meet her future husband. The latter was anvited by young Bullard to spend a vagation at West Sutton.

After they had known one another but a very short while they became betrothed, though she was not 18 years of age and he was about the same age. It was not until seven years later, however, when Beecher had already been ordained and called to his first charge at Lawrenceburg, Ind., that they were married. For two years
Mr. and Mrs. Beecher remained at Lawrenceburg, where they lived very frugally, for Mr. Beecher' is noome was none of the largest.

Mrs. Beecher has told of their early experiences in housekeeping. They had little money. Boarding was not to be thought of, for it would have swallowed up her husband's income. At last they found two rooms, dirty beyond description, which had formerly been occupied by a laborer and his wife. Having cleaned the rooms thoroughly, they next fell to seeking furniture.

Starting Housekeeping.

Mrs. Beccher has given a vivid description of how they picked up a study table and chair here, a scrap of old carpet there and all the other little things that were necessary to furnish their new apartments. Sometimes it was the remains of an old bookshelf found among the rubbish that had been thrown into the back yard as kindling wood, which was carefully cleaned and varnished and placed against the wall of Mr. Beccher's study, sometimes the remains of an old coat, good for nothing olse, which was carefully cleaned and converted into a table cover. So by degrees they succeeded in making themselves a home.

Schnitzer's clothing was torn, but he was unhurt. The police are so far at a loss to determine the cause of the explosion.

President McKinley, accompanied by his mother, attended the Metropolitan Methodist church in Washington yesterday. The sermon was delivered by Bishop John P. Newman. The president was cheered by the crowd as he alighted from his carriage. Two thousand people were unable to gain admission to the church.

As to Revenue,

While a large annual surplus of revenue may invite waste and extravagance, inadequate revenue creates distrust and undermines public and private credit.

Neither should be encouraged. Between more loans and more revenue there ought to be but one opinion. We should have more revenue, and that without delay, hidrance or postponement. Tariff Taxation.

The country is clearly opposed to any needless additions to the subject of internal taxation and is committed by its latest popular utterance to the system of tariff taxation. There can be no misunderstanding, either, about shall be levied. Nothing has ever been made plainer at a general election than that the controlling principle in the raising of revenue from duties on imports is zealous care for American interests and American labor. President McKinley refers briefly to the lesson taught by the late election, which, he says, is "that the citizens of the United States are both law respecting and law abiding people, not casily swerved from the path of patriotism and honor."

"Our naturalization and immigration laws," he says, "should be further improved, to the constant promotion of a safer, a better and a higher citizenship." In referring to international commerce the president says, "angress should give prompt attention to the restoration of our American merchant marine, once the pride of the seas in all the great ocean highways of commerce."

It has been the uniform practice of each president to avoid as far as possible the convening of congress in extraordinary session. the unlikelihood that the present proposals of the powers will terminate a state of revolution.

Regarding the proposition for autonomy under Turkish suzerainty, the reply says:

"As autonomy would not fulfill the noble aim of the powers it is obvious what must be the situation of the unhappy island from today until the establishment of autonomy. If the powers persevere in their decisions in the face of the foregoing views, then, in the name of humanity as well as in the interests of Crete, the pacifying which is the unique object of the solicitude of the powers, we do not hesitate to appeal to them on the subject of another measure proposed by them—namely, the recall of our troops.

Ready to Withdraw Fleet.

"Indeed, if the presence of the foreign squadrons and the conviction that they prevent the landing of Turkish troops are deemed to render unnecessary the presence of the Greek fleet in Cretan waters, the presence of the Greek army in Crete is nevertheless shown to be desirable alike from sentiments of. humanity and in the interest of a definitive restoration of orier.

"Duty forbids us to abandon the Cretans to the merey of Mussulman funaticism and to the Turkish army, which always deliberately and intentionally has shared in the aggressive acts of the populace against the Christians. Moreover, if cism and to the Turkish army, which always deliberately and intentionally has shared in the aggressive acts of the populace against the Christians. Moreover, if our own troops, which are worthy the full-st confidence of the powers, had received a mandate to pacify the Island, their desires and intentions would have been promptly received with the most perfect satisfaction. Then, order being restored, it would be possible to ascertain the freely expressed desires of the Cretans for a decision as to their fate. The sorrows which have regularly occurred in Crete for many decades not only profoundly agitate the Hellenic people, but interrupt also all social activity and gravely disturb our domestic economy and the finances of the state. Even if we admit the possibility of forgetting for a single instant our community with the Cretans in religion, race and blood, we could not in silence allow the great powers to assume that the Greek state is able longer to resist such shocks. "Therefore we appeal to the generous sentiments animating the powers, and we beg them to permit the Cretan people themselves to declare how they desire to be governed."

To. Give Greece More Time.

LONDON, March 10.—The communications which Lord Sallsbury wired to the powers concerning the reply of Greece to the collective note of the powers have resulted in the concurrence of France and Italy with Great Britain that correive measures toward Greece should be delayed and negotiations continued at Athens. A telegram received at the foreign office from Rome states that the Italian government considers the Greek note of too negative a character to justify the powers in taking immediate action. Sunday.

Spain Forcad to Release Scovel.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—General Fitz Hugh Lee, consul general of the United States at Havana, has cabled Secretary Sherman that General Weyler had ordered the release without trial of Sylvester Scovel, an American newspaper correspondent confined at Sancti Spiritus.

This is the first triumph of the new diplomacy of the United States toward Spain.
Mr. Scovel's release, however, was only effected after it was made known to the Spanlsh government through its minister here that if any harm befell him the United States would take prompt measures for redress.

Want Free Rides.

ALBANY, March 9.—The senate of New York has passed the bill which provides that there shall be issued to the state officers, their deputies, the senators and assemblymen and the clerks of each house certificates allowing their transportation upon all railroad lines in the state during their terms of office. The bill passed by a vote of 27 to 12. Those voting in the negative were Senators Brackett, Cantor, Coffey, C. Davis, Foley, Guy, Higgins, Krum, Nussbaum, Page, Stranafan and White.

Bram Sentenced to Death.

Bostos, March 10.—Sentence of death has been pronounced on Thomas Mead Bram, the convicted murderer of Captain Charles I. Nash of the barkentine Herbert Fuller, by Judge Colt of the United States circuit court. June 18, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., was set as the time for execution by hanging. When asked if he had anything to say, Bram made a short address to the court, protesting his innocence, and closed with the words, "Thy will be done."

Arbitration Treaty Safe.

Washinotron, March 10.—According to very good authority, the foreign relations committee of the senate, as soon as it gets ready to take up the arbitration treaty, will yield to the solicitations of President McKinley and Secretary Sherman and approve the convention with but one change, and that will be made to satisfy the senate, that its power to permit or reject any scheme of arbitration shall not be taken away from it. by the Fanatical Mussulman.

ATHENS, March 9.— The Grecian cabinet las sent its reply to the demand of the powers. It is conciliatory in tone but resolute, and, while expressing a willingness to withdraw the Greck fleet from Cretan waters, insists that the land force shall remain on the island to protect the Christians from pillage and ransacare by the Mussulmans. Reference is made to six precious insurrections in Crete and it argues the unlikelihood that the present proposals of the powers will terminate a state of revolution.
