NOMINATED BY THE DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES AT CHICAGO.

Fifteen Candidates Entered the Contest for the Democratic Presidential Nomi-nation—It Required Five Ballots to Make a Choice.

The Democratic national convention The Democratic national convention at Chicago on Friday nominated William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, for president, on the fifth ballot. The scenes were interesting and exciting in character, particularly at the close of the last ballot, and the convention goes on record as being the most notable political gathering ever held.

An accusation, viz., that my brother, who was at the time in the house of representatives, had produced, to my opponent for the Democratic nomination of assemblyman, a letter which stated that I had prevailed upon him to vote and use his influence against the "new county bill."

I at once denied the base charge in I at once denied the base charge in the districts where it had been circulatived, and wrote to my brother. I received a reply stating that he had not seen me for a period of three years and that the letter just received was the first communication from me in years, consequently he knew not my position on the new county. This letter I hold in my possession and it can be read by any person who wishes to do so. I will also take an afflicavit, if necessary, to show take an affidavit, if necessary, to show that I have been wilfully misrepresent-ed in this campaign in relation to the ed in this campaign in relation to the new county.

Now, voters and citizens, I will say here that it is only within the past year that I have taken interest in the new county question, and I have been agitating its cause and giving it my support ever since. I feel safe in mentioning that in my opinion the majority of North Siders are in favor of the new county.

When I consented to enter the race I did so with a resolution that, even though I were financially able, I would not buy the honor, but would work in concert with my party. Such are my principles. Although it is true that I have had and still have a desire to be I honored with this nomination, under no circumstances can money or trickery favor me with that honor.

To my party I say, while I am compelled under the circumstances to retire from the field, do not hesitate when workers are wanted to call upon me (if my help is of any consequence), as I am still a Democrat and will not flinch, whatever the opposition to our success whatever the opposition to our success may be; I will assist all in my power to manfully fight for the old party flag, and a stronger supporter of the new county will be difficult to find.

TEACHERS APPOINTED. All Former Teachers Who Applied Were Given Their Positions.

Freeland borough school board appointed teachers on Friday evening. All the teachers of last year, with the exception of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John McBrierty, George McLaughlin, William J. Schmidt, Mrs. S. M. Denneny, Misses Belle McGill, Kate Rogan, Tillie dent several delegations, led by York, refused to vote, and there were many members of other delegations, including such states as Connecticutt, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, who declined to participate in the nomination.

The reason assigned for this action was their disapproval of the platform adopted. The straight-out declaration for free colnage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 did not please the gold standard advocates, and they decided to take ne part in the proceedings after the silver plank was inserted.

Eleven of the sixty-four Pennsylvania delegates, including ex-District Attorney farman, of Nanticoke, wished to go to Bryan after the third ballot, when they saw that Pattison's nomination was impossible, but under the unit rule they were held by the other delegates and the vote of this state was cast each time for the ex-governor.

Locally, the platform and candidates were favorably received by the Democrats. The party men here fail to see the state of the content of the four states of the other delegations, including the content of the town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John nested, and Hanlon, stone, and the teachers of last year, with the exception of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John nested, all the teachers of last year, with the exception of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John nested, all the teachers of last year, with the exception of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John nested, all the teachers of last year, with the exception of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John nested, all the teachers of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were reappointed by a unanimous vote, as follows: Edward Hanlon, John nested, all the teachers of Mr. Herron, who has left town, were re

Councilman Mechan stated that much criticism had been indulged in by per-sons in the borough to the effect that he and Councilman Zemany had the sewer connections to their proper-ties made at the expense of the borough, and requested the street commissioner to make such explanation as he knew. Commissioner Moore stated that no such work was ever performed by him or hy Commissioner Moore stated that no such work was ever performed by him, or by his authority. This explanation did not fully suit Mr. Mechan, and the chairman appointed Messrs. Brislin, Shigo and Rutter to examine witnesses and investigate the charges.

Complaint was made about water flowing over the property of Manus Brennan on Centre street. It was referred to the health officer.

The bulk of the coal being moved, however, is on old orders, and while the agreement was that such shipments should close on July 10, some of the companies will be unable to wind up before the end of the month. Between this old business, the current new business and the shipments that will be made to fill up the depleted stocks at the shipping points and the depots in New England, the month's production is provided for.

The trade seems pretty thoroughly wenvinced of the good faith of the producing companies, and place entire credit in the announcement of a further advance in prices on September 1.
