FOUR DARING ROBBERS.

POLICEMEN AND BURGLARS HAVE A FIGHT AT WHITE HAVEN.

East Mauch Chunk Postoffice Entered by a Gang Early Friday Morning—When Discovered they Boarded a Freight Train—Two Were Shot and Captured.

Four burglars broke into the post-office at East Mauch Chunk early Friday morning. They were discovered, but escaped at the point of their revolvers, and two were wounded and captured in a fight at White Haven. It was one of the most daring attempts at burglary and the most desperate resistance to arrest that has occurred in this region for many a day. The postoffice is next to the store of H. A. Buchman, and is separated from it with a thick wall. The burglars first gained entrance to the store, cut their way through the wall and then attacked the big safe. They had succeeded in breaking off the combination of the safe and were preparing to drill when a lot of young people going home from a ball heard the noise and gave the alarm.

In a few minutes several young men had collected, but were unarmed and made no attempt to arrest the men. The burglars escaped through a rear door, then dashed down the street, threatening the crowd with their revolvers, and succeeded in boarding a Jersey Central freight train which was passing through the town northbound. Before the crowd could get sufficient courage to attack them they were out of danger.

It was decided to telegraph to White Haven, the next point north, and all the other towns along the road that the train would pass through. When the White Haven operator received the message the freight train was due in half an hour. Fortunately the chief of police lived near the station. He was quickly aroused and set to work to get a posse. So well did he work that five minutes before the train was due twenty men, many half dressed and not all of them armed, had gathered under his orders and lay in wait just below the town where the train could be stopped on a clear track. It was decided to do this, as the robbers would have but little chance to escape if the train was once properly surrounded.

As the train drew in it was flagged and the engineer was asked if he had any men on the train. One of the brakemen said that four men who boarded the train at Mauch Chunk were about the middle of the train. The posse at once rushed toward the place designated, but the stopping of the train and the noise of many voices had apprised the robbers of what was going on, and as they rushed forward they opened fire with their revolvers.

The posse found shelter behind piles of ties and telegraph poles and then returned the fire with interest, aiming at the flashes from the revolvers of the burglars. Over 100 shots had been exchanged, but the fire of the burglars slackened and then stopped, and one of them shouted: "We give up; don't fire any more."

Fearful of some trick, the citizens advanced slowly, and this gave opportunity for two of the men to escape. Although they were fired at and followed by several men they made good their escape and it is not known whether they were wounded or not.

In the car two of the desperadoes were found, both seriously wounded. The first has two pistol wounds in his back, one of which seems to have pierced his kidneys. He has been too weak to give any information about himself. The other man has a ball in his chest and another in his arm. He remained conscious but sullen, and the only information that could be got from him was that his name is Henry Koper. He will not say where he lives and will give absolutely no particulars concerning his comrades.

When there was a lull in the shooting a figure was seen moving on the top of the box car and when commanded to come down he did so. He said he was an actor and a member of the Empire Star Company, which has been playing in Mauch Chunk, and he was innocent of any connection with the robbers. He was retained, however, but later in the day was released.

Three empty revolvers were found in the coal car, the latter showing the marks of over fifty bullets. An old stocking containing several sticks of dynamite was found in the postoffice, together with two very fine drills and some hammers, all making a fine collection of burglars' tools.

The wounded men were taken to Mauch Chunk and placed in jail.

Killed a Dog on Saturday.

Last Thursday Nellie, the seven-year-old daughter of Burgess McLaughlin, was bitten in two places on the arm by a dog on Walnut street. The little one's father was unable to learn whose dog it was, and on Saturday took the girl out with him in the hopes that they would meet the animal. The dog, after biting the girl on Thursday, ran into the saloon of Joseph Lutz, and there the Burgess called on Saturday, leaving the little one outside.

Mrs. Lutz called her two dogs and when they arrived the Burgess opened the bar-room door to call in Nellie. Immediately, the animal which was wanted darted out on the street and again attacked the child.

Hearing her screams Mr. McLaughlin ran out and found the dog tearing viciously at the girl's clothes. He drew his revolver and shot the brute. The wound was not fatal, but with the assistance of Daniel Feller the animal was killed.

Residents of Walnut street will feel a little safer since there is one canine less to bother them.

Police Raid Vehicles.

Early Friday morning the police of Hazleton in company with a number of citizens made a tour of the city, and where they found a wagon or any other vehicle it was run to the city pound. By 4 o'clock in the morning all the streets in the vicinity of the city building were blocked with vehicles. The owners supposed they had been at work and some even notified the police. A fine of $6.50 was imposed for the release of every wagon and nearly $50 was realized through the scoop. Few drivers got out with their teams in the morning because the wagons were gone, and business was tied up for awhile, the early delivery of goods being delayed until the fines were paid.

The raid was the result of a recent proclamation by Mayor Altmiller forbidding owners of vehicles to let them stand over night in alleys and side streets.

Gave His Life to Save a Girl.

