A French Funny Man Writes a Take-Off on Edison.

The astonishing progress of electrical science is nearly satirized by a Parisian paper, which imagines Mr. Edison in his laboratory hearing the news of a declaration of war between Great Britain and the United States. A young man, his assistant, rushes in, pale and out of breath, and exclaims to the great electrician:

"Oh, master, war is declared! It isterrible!"

"Ah!" says the master. "War declared, el? And where is the British army at this moment?"

"Embarking, sir."

"Embarking where?"

"At Liverpool."

"At Liverpool."

"At Liverpool fere against the wall? That's right. Now bring them to me. Good! And be kind enough to press that button."

The assistant, wondering and half annused, presses the button.

"Very well," says the inventor.

"Now, do you know what is taking place at Liverpool?"

"The British army Is embarking, sir."

The inventor pulls out his watch and

The inventor pulls out his watch and dances at the time.
"There is no British army," he says,

There is no British army," he says, coolly.

"What?" screams the assistant.

"When you touched that button you destroyed it."

"Oh, this is frightfull."

"It is not frightfull at all. It is science. Now, every time a British expedition embarks at any port please come and tell me at once. Ten seconds afterward it will simply be out of existence; that's all."

"There doesn't seem to be any reason why America should be afraid of her enemies after this, sir."

"I am inclined to believe you," says the master, smiling slightly. "But in order to avert future trouble I think it would be best to destroy England altogether."

"To—to destroy England, sir—"

"Kindly touch button No. 4, there."

The assistant touches it. The inventor counts ten.

"—, eight, nine, ten—it's all over. There is no more England."

"Now we can go quietly on with our work," says the master. "And if we should ever be at war with any other nation, you have only to notify me. I have an electric button connected with every foreign country, which will destroy it when pressed. In ten minwith every foreign country, which will destroy it when pressed. In ten minutes I could destroy every country in the world, the United States included. Killed While Helping a Comrade.

An accident resulting from singular cause cost the lives of two men and the fatal injury of a third at Packer colliery, No. 2, at Girardville, Monday aftermoon. Thomas Welsh, of Lost Creek; John Hallaran, of Gilberton; Joseph Staum, of Lost Creek, and Michael Nack, of Lost Creek, were at work in the mine. Welsh had been engaged in 'robbing' pillars. He had driven a hole in the face of the breast, in which he put his blast. He applied the match to the squib and hastened away for a place of shelter.

He had gone but a few feet when a He had gone but a few fect when a large lump of coal rolled down on his foot, pinning him fast to the ground. Momentarily expecting the explosion of the blast, he cried for help. The other three men were working near, and, disregarding the danger to themselves, they ran to Welsh's rescue.

They had scarcely reached him when the blast exploded, bringing down with it a mass of coal upon the men. Hallaran and Staum were crushed to death and Welsh fatally injured, while Nack was fortunate in eseaping with slight injuries.

Fast Ride to Philadelphia.

From the Philadelphia Record.

A record-breaking run over the Lehigh Valley and the Reading Railroads was made on Sunday by a special train, which the officials of those companies tendered to Charles Emory Smith and and William M. Singerly, who had spoken at a sound money meeting in Wilkesbarre on Saturday evening. Leaving that city at 10 a. m., the train, which consisted of an engine and two cars, crossed the mountains and rushed down the valley of the Lehigh river to South Bethlehem, a distance of 87.7 miles, in just two hours and a half. There it was transferred to the tracks of the North Penn branch of the Reading. There it was transferred to the tracks of the North Penn branch of the Reading, and was speeded over the 57 miles to this city in just 63 minutes, reaching here at 1.33 p. m. At times the train reached a speed of 76 miles an hour. The time from Wilkesbarre to Phila-delphia, 3 hours and 33 minutes for 144 miles, is the best ever made over this distance, which abounds in heave grades distance, which abounds in heave grades distance, which abounds in heavy grades and sharp curves.
