PLUTOCRACY LAUDS IT.

Vale College Students Commended For Insulting Bryan.

Here are the remarkable editorial views of the New York Sun upon the conduct of the Yale students in breaking up the Bryan meeting at New Haven. Beyond calling attention to the simple fact that The Sun is the leading organ of the New York pluteeracy comment is unnecessary:

"They ought to have done it, and the sentiment to which they gave utterance was honorable to them. The boys made a great noise, cheering for McKinley and yelling and jeering at repudiation,

New System of Handling Grain

Storage Tanks and Pneumatic ubes Are Now Being Largely Used in the Transportation of Cereals.

Steel storage tanks for grain are rapidly taking the place throughout the country of the old wooden elevators, and pneumatic tubes are used to convey the grain from the place of the storage to the mill. whereas formerly it was wheeled in barrows over bridge-between the buildings or through underground tunnels.

The proper storage of grain for milling purposes has for many years been a question of the first importance to milliers and mill owners. Fire was the ondestroying element most dreaded, and the erection of wooden elevators for storage purposes near the mills greatly increased the fire risks, and in consequence the item of insurance was by no means a small one.

The erection of air-tight, steel storage tanks or bins for grain in place of thold wooden structures not only does away with all danger from fire, but it is claimed that it preserves the grain for an indefinite period of time and also makes impossible the presence of weevils or other vermin so destructive to grain in storage. There being no inflammable material used in the construction of these steel tanks, there is no need for insurance, and mill men claim that within six or seven years the saving of insurance alone will more than pay for the first cost of the construction. Two of these steel storage tanks are now in operation at Toledo O., where they have proved even a greater success than was anticipated.

With the air-tight steel tank taking the place of the old-fashiohed elevator comes the new method of handling the grain. The steel Kas are connected with the mill by immense steel tubes and air pressure moves the grain as it is needed from the storage tank to the mill. The system could not be put in operation with the old-style elevator, but the tubes are now in practical operation at Connersville, Ind.

The machinery used in this pneumatic system is extremely simple in construction and requires very little power to operate it. By a system of air currents the grain falls into a receiver and air pressure moves the grain into the air-tight stora

Tony Farrell in "Garry Owen."

Tony Farrell in "Garry Owen."

Tony Farrell will no doubt be remembered by the public through his numerous appearances in various characters which he presented during the last few years. His fame as an able actor and delineator of Hibernian character parts was more especially established by the finished and excellent manner which he portrayed in "My Colleen," which characterization was so well given that it was made a matter of general comment from press and public alike. Tony Farrel appears this season in a new play, "Garry Owen," which is termed an Irish comedy drama, and has unusually interesting story running through the play. It is entirely unlike the ordinary run of Irish dramas, as the author was particularly careful to avoid utilizing any of the old conventional and threadbare features, which generally pervades these plays. His aim was to present a clean natural comedy, and he endeavored to garnish his work with a goodly portion to the charming songs, and massions and live in restet demension of the question of free colouge, now high political honors should be given to those who want them only for the title those who want them only for the title those who want them only for the title through the political content of the cannot present one solitary cases for voting for the Equation of the question of the cannot present one solitary to accomplish the political content of the question of the ques