To save the life of a girl, Charles Fisher met a heroic death on Friday night. He was 18 years old and resided at Frackville, Schuylkill county. Fisher, in company with Miss Bessie Williams, of Gilberton, John Burns and William Ryan, were walking on the Reading Railroad towards Girardville. The party stepped from in front of an engine on the other track and in front of another locomotive which was bearing down upon them. They saw their danger and Ryan and Burns jumped. Miss Williams was but a few feet from the engine when Fisher heroically and with a great effort pushed her safely off the track, but lost his own life. He was ground to death under the wheels of the engine.

The raid was the result of a recent proclamation by Mayor Altmiller forbidding owners of vehicles to let them stand over night in alleys and side streets.

Suspension at Several Collieries.

All colliers owned and operated by the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company throughout the Panther Creek valley, which includes Lansford and vicinity, closed down on Friday evening and will remain idle until May 4. This move on the part of the company is discouraging to the miners, who have only been averaging about half time for several months. This will be the longest continuous suspension that has occurred in the Panther Creek valley for a number of years.

Upper Lehigh, Sandy Run and all collieries which ship via the Jersey Central suspended operations on Friday and will not resume until next Friday or Monday.

Alleged Heir of Penn Wants Land.

R. Penn Davis and his attorney are at the county seat looking up certain tracts of land which originally belonged to William Penn. Mr. Davis claims he is the nearest living relative to the great Quaker and says he has a great-grand-great-grandson. The land claimed by Mr. Davis is near Nanticoke and is a part of the Sunbury manor laid out by the Penns in the last century. Mr. Davis claims that he can prove his lineage and that he is a great-grand-great-grandson of John Penn, and by documentary evidence that the latter was a grandson of William Penn.

Wants $100,000 Damages.

Joseph Stevenson, of Butler Valley, by his attorney John M. Garman, brought suit last week against the Jeddito Tunnel Company, the Markles, Pardees and various other persons interested in the Jeddito tunnel, for $100,000 damages. The plaintiff was conducting a manufactory of woolen goods on one of the small streams into which the mine water which is drained by the tunnel now empties and thereby destroyed his machinery by the action of the sulphur water and making the stream unfit for the purpose of following his business.

Interviewed Superintendent Smith.

A number of Freeland business men had an interview on Friday afternoon at Drifton with L. C. Smith, superintendent of the D. S. & S. Railroad and the Cox Iron Manufacturing Company. Mr. Smith assured them that the prospects of increased work on the railroad and in the shops were never brighter, and that a marked improvement in the business of both companies was expected this summer. The superintendent also promised to inquire into the advisability of extending the D. S. & S. into Freeland.

Will Make Campaign Liveley.

Daniel J. McCarthy has entered the political field again, and as a candidate for the Democratic nomination of state senator, he expects to be successful. If nominated D. J. can be counted upon to make the next election one of the liveliest that the district has ever known.

PLEASURE CALENDAR.

May 29.—Ball of the Fearnots Athletic Association, at Cross Creek hall. Admission, 50 cents.

BASE BALL BRIEFS.

The Stars and Travelers played a very fine game of ball at the park yesterday afternoon, and the former club won by the score of 5 to 2. The errors of the Travelers were made at times when they committed most, and this, coupled with the effective hitting of the Stars in the same innings, won the game for the latter. Both sides made many pretty plays, and the clubs presented a handsome appearance in their new uniforms. The pitching of McKinley was the feature of the game.

The score was:

The Slavonian club intends to be in the game in earnest this season. The team has several coming ball players in it, and they practice diligently. George Shigo, the pitcher, is the making of a good player.

The Anthracite league will open the season next Sunday. Following is the schedule given for the day: Pioneers at Freeland. Athletics at Drifton. Latimer at MacAdoo.

The Stars have received their new uniforms, and they are the most attractive in town. The club is anxious to meet all amateur teams.

Hazleton went up against the Eastern leaguers of Wilkesbarre twice last week. Result, 15 to 5; 8 to 6. Comment unnecessary.

The Tigers had men working upon their park last week, and the grounds are now in good condition for the opening game, which will take place on May 3 or May 10.

Entertainment and Supper.

At St. Paul's P. M. church on Saturday evening an entertainment and supper was given for the benefit of the church under the auspices of Garfield Commandery, Knights of Malta. Following was the programme rendered, Rev. C. W. Twing acting as chairman: Singing, "Opening Ode;" prayer, Rev. H. A. L. Benner; singing, Rev. S. Cooper and son; recitation, Miss Belle Thomas; address, J. J. Griffith; solo, Miss Annie Salmon; recitation, "Life Boat;" Miss Mame Edmunds; select reading, Rev. Anna Sensenbach; closing address, Rev. R. E. Wilson.

The affair was a very successful one and the large audience was highly pleased. The supper will be continued this evening. Rates, adults, 15 cents; children, 10 cents.

Erecting Scales at Collieries.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Company has been engaged in fitting up weigh scales on their various collieries. The idea is to weigh all the coal after the cars are run from under the chutes at the breakers instead of hauling it to such points as Paerckerton. There will be two scales arranged, one to weigh the empty cars, before they are run under the breaker, and another to weigh them after they are loaded. All the Lehigh Valley collieries will be equipped with scales before September 1.

