Hidden Places.
Why a weasel should hate a rat is strange, as he is only an elongated rat himself. Rats and mice love hidden places, and a weasel is about the only living thing that can find them out. Aches and pains are like rats and mice. They seek out the hidden places of the human system and gnaw and ravage the muscles and nerves. St. Jacobs Oil, like a weasel, knows how to go for them. It will penetrate to the secret recesses of the pain, and breaks up its habitation and drives it out. Rats and mice, and pains and aches once fairly driven out by St. Jacobs Oil are permanently cured and seldom come back to their old haunts. There must be patience with the treatment, some chronic forms are stubborn and resist, but the great remedy will finally conquer and give health and strength to the afflicted parts.

Pistols and Pestles.
The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of Ayer's sugar coated pills. They treat the liver as a friend, not as an enemy. Instead of driving it, they coax it. They are compounded on the theory that the liver does its work thoroughly and faithfully under obstructing conditions, and if the obstructions are removed, the liver will do its daily duty. When your liver wants help, get "the pill that will."

THE CURE OF DIABETES.

A Case Successfully Treated in Madison County, N. Y.

From the Press, Utica, N. Y.

On the recommendation of Mr. William Woodman, of South Hamilton, New York, that Mr. Amos Jaquays, a resident of Columbus Centre, New York, be interviewed regarding his extraordinary recovery from advanced kidney trouble, embracing diabetes in its worst form, Mr. Jaquays was visited and willingly made the accompanying statement:

"I am fifty years of age, and five years ago began to suffer with pains in the back and weakness in the region of the kidneys, and I had a tremendous flow of urine. Strange to say, my appetite increased to an extraordinary degree, but instead of giving me strength my food seemed to make me weaker and thinner, and I was terribly constipated. My mouth was pasty, I had continuous heartburn and pain across the lower part of my stomach and frequent vomiting. Indeed, all or nearly all my functions became impaired, my sight was dim, memory deserted me, and life became irksome. I consulted the best medical talent in the county, but they all diagnosed my case as sugar diabetes in its most aggravated form, but gave me no relief whatever. At last I was in such a desperate condition that a council of physicians was called, but their good offices did me no good, and I looked forward to death with satisfaction as the only relief I could expect.

"My old friend, William Woodman, about this time came to me, and from him I first heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which he declared had cured him of rheumatism, with which he had suffered all his life, and he begged me to try them. I was far from being in a case of diabetes being cured by their use. I believe it was next day after Mr. Woodman's visit that Mr. F. Hyde, of South Hamilton, New York, called on me, and I was told by him that Pink Pills had saved his life and he advised me by all means to try them.

"I settled the question, and I at once began a course of home treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Within a week the medicine began to do its work, the constipation was relieved, my skin, which had been dry and hard, assumed its normal feel and appearance, I no longer had that insufferably bad taste in my mouth, and though still weak and almost helpless, the pain in my back and kidneys began to abate and the flow of urine decreased. But I was far from health, and built very few hopes on permanent cure, though I continued to take the pills constantly for the next year and a half, growing slowly but surely during that time better and better. Then I began to reduce the daily dose, and kept mending until six months ago, when I discontinued them, and I was entirely cured.

"I am still subject to cold, which is apt to settle in my kidneys, and always keep Pink Pills by me, as they bring me round very quickly. In all, I have, I believe, taken fifty boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and shall never be without them as long as I have half a dollar. I have recommended them to all my suffering friends, and they seem to be good for any disorder of the system, as they have never failed to do their work in any case that I know of, and some were pretty low.

"I certify the above statement to be true in every particular, and if I commanded stronger language, I would use it in praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"AMOS JAQUAYS,"
Mr. Jaquays is a highly respectable and well-to-do farmer and builder, and highly connected in Madison County.

The proprietors of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills state that they are not a patent medicine, but a prescription used for many years by an eminent practitioner, who produced the most wonderful results with them, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves, two fruitful causes of almost every ill to which flesh is heir. The pills are also a specific for the trouble peculiar to females, such as nervous prostrations, all forms of weakness, chronic constipation, bearing-down pains, etc., and in the case of men will give speedy relief and effect a permanent cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. They are entirely harmless and can be given to weak and sickly children with the greatest good and without the slightest danger. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by address, Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

FASHION FORECAST.

