STATE CAPITAL LETTER.

THE BUSINESS THAT PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATORS ARE DOING.

A Number of Important Bills Introduced and Considered—Management of Departments Declared All Right—School Term and Libel Bills Killed.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 2, 1897.

The principal topic of conversation about the capital last week were the suits against Dr. S. C. Swallow. The first suit of the soldiers' orphan commissioners, the verdict acquitted Mr. Swallow, but placed upon him the costs. The second trial was that of John C. Delaney, superintendent of public grounds, against Dr. Swallow. In this the preacher-editor was convicted. A motion for a new trial has been made and if that is lost the case will be appealed to the supreme court. Opinion is very much divided over the result. One thing is very evident, and that is that most of Dr. Swallow's testimony was hearsay, and much of his information has been secured after his arrest, showing that he had not fully prepared himself for the result, before his libelous article was published.

Steps towards final adjournment have been taken by the adoption of a resolution from the rules committee limiting all speeches to five minutes. The house now holds only one session a day, from 1 to 6 p. m.

A bill to prohibit members of the legislature from receiving mileage while serving on committees under a penalty of $500 for the first offense and $1,000 for every subsequent offense was introduced by Mr. Rhodes, of Berks. Mr. Campbell, of Fayette, presented a bill to require every candidate for public office to file a sworn itemized statement of the election expenses within ten days after the election. Statements of candidates for congress, state senator, legislature, judge and other offices to be filed by the electors of the state are to be filed with secretary of the commonwealth and all other candidates with protonotaries. The statement shall give the names of the persons who receive money, specify the nature of each item and the purpose for which it was expended or contributed. Violation of the act is punishable by a fine not exceeding $500, or not more than one year's imprisonment.

Senator Mitchell, of Jefferson, has struck a blow against the public exhibition of photographic reproductions of prize fights. This is to prohibit the exhibiting, more expressly, the fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

The committee to investigate the state treasury and auditor general's office has made its report. It says the management of the treasury and auditor general's departments are all right. The latter office is in need of clerical assistance and the recommendation is made that the legislature enact a law, authorizing the appointment of a delinquent clerk whose duty it shall be to look after the delinquent corporations in the matter of taxpayers. About the state treasurer, the report finds that the state is amply protected by the full amount of the state treasurer's bond; that under the present law he and his bondsmen are responsible to the commonwealth for any loss that may occur by reason of the failure of any banking institution where state funds are deposited. He has unlimited power, in the matter of selecting depositories in which to place state funds. An examination of the bonds held by the treasurer shows them to be properly executed and that the principals and sureties to fully protect him.

During the early part of the session a bill was presented changing the minimum school term from six to seven months. This measure has been up at every session, for the past ten years, and has always been knocked out by the rural members. Twelve years ago the term was increased, from five to six months and no legislation on this subject has since been able to get through. It was shown during the argument that twenty-seven other states in the union have longer school terms than Pennsylvania and that 28 per cent of the schools in this state are kept open only six months, the required time. The discussion lasted two hours, when the bill was again defeated by a vote of 92 to 78.

The libel bill adopted by the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association, upon which several meetings were held and addresses made by Col. A. K. McClure and Charles Emory Smith, has been killed and buried out of sight. A righteous indignation of the newspapers of the state should be called down upon this legislature for thus wilfully defeating the just demands of the press.

A new legislative apportionment bill has been introduced by Mr. Patterson, of Blair. Allegheny county gains four members, Cambria, Lackawanna, Blair, Jefferson, Clearfield and Luzerne one each, while the counties of Adams, Chester, Crawford, Lawrence, Somerset, Bedford, Clarion, Huntingdon, Mercer, Wayne, Bradford, Columbia, Lancaster and Schuylkill each lose a member.

Last week I stated that the house had put itself on record as being opposed to Governor Hastings' plan for a new capitol building. Since then the house has completely reversed itself. A lengthy conference has been held between Governor Hastings and the senate and house building committees and the result is that a practical agreement has been reached. The building will be erected on the lines suggested by the governor and will cost in the neighborhood of $550,000, erected, but not decorated or furnished. The contract will have to be awarded by August 1, and the building completed by November 1, 1898.

One of those "reform" measures that were recently introduced to prohibit some of the evils existing in Philadelphia, met its Waterloo during second reading. The bill prohibited the soliciting or collecting of political contributions from city employes. It was stated during second reading that the measure was intended to reform Philadelphia, after which the house, by a decisive vote, decided that if it was such an excellent thing for that city the state-at-large should not be disappointed by not getting a large slice of this fatness of reform. This started a flow of oratory and amendment after amendment was tacked on to the bill until when it was passed it did not resemble the original measure in the least.

The senate is so far ahead in its work that it has adjourned until Monday afternoon.

Since Dr. S. C. Swallow's trial he has come out in a public letter to Governor Hastings, in which he again charges corruption and appeals to the executive to remove these erring officials. His communication is scathing from beginning to end.