Undue Violence in Chastising a Pupil.

M. E. Shannon, principal of the Blackman school, in Wilkesbarre township, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Mary Berry. He is charged with using undue violence in chastising her son, Patrick, aged 12 years. The beating is alleged to have been administered February 12. Mr. Shannon entered bail for court. The testimony of two pupils at the school, that Mr. Shannon merely shook the boy, was given at the preliminary hearing.

Wassil Convicted of Murder.

The verdict in the Peter Wassil case, which was tried at Wilkesbarre last week, was guilty of murder in the first degree. The case went to the jury at 5:30 o'clock on Friday evening. The first ballot was unanimous for conviction. Wassil heard the verdict without betraying any emotion. He said he expected to escape with manslaughter. His wife and little daughter wept as they said good-bye to him.

Building Notes.

John M. Cummins has entered into a contract with A. J. Keenan, Jr., to build a large double block of buildings on the east side of Walnut street, west of Ridge. Mr. Cummins will shortly break ground for a double block for Daniel O. Krommes at Alvinton.

Does Advertising Pay?

Two weeks ago the bicycle ad of C. D. Rohrback appeared in the TRIBUNE. Four wheels sold for spot cash since is the result. This paper is read by the buyers of the North Side, and the money spent for advertising in it is well invested.

Patents Granted.

Reported by C. A. Snow & Co., Washington, D. C.
J. Auble, Wilkesbarre, lawn-sprayer.
M. Berger, South Bethlehem, valve for steam-cylinders.
H. Hunt, Wilkesbarre, pencil.

DEATHS.

Klotz.—At Freeland, April 23, Lillian A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klotz, aged 4 years, 10 months and 19 days. Interred on Saturday at Freeland cemetery.

Hazleton Firebug Found Guilty.

James Passarello, James Carone, Joe Camerani and Michael Speri, the Hazleton Italians who were tried for arson, were found guilty at Wilkesbarre on Friday. Passarello and Carone were convicted of robbery at the last term of court and were sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. If all the cases are pressed against the gang they will spend the remainder of their lives in jail.

When taken into court on Saturday for sentence T. R. Martin, attorney for the defense, asked for leniency because two of the men, Passarello and Carone, were sentenced last week to five years in the penitentiary on another charge.

Judge Woodward then addressed the prisoners as follows: "The crime of which you stand convicted, considering the manner of its perpetration, is one of the most atrocious, diabolical and inhuman life and the rights of property brought to the notice of an American court of justice. Impelled simply by jealousy of a fellow-countryman whose honorable prosperity seems to have excited your envy, and kindled an unreasoning hatred, you conceived and executed, so far as you were able, a plot to blow up his home and to murder him while he and his entire family, consisting of his wife, a child and two employees were wrapped in sleep.

"The sentence we are about to impose will, we trust, impress all those who in the least degree are your sympathizers with the truth that here in America human life and the rights of property are held sacred and zealously guarded by the courts, whose duty it is to administer the laws.

"The sentence of the court is that each of you pay a fine of $4,000, costs and imprisonment in eastern penitentiary for twenty years, this sentence to begin at the expiration of a former sentence of five years imposed on Passarello and Carone."

Coroner's Jury Meets.

The jury empaneled by Coroner McCombs to inquire into the death of Anna Dugan, met in the city building on Friday afternoon. Four witnesses were examined, the most damaging testimony being adduced by the eight-year-old son of the murdered man. He positively asserted that he saw "Shovel" who is no other than Andrew Annutz, fire the shot that killed his father.

A hearing of the Annutz's also gave some damaging testimony, but he evaded some important questions, which would seem to indicate that he knows more about the occurrence than he really cared to reveal. His story of the affair was very much disconnected.

The jury after examining the four witnesses very closely, adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Eight witnesses still remain to be examined.

Special Election to Be Held.

At a special meeting of the borough school board on Thursday the committee on new building made its report. The committee had made investigations of buildings regarding the kind of building that could be erected with the money obtainable, and reported in favor of erecting another school. It is to be of brick and will contain eight rooms.

Richard Kealey has been engaged to draw up plans, and Attorney Carr was authorized to make the necessary preparations for a special election on May 29, as Paerckerton. There will be no school before the school debt shall be increased.

Judge Cool and Son Hurt.

Judge Cool, aged 88 years, and his son, C. L. Cool, both of West Pittston, were quite seriously injured in Hazleton on Thursday evening. While driving from Beaver Meadow, Judge Cool's former home, to Hazleton, their horse became unmanageable and ran away, throwing out the occupants of the carriage. They were dragged a considerable distance. Judge Cool had his right wrist sprained and received a bad cut on the right knee. His son had three large cuts on his head and was otherwise bruised and scratched.

Changes on the D. S. & S.

William Hincer, road foreman of engines on the D. S. & S., has tendered his resignation to the company. It is reported that others in high position have been asked to do the same. The employees have been bitterly complaining for two years past of the unjust manner in which promotions were made on the road, and a regular system which gives every man a chance to work himself up has been adopted. It is said that Mr. Hincer will return to the Jersey Central.