WHAT THE DRESSY NEW YORK WOMEN WILL WEAR.

Stylish Gowns for Street Wear—Several Complete Costumes Described—Jaunty and Fashionable Headgear.

(Special New York Fashion Letter.)

H, soon will come the time, Husband or father, dear, When all your womankind will most Solicitous appear.

They'll cook your favorite dishes, Fine compliments they'll pay; And all your fondest wishes Will carefully obey!

Am I know you not the reason? Why, really now, you ought; Fine dresses for the springtime Must speedily be bought!

I wonder why it is that, realizing as we do that summer is inevitable, we invariably leave the ordering of our new season's gowns till the very last moment, and then because we all want them made at once, and in the shortest possible space of time, we have to exercise a considerable amount of patience. When once the new fashions are settled on, there is nothing to gain by waiting, and yet I find myself, in spite of all this moralizing, one of these same procrastinating sinners who never by any chance awake to a full sense of their responsibilities, till it is forced upon them that they have not a gown which is fit to wear.

However, I am sure, we all mean to improve so I'll help by describing the several very chic gowns illustrated on this page.

That becoming Eton suit, the perfection of what a spring costume should be, is made of canvas weave novelty material in a combination of green and tan. The skirt hangs exceedingly well and is lined with a rich tan glace silk. The little jacket is smart enough to witch the heart out of any woman and then an appliqued Jark stone gray closely woven chevrot, marked in tiny square blocks by threads of the same color.

The novelty of the jacket is in the way the revers widen at the bust line, for generally they grow narrow at the bottom and extend in points at the shoulders. These revers are faced with a heavy gray tulle silk in a lighter shade than the cloth and they are finished with a dainty cording of black trimming of light tan cloth adds considerably to its effective appearance. It is worn over a two-tone taffeta silk blouse confined at the waist under a pointed girle made of the material edged with a fold of the tan cloth.

silks in a fancy design.

The bottom of the jacket is smartly cut and edged with braid while the jaunty little side pockets have patch covers, in cut and finish similar to the edge of the jacket. The sleeves are especially well-shaded and are trimmed with a neat cording. This "study in gray" is completed by a gray straw hat adorned with exquisitely shaded plumes. Paradise aigrettes of black droop over each side of the brim and an immense bunch of velvet pannes resting upon the hair at the back complete this fascinating bit of headgear.

The jacket suit next shown is an ideal of smartness from the edge of its corduroy bound skirt to the tip of the tastefully stitched collar. The material of which it is fashioned is an open weave novelty of deep brown cross-barred with two heavy threads of white, and over the entire surface is powdered tiny spots of green that make the combination most fascinating. The pretty strapped front and seams and the smart stitching on the collar and edges of the jacket all aid in making the costume as well as one could imagine.

The hat that accompanies this suit has a large crown of geranium red novelty straw to which is fastened a finely shirred brim of red liberty satin finished at the edge with a double ruche. A wealth of black plumes droop over the left side while the right is adorned with a bunch of geraniums surrounded with the beautiful foliage provided by nature.

Equally attractive in design and finish is the fourth suit depicted. The cloth used is one of the new Napoleon blues and its trimming consists of strands of the material exquisitely stitched and showing the unmistakable handiwork of an expert tailor.

The gracefully hanging skirt is garnished with a stitched strap down each side and the tight fitting waist is similarly finished.

Land Telegraph and Cable Rates.

Telegraph rates vary greatly in this country owing to the immense distances. In many of the smaller countries of the old world a uniform rate is made for any point within the given country, but it would be manifestly unfair to the American telegraph companies if they were compelled to send a message from New York to San Francisco for the same rate that they charge for a message from New York to Jersey City or from Chicago to Evanston.

