A Fashionable Blowout.

A Fashionable Biowout. At one of the most fashionable country places within 20 miles of New York, where everyone is "high up," and where to business of any kind is allowed, not even the erection of a market, a pienle was recently held, reports an exchange of that city. In the course of the afternoon the weather grew cold. It was an affair for grown-up people. The children had been left at home. It was one of these social functions the like of which Ward McAllister instituted at Newport. Some man mentioned a on when ward are distributed instituted at Navport. Some man mentioned a drink, but said: "I don't suppose only member of this party except myself had the courage to bring a flask." No sooner had he handed his out than every other layman in the party flashed his, at which there was a general laugh. The halles especially enjoyed it. One of the men remarked that it was a pity the women could not earry flasks so that the drinks could not carry masks so that the drinks might be longer, whereupon every blessed woman in the crowd pulled out a flask. They were beautifully enam-eled things in gold and silver and precious stones. The sally that greeted this amazing exhibition—every married man in the party knew his wife had a flask—was turned to a lauch at the exmain in the party knew his whe had a flash—was turned to a laugh at the ex-pense of the dignified rector, who was present. He stood it for some time, then nearly broke up the affair by haul-ing out from his hip pocket a half-pint bottle of a rusty brownish color.

IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS. Treaties Made by Uncle Sam with

e Negotiations Preceding the Rough Draft Are Ceremonions and Long-Winded, Very Often Consum-ing Many Years.

Winded, Very Ofren Consum-ing Many Years. ISpecial Washington Letter,] The newspapers have been filled with speculations and inquiries concerning the treaty obligations existing between this country and Spain which stand in the way of the recognition of the bel-ligerent rights of the insurgents. Un-doubtedly the majority of our people have earnestly sympathized with the particles of the insurgents. Un-doubtedly the majority of our people have earnestly sympathized with the particles of the interfere in the interest of humanity and of patriotism. President Cleveland has strictly ob-served the international law in such cases, and has also complied with the treaty agreements between the two countries. According to the conity of nations this country could not inter-fere in Cuban affairs without ample provocation, because the other eivilized nations of the world might have some-thing to say on the subject. The pow-ers of the nations are well balanced, and it is to the interest of every nation to prevent the extension of arbitrary power. Upon this principle the Monroe doctrine is based. No power in Europp shall extend its possessions upon the American continent without the con-sent of the United States. Treaties are necessities of modern eivilization. When an occasion arises which requires an agreement between the United States and any foreign power, the minister or ambassador rep-resenting that nation at Washington confors with our servertym of state, and erders and directions from his government. Immediately thereafter letters are exchanged between the diplomatic representatives of the two governments, and everything is made a matter of record. Moreover, according or diplomatic usage no typewriting or printing is allowed, but all of the cor-respondence is carried on with pen and in. After full correspondence, and a com-

A treaty between two great nations is a solemn obligation, and therefore a great deal of time is taken in giving consideration to all of the points ander discussion. Concessions made to-day may prove embarrassing 50 or 100 years hence. Therefore diplomats must dip into the future far as human eye can see, and foretell if possible the effect which the various provisions of the treaty may have upon the succeeding generation. Consequently it is not to be wondered at that the processes are elaborate and the proceedings pains-taking on the part of both governments Some treaties are intended to be bind nberry, tomassi and 8 so a maximum day. # Ing indefinitely, and some are entered into merely for a specified period of time, but treaties are usually intended to be lasting. As soon as a treaty is completed in every sense of the word, and proclamation has been made, the public printer at Washington prints 500 copies of it for the use of the de partment of state; because the depart-ment sends a copy to each of its repre-sentatives in the country with which the treaty has been made. Copies are also sent to all of our diplomatic officials who may be in any way affected by the treaty, so that all may be proper-ly informed and govern themselves ac-cordingly. The great seal of the United States is affixed to the original rulified copy, to the exchanged copy, and to the proclamation of the treaty. It is stamped on a wafer of white paper and is stuck to the document with muci-lage. The seals of South Ameries countries are similarly affixed, but the treaties with European countries are always scaled in wax. The sealing of a treaty is a formal-ity of vast importance, and every na-tion carefully guirds its seal so that it cannot be improperly used. The great seal of the United States is under lock-and key in the department of state, and is always closely guarded, so that it is practically impossible that anyone shall ever get an imprint of it. The east is a lie made by a prominent Jew-ery firm in New York, and it is regard-ed as one of the most beautiful seals in the world, in point of skilled workman-ship as well as in its design. Treaties are regarded as of such con-dential importances that they are never divalged before the time for their proclamation. Newspaper cor-respondents will resort to all manner of devices in order to get advance copy of a treaty. In 1572 the whole world was astounded when the New York Tribune published in advance a full copy of the preading "Washington treaty. With Great Batian.
