THE CZAR'S CORONATION.

It Will Be the Grandest Spectacle of the Century.

Foreign Nations Are to Make a Most Lav-ish Display—Brief Description of the Ceremonies Attending the Crown-ing of the Autocrat.

On May 26 Nicholas I, will be crowned "the orthodox, most pious, most autocratic and mighty sovereign, the czar of all the Russias." The ceremonics attending this "sacrament," as the Russians call it, will be grand beyond description—beyond the imagination of men and women who have never with ressed one of those gorgeous festivals for which Russia is famous. Although Peter the Great removed the capital of the empire to St. Petersburg in 1703, the coronation ceremony will take glace at Moscow, the ancient capital and holy city of the Muscovites, and the seat of the metropolitan of the Russian-Greek church.

and holy city of the Muscovites, and the seat of the metropolitan of the Russian-Greek church.

All the religious and court functions connected with the coronation will take place within the walls of the Kremlin, the citadel of Moscow, which occupies the central part of the city, on the porth bank of the Moskva river. It is surrounded by heavy stone walls surmounted with towers, and consists of churches, palaces and public buildings. Besides the palaces of the czar, the patriarch and the holy synod, the arsenal with its 875 cannons abandoned by Napoleon in 1812, the imperial treasury and other offices, the Kremlin contains the famous cathedral of the Assumption, in which all the czars have been crowned. This church was built in the 14th century, and is gorgeously decorated with porphyry and jasper. Within Kremlin's walls are also the cathedral of St. Michael, in which the cathedral of St. Michael, and the czar, in remembrance of scriptural injunction, will remove the crown from his brow and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every mook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every garison town of the empire ances will announce the tidings to the propage. This having been done, the metropolitan will announce the 40 or more titles of the czar. After a fitting pause the latter will demand the imperial mantle, and after receiving this precious garment, composed of cloth of gold and ermine, will place it over his shoulders and receive a benediction. He will next demand the imperial crown, and it will be handed to him by the metropolitan. Seizing if in both hands, the czar will place this costly and magnificent badge of power on his head. This done, he will call for the scepter and the globe, one of which will take in his right hand, the other in his left, and will then take a seat on the throne. The metropolitan will pronounce a blessing, and at the same moment every bell in the city will be rung and a royal salute of 101 guns will be fired from the fortress. The telegraph will carry the news of the czar's coronation to every nook and corner of the world, and wherever Russians have a church the bells will peal forth, and in every garrison town of the empire cannes will announce the tidings to the people.

The report of the con

the committee.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted as follows:
Resolved, Believing that intemperance is a sin and a crime against the state, we, the delegates assembled at the fourteenth annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the diocese of Seranton, now in session at Freeland, Pa., affirm that it is the bounden duty of all good citizens to lend their aid to a movement which tends to remove much of this pernicious evil and thereby add to the moral worth of the people and the security of the state. We believe that the best efforts which can be directed against this monster evil is through the agency of the Catholic total abstinence societies.

Resolved, That in this movement in the interest of Catholic manhood and sobriety we fully recognize the worth of the reverend clergy of mother church, who have done so much to advance our cause in the past and who promise us their unswerving support in the future. That we commend to the attention of the pastors of the resecutive focks in the total abstinence fold. That while being fully cognizant of the work done in the recent past, yet we are aware of the encroachments made by the enemy, and now sound the bugle call for active work along the line.

Resolved, That the thanks of this union are due and hereby tendered to Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara, of Sevanton, for the aid he has given our movement, and we also tender our hearty congratulations to Rt. Rev. Bishop loban, of Ashley, on his being elevated to the bishopric, such auspicuous event having transpired within the past year.
