The applicants for mine inspector of this district will be examined at Wilkesbarre today. There are eleven men in the class, among them being George McGee, Freeland; William Davis, Drifton, and P. M. Boyle, Sugar Notch, formerly of Drifton.

Skilled mine operators, superintendents, inspectors and other persons believe that there is no probability of recovering the bodies of the miners caught by the cave-in in the Twin shaft. So hopeless does the task seem to some that they have come to the conclusion that the work should be abandoned.

SHOT THIS MORNING.

Hungarians and Railroaders Have a Fatal Quarrel at 2 A. M.

Peter Reinmiller, a well-known D. S. & S. railroader, of town, was shot by an unknown Hungarian at 2 o'clock this morning at Ridge and North streets. He was taken to Hazleton hospital, where an examination showed that the ball entered the stomach, passing through the liver. He lingered in pain until 9 o'clock this morning, when he died.

Reinmiller and two companions were coming from South Heberton, and when at the point mentioned they saw two men a short distance ahead of them. One of the latter pulled a revolver and fired a shot in the air. As he did so Reinmiller and his friends rushed upon him to take the weapon.

In the melee that followed the revolver went off again, the ball lodging in Reinmiller's body. A stout stick in the hands of one of Reinmiller's friends was used vigorously during the scuffle, and the companion of the man with the revolver received a severe cut across the face.

The two men escaped and have not yet been captured. The injured man was immediately taken for medical treatment. Dr. Cloud and Dr. Monroe attended him, and after easing his pain a team was secured at O'Donnell's livery and he was taken to the hospital.

Reinmiller resided in the Coxie addition. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

Insulted a Miner's Widow.

On Friday a man drove up to the house of Mrs. Ruane, the widow of one of the entombed men in the Twin shaft at Pittston, and left a large box with the remark that "some one" had sent it to her. The man drove away, and the sorrowing woman, thinking some friends had anticipated the wants of herself and her eight children, broke open the box. The contents brought to light were of the most astonishing character. The box was filled with ragged and dirty garments, rusty bottomless pans, broken bottles, a large number of tracts, a number of ancient and musty school books and a sack of sour flour.

The poor woman was at first speechless with surprise, but regarding the affair as an insult to her in her sad condition, she was nearly wild with grief. Though poor the family have never been without the necessities of life. Their home is tidy and the children neatly dressed.

Marriage Bells Ringing.

The marriage of Thomas Oberender, of Drifton, and Miss Annie Kraft, of Hazleton, will take place at Hazle park on the afternoon of the 29th inst. in the presence a large number of invited guests.

An Upper Lehigh couple, Andrew Sotes and Miss Mary Huisli, will be married today at St. John's Slavonian Catholic church by Rev. John Stas.

Michael Demchak and Miss Annie Hanusik, both of Jeddo, were married on Saturday at St. Mary's Greek Catholic church by Rev. Cyril Golovick.

Will Level the Houses.

The town of Stockton, recently abandoned by Linderman & Skeer, is now being demolished, and it will only be a few days until every house in the once-thriving village will be razed. Some of the old residents refused to move out and the sheriff was called upon to evict them, but upon promising to move early this week they were left alone. As soon as the town is cleared of inhabitants, many of the old houses will be leveled. Three months ago Stockton had a population of over 1,000.

Boys Must Be of Lawful Age.

The officials of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company are enforcing the law regarding the employment of boys under twelve years of age in the mines and breakers. At Audenried, No. 4, a large number have been discharged, and similar rigid discipline will prevail at all the other collieries. There are hundreds of boys, under the lawful age, employed at the collieries. Other companies in this region may also decide to enforce the law.

And Right You Are.

From the Wilkesbarre Newsleader.

"There is a sign hanging out before a store in Freeland. It bears just '16 to 1'."

"What does that mean?" asked a McKinley man of the proprietor.

"It means that there are sixteen silver men to one gold man in this borough," said the proprietor "and don't forget it."

And this is about the ratio everywhere.

Died from Hydrophobia.

Dr. Wenner, a veterinary surgeon of Bloomsburg, died last week at his home at that place. Ten days previous he was bitten on the hand by a dog which he was treating, and before he died Dr. Wenner developed very pronounced symptoms of hydrophobia. Deceased was 36 years old, a skillful surgeon and very popular.

LLOYD IS CONTROLLER.

His Right to the Office Sustained by a Decision of the Supreme Court.

Among the supreme court decisions handed down last week was the case of Joseph D. Lloyd, of Wyoming, who was appointed by Governor Hastings on August 8, and later elected, as controller of Luzerne county, but whose title to the office was contested by the county commissioners, who declared the office unconstitutional and who were affirmed by the lower court. Lloyd then took the case to the supreme court, being an injunction to restrain the commissioners from paying bills, and demanding recognition and office room. The decision of the higher court makes Mr. Lloyd the controller, and declares the act to be constitutional.

The action of the supreme court in the case has caused much comment, as the act in question was thought by many prominent attorneys to be unconstitutional. The act was framed by County Solicitor Joseph Moore, who saw the need of a controller for counties of large population. After he framed the act in 1892, it was introduced by Senator Kline in 1893, and, after some changes, was passed. Abednego Reese, of West Pittston, was appointed controller. A test case was at once made of the law and it was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. Then the original act was submitted again in 1895 and passed. A test case was again made with the above result.

The county auditors have been ousted by the decision, and Messrs. Higgs and Morgan, who received the nomination at the recent Republican county convention, get nothing for their trouble even if they are elected. The terms of the present auditors will expire on January 1.

Mr. Lloyd proposes to arrange as soon as convenient to take possession of the office. His deputy will be Robert E. Donaghey, of Hazleton, and his chief clerk Harry Phillips, of West Pittston, whom he has selected in place of John M. Jones, who was nominated at the Republican convention for county commissioner.

