Why Gold Men Support McKinley.

The gold men who have flocked to the support of William McKinley make no attempt to explain why he should receive their votes in preference to Bryan.

The Democrats give definite dates and unmistakable figures, but that is all wherein they differ from the Republicans. They say that gold and silver should both be coined in quantities limited only by the amount available for coinage.

The increase of insanity. Dr. Edwin A. Downe, of Connecticut, in an inquiry expert who has come to the fore with a paper in which he contends that insanity is not on the increase.

Those are plain historical facts, and should count more in assisting the common people of our country in forming their opinion than any amount of theoretical shrieking which gold advocates indulge in; and, after a proper investigation of the subject, the honest voters of the country, whose opinions are not warped by personal interests, should agree that if free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 will stop the government from bonding this country to the verge of bankruptcy, it will be worth a fair trial.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable.

There is no need to assume that William McKinley has given the gold men any assurance or intimation that he will repudiate his platform, which declares for bimetalism, or his previous record, which is also very favorable to silver.

Plain Facts Versus Theory.

"No case—abuse the plaintiff's attorney," is the settled policy of some lawyers when facts are altogether against them.

The most cursory glance at the attitude of the two money parties is sufficient to show that while the silver men in their appeal to the people bring forward reasons, whether good, bad or indifferent, to prove their case, the goldites, on the other hand, deal almost exclusively in adjectives to prove theirs.

What could be more simple or delightful? Get gold for your goods in England and then go off to the British dealer in silver bullion, buy 100 cents worth of white metal for 50 cents, ship it back to the United States and have it straightway coined into an American dollar.

Why will people shut their eyes to facts of history? When silver was coined at the ratio of 16 to 1 in the United States previous to 1873 silver bullion was sold at the same price in all civilized countries of the world, whether they had free coinage or not.

It should be further remembered by those who lack confidence in the ability of our country to maintain the parity of the two metals that today there is less known silver in the world, in proportion to gold, than existed at the time that the United States coined both metals and called both money.

For eighty-one years, from 1792 to 1873, we had bimetalism in America, and in all that time no man ever saw or heard tell of an American fifty-cent dollar. The silver coin which our government called a dollar was a dollar in every sense of the word, and was accepted as such at home and abroad as worth 100 cents in gold or anything else, for the simple reason that the amount of bullion contained in the coin could not be purchased in the open silver market for a fraction less than a dollar in gold, and at times it could not be had at that price.

Those are plain historical facts, and should count more in assisting the common people of our country in forming their opinion than any amount of theoretical shrieking which gold advocates indulge in; and, after a proper investigation of the subject, the honest voters of the country, whose opinions are not warped by personal interests, should agree that if free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 will stop the government from bonding this country to the verge of bankruptcy, it will be worth a fair trial.

A WORLD WRECKER.

The astonishing progress of electrical science is neatly satirized by a Parisian paper, which imagines Mr. Edison in his laboratory hearing the news of a declaration of war between Great Britain and the United States.

"Oh, master, war is declared! It is terrible!" "Ah!" says the master. "War declared, eh? And where is the British army at this moment?" "Embarking, sir."

"The British army is embarking, sir." The inventor pulls out his watch and glances at the time. "There is no British army," he says, coolly.

"What?" screams the assistant. "When you touched that button you destroyed it." "Oh, this is frightful!" "It is not frightful at all. It is science. Now, every time a British expedition embarks at any port please come and tell me at once. Ten seconds afterward it will simply be out of existence; that's all."

"I am inclined to believe you," says the master, smiling slightly. "But in order to avert future trouble I think it would be best to destroy England altogether."

"To—to destroy England, sir—?" "Kindly touch button No. 4, there." The assistant touches it. The inventor counts ten.

"Eight, nine, ten—it's all over. There is no more England." "Now we can go quietly on with our work," says the master. "And if you should ever be at war with any other nation, you have only to notify me. I have an electric button connected with every foreign country, which will destroy it when pressed. In ten minutes I could destroy every country in the world, the United States included. Be careful, now, that you don't touch any of these buttons accidentally—you might do a lot of damage."—Philadelphia Ledger.

What is CASTORIA.

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children.

Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves.