OBSERVE ARBOR DAY.
Under the auspices of the School Boards Fitting Celebrations Could Be Held.

The first of the Arbor Days designated by Governor Hastings in his recent proclamation falls upon Friday next, and the second, which is to be observed wherever the weather is unsuitable on the 9th, comes two weeks later, April 23. Those interested in tree-planting are not obliged to accept either date, but may choose a day for themselves. The governor, however, in selecting certain dates wishes to give the matter a distinctive and general observance throughout Pennsylvania, and it is nearly time that this important question is receiving greater attention in this locality than has been given it in the past.

Under direction of the local school boards, the teachers of the public schools could do wonderful work in impressing upon their pupils the necessity of protecting and fostering the growth of trees, shrubs and flowers. It is something in which the children can be interested in at once, and the knowledge they will gain by participating in a few celebrations under the auspices of the schools would be lasting.

Freeland and Foster school boards ought to act in the matter and direct their teachers to prepare a programme for the latter date, April 23. Should a start once be made, the custom would become an annual event, and in a few years the effects of education in this direction would be felt here as fully as they have been elsewhere. The expense, if any, that might be attached to the observance of the day would be merely nominal, and there are those in the community who will cheerfully bear more than their share if the movement is successfully inaugurated. The following extracts from the governor's proclamation are worthy of consideration:

This custom of annually fixing a day to be celebrated as Arbor Day has spread into every section of the country. The value of these celebrations has been abundantly manifested. The ceremonies have created increasing interest in the growth and care of trees, and have quickened the appreciation and importance of forest preservation. The necessity of covering with a new growth of trees the otherwise useless area of our state is apparent in every section. To this end our law makers have appropriate legislation in progress. Young and old more than ever appreciate that there is not a spot on earth which may not be made more beautiful by the help of trees and flowers. School grounds have been adorned, the surroundings of the home have been beautified, public parks have been multiplied and the landscapes and charming scenery of Pennsylvania may yet be made still more attractive. We are rapidly passing from a destructive to a constructive policy. We have learned the lesson that trees and the forests are essential to our continued prosperity, and he who plants a tree, whether boy or man, he is a public benefactor.

Let the people choose the day which they deem best suited for tree planting and teach the children how to select trees for fruit, for shade, for fuel and for timber; how to plant, protect and foster the several species of trees, vines, shrubs and flowers, and how to use all these for economic and aesthetic purposes. Let every pupil learn that the forests do, how they learn the rain and the snow, feed the springs and the rivers, stay the floods and the freshets, and temper summer's scorching sun and winter's chilling blasts. In the orchard and the field, about the home and along the highway, upon the school grounds and on the barren hillside let the trees be planted for use and for beauty, thereby adding to the charms of life in beautiful Pennsylvania.

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.

John Novak and Andrew Vouch; brothers-in-law, were terribly injured by a blast at Upper Lehigh, stripping, while at work on Thursday. The men had prepared a blast and inserted a squib, which they ignited. It spluttered, but failed to go off in the usual time. After waiting quite a while they returned to the breast to make an examination, when the powder exploded with terrific force. Novak and Vouch were thrown fully thirty feet in the air, by the force of the explosion, and landed some distance away, terribly bruised and burned. Novak has been taken to Hazleton hospital for treatment.

The Upper Lehigh members of the Young Men's Corps have under way an entertainment to be given at Freeland opera house on Easter Sunday evening.

Patrick O'Brien, whose leg was broken in the mines on February 18, is slowly recovering from his injuries. He may be able to leave his bed next week.

Miss Annie O'Neill has resigned her position in Hazleton and will leave for Philadelphia next week.

John C. Mulligan and Charles Keenan spent yesterday in Summit Hill.

Miss Hannah Ferry was a visitor here on Thursday last.

Damage Suits in Court.

The first suit growing out of the terrible disaster at the Twin shaft at Pittston in June last was entered in court on Friday in the case of Maggie Ward, widow, and Anna, Thomas and Daniel, Jr., children of Daniel Ward, deceased. The suit is against the Newton Coal Company; $20,000 damages is claimed.

M. J. Doyle, a newspaper reporter of Pittston, has entered a suit against Pittston city and asks for $5,000 damages. Mr. Doyle was coming from the depot at midnight several months ago and fell into a hole in the street, breaking his leg.

Patrick Dowd, of Hazleton, has entered suit against the Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill Railroad and asks for $25,000 damages for personal injuries. Dowd was conductor on the trolley car struck last fall by a locomotive at Hazleton Junction.

Flora Ferguson has begun a suit for slander against William W. Shaw. The parties reside in Lehman township and the plaintiff alleges that he uttered false and scandalous words which greatly injured her good name. She asks for $5,000 damages. Shaw is known here as "Tombstone Bill."

