POLITICAL PICKUPS.

Morgan B. Williams has had Sam Boyd, of the Wilkesbarre Newsdealer, arrested for alleged libel. The accused waived a hearing and furnished $1,000 bail for his appearance at court. The arrest was no surprise to Mr. Boyd, as he had worked hard to induce Mr. Williams to take action. A speedy trial is all that the Newsdealer man wants in order to create a sensation in this county.

Every good Democrat should pray night and day for the nomination of ex-Senator Williams as the Republican candidate for congress. If he is nominated this district will send the Democrat nominee to Washington by 3,000 majority.

E. C. Benedict, of New York, who is known as a close friend of President Cleveland's, says that "if the Chicago convention adopts a free silver platform no Democrat can consistently vote for a candidate pledged to its support."

James M. Norris, chief clerk to the county commissioners, has resigned. Mr. Norris, it is understood, has had this move in contemplation for some time. It is said that he and Commissioner Norton could not pull together very well.

The sixth legislative district Democratic convention will meet in St. Aloysius hall, White Haven, on Monday, June 23, at 10.30 a. m., to nominate a candidate for the legislature.

Ex-Attorney General H. W. Palmer has formally announced his candidacy for congress, saying, however, that he would not pay any money for illegitimate purposes.

C. D. Foster, one of the Republican congressional candidates, will address the Freeland Republican Club tomorrow evening.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETS.

A Lively Session Held Last Evening. Will Run an Excursion.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Trade held last evening, which was well attended by the active workers, the action taken at the last meeting in regard to holding a picnic in the Public park was dropped. The matter was brought about by some of the members stating that considerable opposition had developed within the Citizens' Hose Company towards allowing the Board the use of the park for the Fourth of July when it became known that the party who had engaged the park on that date had decided to not utilize it.

The matter brought out some discussion which was not at all favorable to the firemen, as they were charged with basing their action on politics, although it was claimed for the firemen that the park overseer, Mr. Powell, had not been asked for the use of the ground on the Fourth by the Board's committee.

The difficulty was finally overcome by arriving at an understanding to run an excursion. Treasurer Butz stated that, in conversation with an Allentown Board of Trade member, he was told that if the Freeland board would run an excursion to that city, the Allentown people would join them and have a joint outing at Rittersville. Mr. Butz's suggestion was received favorably. President Price will appoint a committee in a few days, with himself as chairman, to make arrangements for the affair.

Secretary Kilae read a letter from Ellis R. Simpson, of Scranton, one of the silk mill projectors, who stated that he would begin the erection of the mill immediately on being assured that the territory in which it will be located will soon become part of the borough. The matter was referred to the executive committee, with instructions to meet on Wednesday night next. An effort will be made to have Mr. Simpson confer with the committee, and in all likelihood he will be assured that everything is favorable to the erection of the mill.

The annexation movement occasioned a lot of talk. Attorney Carr reported having sent out the petition and also the surveyor's map of the plot to be annexed. The Board donated $25 towards the expense of the work, and the committee taking the petition around will also solicit donations to cover expenses.

Another communication from the horse shoe nail factory was referred to the executive committee, with the view of having the projector come on to see the town.

"Daniel Cox Memorial School."

A special meeting of the Freeland school board on Monday evening was attended by all the members but Director Rute. Architect Rudrauff was present with the plans of the new school building, and the same were accepted by the board. An agreement was then entered into by the directors and the architects, Rudrauff & Davey, in which the latter parties were formally authorized to supervise the construction and will be responsible for the workmanship and material placed upon the structure. The architects are to have three sets of blue prints ready for the board within fifteen days.

The new building will be known as the "Daniel Cox Memorial School."

The bond of Treasurer Ferry in the sum of $30,000, was accepted, with the following parties as sureties: Morris Ferry, Freeland; John Arnold, Hazleton, and John M. Powell, Allentown.

The report prepared by the borough auditors was presented and accepted.

