that the friendly offices of the United States shall be offered by the president to the Spanish government to secure such result. It was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Senator Hale's Opinion.

Senator Hale, leader of the Cuban opposition, said this morning that he did not believe the conferees could agree upon a report that would be satisfactory to both houses. He rather looked upon the Cuban matter as finally disposed of, and said that it would probably now be left where it should have been left at the start, with the president. This course would, Mr. Hale added, subserve the public good. With that out of the way, congress would proceed with the appropriation bills and when they were passed would go home. He predicts an adjournment as early as the middle of May.

House of Representatives.

The session of the house, under the rules, was given up to District of Columbia business, but the District calendar was soon cleared up, and the remainder of the session was spent in the consideration of a bill to modify the existing law regarding the punishment of crimes committed under federal jurisdiction involving the death penalty so as to allow a sentence to prison for life. After a three hours discussion the passage of the bill was frustrated by a point of no quorum made by Mr. Barrett, rep., Mass.