Postoffice Business Increasing.
Business at the Freeland postoffice was never better than at present. The receipts for the fiscal year, which ends June 30 next, will probably be sufficient to warrant an advance of $100 per annum in the postmaster's salary after that date. Postmaster Boyle, under whom this increase has been earned, will not reap much benefit from the advance in salary, if his time is as short as some of his Republican friends propose to make it. Should the advance mentioned be made, it will date from July 1, 1897, and by that time it is claimed a Republican will be installed. Mr. Boyle's term does not expire until September 7, of this year.

The increase of business, however, demonstrates that Freeland is growing rapidly, despite the severe depression in all kinds of business.

Society Elects Delegates.
One of the largest meetings ever held by the Young Men's C. T. A. B. Corps took place yesterday at their hall. It was the date for electing delegates to the annual diocesan convention of the C. T. A. Union, to be held next month at Nanticoke, and thirteen candidates presented themselves for the honor. The corps decided to send a full representation, its membership entitling it to three delegates, and the following were chosen: Michael J. McGill, William Doggett and John McCole, Jr.

Delegates to the quarterly convention, to be held here on the 25th inst., were elected as follows: Wm. F. Gallagher, James Cannon and Morris Ferry, Jr.

Lecture Tickets in Great Demand.
The diagram for the lecture of Dr. Stafford, of Washington, who will speak here on the evening of the 26th, will be opened at Woodring's store on the 16th inst. Tickets, which can be exchanged for seats chosen from the diagram, are now being sold by members of the Tigers Club. The demand for tickets is surprisingly large, over 100 having been disposed of since Saturday morning. From present indications it is likely that the entire house will be sold several days before Dr. Stafford's arrival.

A Change in Public Taste.
A change has taken place in the public taste in these latter days. Plays of the "blood and thunder" order are now back numbers. Studies of typical characters presented by competent and painstaking artists seem now the delight of the people. Foremost among this class of plays is "Old Farmer Hopkins," to be presented here Thursday evening by that capable and original artist, Frank S. Davidson, and his superb company. It is a delightful idyl of rural life, intelligently interpreted, the effectiveness of which is greatly enhanced by a lavish display of costly scenery.

Epidemic of Colliery Misfortunes.

The epidemic of accidents which has thrown hundreds of miners out of employment during the last three weeks is not yet over. On Friday the Maltby breaker of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, near Kingston, was burned to the ground and 750 men and boys were thrown out of work. How the fire originated is a mystery. The breaker was equipped with modern machinery and its capacity was about 1,600 tons per day. It will be rebuilt at once. The loss is $85,000 and the insurance amounts to $50,000.

The big Nottingham mine at Plymouth is temporarily abandoned on account of the floods from the Avondale. The latter has been abandoned as workmen are unable to cope with the water coming in from the river. Four immense pumps, with a capacity of 3,000 gallons per minute, will be put in operation at the Nottingham. All the miners are seeking work elsewhere.

A fire was discovered in No. 3 mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company at Hazleton Thursday afternoon. The big doors regulating the air current were ablaze, but fortunately was discovered in time and promptly extinguished. It is alleged the fire was the work of incendiaries.

Coal Combine Squeezing Everybody.
Anthracite coal accumulated at tide-water during March. The production for April has been fixed, as announced in the Tribune a week ago, at 2,500,000 tons, against 3,000,000 tons last year. This is on a basis of an annual output of 30,000,000 tons, against 43,000,000 last year and 46,000,000 in 1895. Coal companies are getting more per ton for coal than last year, but they are selling considerably less than at any other period in the trade. Hundreds of large manufacturing concerns are remodeling their plants so as to use soft coal, gas or oil, being unable to pay the exorbitant price for anthracite which the coal trust demands.

The individual operators are again taking an interest in the tollage question. The charges for carrying anthracite to New York or Philadelphia are over three times the amount levied on first-class perishable freight, and it is not unlikely that the law may be invoked to put a stop to this unjust discrimination. Since the death of Hon. E. B. Cox the individual operators lack a leader, and in consequence are being squeezed by the combine to the full limit.

Sportsmen's Club Gives Prizes.
One of the chief features of the meeting of the Luzerne County Sportsmen's Club was the division of the four prizes that the club offered to the persons killing the largest number of vermin between March 31, 1896, and March 31, 1897. The prizes were $40, $30, $20 and $10. During the year just ended nine persons, in different parts of the county, took an interest in the good work to exterminate animals and birds included in the category of vermin. Quite a number of birds and animals were killed by these people and the total for the year is as follows: Catamount, 1; foxes, 26; weasels, 38; minks, 31; skunks, 181; great-horned owls, 10; common owls, 4; hawks, 93.

The prize winners are as follows: First, Nelson Morse, Harding; 348 points. Second, D. D. Long, Harveyville; 335 points. Third, C. W. Schooley, West Nanticoke; 287 points. Fourth, G. H. Huff, Dallas; 48 points.

The work of the exterminators was highly satisfactory to the club.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J.