Sentenced for Stealing a Bicycle.

In the Carbon county court on Tuesday, Alexander Keiper, aged 19, of Weatherly, was sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory for stealing a bicycle. He rode the wheel from Weatherly to Tobyhauna, in Monroe county, and from Tobyhauna to Wilkesbarre, where he sold it to a pawnbroker. Later it was recovered at Berwick, having changed hands three times. Keiper will remain in the reformatory until the authorities are satisfied that he intends to live a better life.

MITE OF A CHILD.

He Is Three Years Old, But Weighs Only Ten and One-Half Pounds.

The United Charities Society of Wilkesbarre was called upon on Monday to take care of a very interesting specimen of humanity, a three-year-old boy, who was born when his mother was 71 years old and his father 78. The little fellow enjoys the romantic name of Jesse James Long, and was born in Union township. His parents were hard working people and eked out an existence on a miserable farm in an isolated section of the township until forced to give up work on account of old age.

Five children were born to them. The first four were of normal size and grew up naturally, but the last one, Jesse James, came at a time when his mother and father were feeble, infirm and almost helpless. When the child reached the age of two years, his father died and his mother followed six months later.

His two older brothers had established houses for themselves in the west before the baby's appearance. One sister was married and upon the remaining one, Rosabella, a young woman, devolved the care of the child. Not having any employment she, with her little brother, started to walk to Scranton, where she believed a married sister was living.

When she reached Wilkesbarre she was unable to go farther and applied at the mayor's office, and was directed to the kindly care of the United Charities. Here the girl and her little brother have found a home since, but what disposition will be made of them is not known until the sister in Scranton is heard from. The little fellow stands twenty-two inches high and weighs ten and one-half pounds. He is unable to walk, but creeps about the floor in a lively manner, and is apparently contented. He is unable to talk, but crows like a healthy year-old youngster and understands the greater part of what is said to him. His head is not much larger than an ordinary base ball and a quarter of a dollar would cover one hand. He is quite a curiosity, and several hundred people have called at the home to see him.

Hibernians at Williamsport.

The opening session of the biennial state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was called to order on Tuesday morning at Williamsport. Previous to the convention the entire body of delegates, almost one thousand strong, marched to the Church of the Annunciation, where high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Garvey. The opening session was occupied principally by addresses of welcome and responses. County President Costello and County Secretary Bradley welcomed the delegates on behalf of the county organization, and Frank Doedymen spoke for the German citizens of Williamsport. An address of welcome was also delivered by Rev. Father Golden. State President Patrick O'Neill responded to the welcome after which the convention went into secret session. The city is gaily decorated in honor of the visitors and extensive preparations are being made for the big parade that will occur this afternoon.

Among the prominent delegates from this section of the state are Superior Court Judge Peter P. Smith, Senator Vaughan, and T. V. Powderly, of Scranton; County Commissioner T. M. Dullard, of Wilkesbarre; Deputy Register J. J. Brislin, of Sugar Notch; Postmaster John H. Mullen and Captain John T. Flannery, of Pittston, and T. R. Callery, of Nanticoke, ex-national treasurer of the Board of Erin.

Captain Flannery is a candidate for state president to succeed President Patrick O'Neill, of Philadelphia.

Returned to Claim His Bride.

Early in 1892 Thomas Woods, of Pittston, wedded Miss May Williams, of Wilkesbarre, the ceremony being performed in Binghamton on Christmas Day. They told no one of the event and in a short time later the groom left his home to make a record of some sort. He entered the United States navy and spent three years on the battleships Columbia and Indiana and later took a commission as second lieutenant in the United States army. Last week his term of enlistment expired and he returned to Wilkesbarre to claim his wife. The marriage was then made public. Lieutenant Woods has been assigned to garrison duty at a military post in Kansas, where they will reside.

Bitten by a Snake and Died.