Pittston's Investigation Ended.

The commission of mine inspectors investigating the Twin shaft disaster resumed its sessions on Thursday, at Pittston, and adjourned sine die in the afternoon. Attorney General McCormick was present, representing the commonwealth. No great interest was manifested in the proceedings, as the crowd was not so large as at previous sessions. Several men who were called for did not respond, and it has been intimated that they feared the "blacklist" if they told what they know about the mine.

The stenographer will write out the testimony and each member of the commission will be given a copy. They will read over this testimony and will then meet in order to compile their report and frame their recommendations. All of this will take five or six weeks. Mr. Stein stated that in all probability he and his associates would recommend radical changes in the mine laws.

Granted Foremen's Certificates.

The following applicants have been granted certificates by the mine foremen's examining board of this district: B. J. Carr, Eckley; John Evans, Hazle Brook; Anthony Reilly, Hazleton; Joseph J. Shaw, Upper Lehigh; William Edwards, Audenried; Charles A. Harvey, Eckley; John M. Williams, McAdoo; Daniel Craig, Eckley; Henry M. Sheers, Hazleton; Joseph Birkbeck, Silver Brook; Thomas H. Rawling, Audenried; John Gillespie, Drifton; Joseph T. Robertson, Milnesville; Patrick Kelley, Beaver Meadow; Arthur Watkins, Lansford; James Shovlin, Drifton; C. L. Hoover, Sandy Run.

The following were unsuccessful in their efforts to pass the examination: James Horlor, John Penco, Hazleton; Bernard McCauley, Silver Brook; John A. Reeves, John Stecker, Lansford; Simon Schneider, Stockton; Thomas Morgan, Gowen, D. M. Thomas, Beaver Meadow.

Ugly Rumors Are Abroad.

From the Lansford Record.

The board of examiners that will meet in Wilkesbarre next week to examine candidates for mine inspector for the fifth district should see that the best man is selected. With the Pittston horror yet fresh upon their minds, no candidate should be chosen at the behest of any political boss. We have no reason to believe that the board will allow any such influence to guide them, but ugly rumors are afloat. The safety of the men who toil in the mines is too sacred a matter to be trifled with. Let the applicant best fitted for this position win the prize.

BRYAN'S SILVER SPEECH.

HIS ELOQUENT DEFENSE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Views of the Candidate on the Leading Issue of the Day—Ready to Meet Gold Standard Men on Every Point—The Masterly Oration Which Nominated Him.

All that the imagination pictures of Demosthenes and Cicero, all that we have heard of the great orators of the English tongue, was realized.

The delegates sat as if enchanted. Henry George, who was present, said that Henry Clay himself could not have created so great a furor.

Following is the speech delivered by William J. Bryan in the Democratic national convention at Chicago that made him famous and that nominated him for the presidency:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention.—I would be presumptuous indeed to present myself against the distinguished gentleman to whom you have listened if this were but a measuring of ability, but this is not a contest among persons. The humblest citizen in all the land when clad in the armor of a righteous cause is stronger than all the whole hosts of error that they can bring. I come to speak to you in defense of a cause as holy as the cause of liberty—the cause of humanity.

When this debate is concluded, a motion will be made to lay upon the table the resolution offered in commendation of the administration, and also the resolution in condemnation of the administration. I shall object to bringing this question down to a level of persons. The individual is an atom—he is born, he acts, he dies—but principles are eternal, and this has been a contest of principle.

Never before in the history of this country has there been witnessed such a contest as that through which we have passed. Never before in the history of American politics has a great issue been fought out as this issue has been by the voters themselves. On the 4th of March, 1895, a few Democrats, most of them members of congress, issued an address to the Democrats of the nation, asserting that the money question was the paramount issue of the hour, asserting also the right of a majority of the Democratic party to control the position of the party on this paramount issue, concluding with the request that all believers in free coinage of silver in the Democratic party should organize and take charge of and control the policy of the Democratic party.

Three months later, at Memphis, an organization was perfected and the silver Democrats went forth openly and boldly and courageously proclaiming their belief and declaring that if successful they would crystallize in a platform the declaration which they had made, and then began the conflict with a zeal approaching the zeal which inspired the crusaders who followed Peter the Hermit. Our silver Democrats went forth from victory unto victory until they are assembled now, not to discuss, not to debate, but to enter the judgment rendered by the plain people of this country.

In this contest brother has been arrayed against brother and father against son. The warmest ties of love and acquaintance and association have been disregarded. Old leaders have been cast aside when they refused to give expression to the sentiments of those whom they would lead, and new leaders have sprung up to give direction to this cause of truth.

Thus has the contest been waged, and we have assembled here under as binding and solemn instructions as were ever fastened upon the representatives of a people. We do not come as individuals. Why, as individuals we might have been glad to compliment the gentleman from New York (Senator Hill). But we know that the people for whom we speak would never be willing to put him in a position where he could thwart the will of the Democratic party. I say it was not a question of persons; it was a question of principle, and it is not with gladness, my friends, that we find ourselves brought into conflict with those who are now arrayed on the other side.

The gentleman who just preceded (Governor Russell) spoke of the old state of Massachusetts. Let me assure him that not one person in all this convention entertains the least hostility to the people of the state of Massachusetts. But we stand here representing people who are the equals before the law of the largest citizens in the state of Massachusetts. When you come before us and tell us that we shall disturb your business interests, we reply that you have disturbed our business interests by your course.

We say to you that you have made too limited in its application the definition of the business man. The man who is employed for wages is as much a business man as his employer. The attorney in a country town is as much a business man as the corporation counsel in a great metropolis. The merchant at the crossroads store is as much a business man as the merchant of New York. The farmer who goes forth in