John Koffa, aged 13 years, while picking wild strawberries near Shamokin, was trampled upon a copperhead snake that had curled about a berry stalk. He was bitten on the instep by the reptile. Koffa's foot immediately began to swell and by the time he reached home, a mile distant, it was three times its natural size and he was suffering most excruciating pains.

Medical aid was summoned, but without avail. The poison had permeated Koffa's entire system and he died three hours after receiving the virus.

MILLENNIUM FESTIVAL.

THOUSANDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FOUNDING OF A NATION.

The event to be celebrated here by the First Hungarian Sick and Benevolent Association—Proceeds to be Used in Establishing a Library.

Freeland, Pa., June 8, 1896.
EDITOR TRIBUNE.—Kindly give space to the appeal which we submit below. The object is one that we hope our fellow citizens will help us to attain. It is issued in behalf of the Hungarian Millennium Festival, of Freeland, as follows:

Citizens.—In the heart of Europe there lives a handful of people, free and independent, known as the "Magyars." One thousand years ago this race of people came from Asia and settled there, where they have ever since been living, a free people in a free country, a bulwark of liberty for all Europe against the hordes of Asiatic barbarians.

During these one thousand years the Magyar people, in spite of bloody wars within and with neighboring nations, relied but on God and the honor of their good sword, and they form a great nation today. Nations honor and respect the Magyars.

Three oceans washed its shores, Italy, Germany (the Austria of today) and Bohemia paid tribute to her, and upon the walls of Rome, Constantinople and Vienna the Hungarian flag was hoisted and unfurled; while in the struggle lasting several centuries, Hungary conquered the Turk, pressed him back and rescued Christian civilization.

Europe must gratefully appreciate the service of the Hungarians for Christian civilization and modern culture, because while Hungary was the watchdog of all the world against the onslaughts of the Turks, the Mongols and the Tartars, the other nations could peacefully develop their commerce and industry.

At Budapest, the capital of Hungary, the nation celebrates today the one thousandth year of its constitutional existence.

It is not a feast of sorrow for the millions of martyrs whose blood irrigated the soil of the land; it is a feast of joy, that for one thousand years the pluck, courage and indomitable will, the heroism, and love of liberty could assert itself and make the nation truly grand.

The festivities at the capital of the land are duplicated in every city and village of Hungary, and we, the Hungarians of Freeland, represented by the First Hungarian Sick and Benevolent Association, have set the twenty-sixth day of June, 1896, for the celebration of the event by arranging for a ball at Yannes' opera house, to which we most respectfully invite the inhabitants of this city.

The net proceeds of the ball shall be devoted to the founding of a "Millennium Library," so that culture, education, intelligence and morality may be promulgated among the Hungarians of this city, and that such library, growing yearly, shall bear witness to the good citizenship of the Hungarians.

The price of admission is only 25 cents, and those taking part do not only celebrate with us the great national event, but also aid a most worthy and charitable object.

One of the foremost speakers from New York city will, in the course of the evening, deliver the festival oration in the English language, which in itself will be a rare oratorical treat. Joseph S. Usher, John Billerick, Charles Polanczky, Steve Galatha, Lislow Piley, Peter Kovaco, Mike Kardos, Joseph Tarkany, The Committee.

A Newspaper Secret.

For the next few weeks the leading items of news will relate to the Republican and Democratic national convention, the Republican convention will meet at St. Louis on the 16th inst., and as the national committee began its session on the 10th, the interest is now at fever heat. Newspapers are supposed to be able to accomplish wonders, but it is doubtful whether one person in a thousand appreciates the effort which a great journal puts forth to please its readers. At St. Louis, for instance, the Philadelphia Press will be represented by Hon. Charles Emory Smith, Col. James H. Lambert, Col. George N. McCain, E. J. Gibson, chief of the Press Washington bureau, and Robert Brannan, city editor of the Press. These gentlemen will control the services of a corps of skilled telegraphers and every detail of the proceedings will be given to the readers of the Press each day. It is doubtful whether any newspaper has been represented at one point by so distinguished a staff.