As a rule, the minimum rate for a day message of ten words in this country is 25 cents. A message from Chicago to Boston costs 50 cents, while New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore have a 40-cent rate. The highest rates from Chicago are those for points in Southern Florida—85 cents. It costs only 75 cents to telegraph to any point in California or Oregon, and the rate for New Orleans is 50 cents.

Cable rates are so much per word, instead of per message of ten words, and the figures are very much higher. Messages to England, France and Germany cost 31 cents per word, from New York. Belgium's rate is 36 cents; Holland and Italy, 33 cents; Austria, 49 cents; Greece, 41 cents; Egypt, 62 cents; Switzerland, 36 cents; Sweden, 45 cents; Turkey, 43 cents and 53 cents; Russia, 49 cents.

The Cuban war has greatly increased the volume of telegraphic business in the West Indies. The lowest rate is 40 cents per word for messages in Havana. Other Cuban points are higher, and no town in the West Indies outside of Cuba can be reached for less than $1.05 per word. Messages to Porto Rico cost $1.85 per word.

Central American rates range from 50 cents (Guatemala) to 75 cents (Costa Rica and Nicaragua). South American rates take a big jump upward. Brazilian messages cost from $1.35 to $1.87 per word; British Guiana points cost $2.17.

Communication with Australia is expensive. Queensland reaches the highest figure, $2.62 per word, while South and West Australia rates are $1.47. Messages to China cost $2.02 per word, and the same figures apply to Corea. Japanese rates are $2.27 per word; Java, $1.53; Formosa, $2.27; India, $1.29; Madagascar, $1.70; New Zealand, $1.58; Philippine Islands, $2.51; Siam, $1.41.

Algeria can be reached for 38 cents per word, the minimum rate for the Dark Continent. East Africa rates are $1.54 to $1.61, while South African points range between $1.58 and $1.70. West African points, as a rule, range above $2, while it costs $3.02 to send a word to Mossameles from Chicago—more than to reach any other telegraphic station in the world direct.

However, a message to Bassidor or Lingah costs the Chicago sender $1.19 per word to Jark, Persia, and $1.76 extra for special dispatch boat line from that point.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Oyster Shell Mountains.

The waters of Maryland produce one-third of the oyster supply of the world. It yields twice as many of the luscious bivalves as are grown in all foreign countries combined, says the Philadelphia Times. During the present season it has put on the market 400,000,000 bushels of the toothsome mollusks. These have sold for the enormous sum of $250,000,000. Almost all of this country is dependent for the abundance and cheapness of this edible on the supply of the Chesapeake. From here come also nearly all of the oysters used for canning. In fact, the output of this industry in Maryland is equal to one-sixth of all the fisheries of the United States put together.

The quantity of oyster shells landed upon the shores of Maryland during the last century has been reckoned at 12,000,000 tons. Until very lately the canning firms had much trouble in getting rid of the shells, having to pay, in fact, for the removal of all that they could not give away. Recently, however, they have been able to sell them.

They are now shipped to all parts of the country and are utilized variously for roads, for lime and employed in making coal gas. They have been found also to serve almost as well as stone in the manufacture of special grades of iron for railroad beds. Cultivators of oysters also employ them, having found that they afford suitable surfaces for young oysters to attach themselves to. They are likewise used to some extent as chicken food. They are very good for hens, the shells of eggs being largely made of them. The trade received $25,000 in a single year for the empty shells.

Starfishes are the oysters' worst enemy. Other animals the young bivalves have to guard against are crabs and boring snails. They are also in danger of being stifled by the mud. In Pacific waters sting rays are their most dreaded foes. The little crab that lives in the shell of the oyster has always excited much interest. It is found on about five per cent. of the bivalves. It is a sort of parasite of the oyster, whose shell protects it, and whose feet supports it.

Long-Armed Visitor.

A firm of Chicago fish dealers received an octopus in a box of halibut from Puget Sound. It was sent to the firm for a Lenten display as representing the devil in his banishment. It measures nine feet from tip to tip of its tentacles and weighs forty pounds. It will be mounted and prove a great advertising card.

Restored His Hearing in 5 Minutes.

My age is 63. I suffered from Catarrh of the Ears for 10 years. Had intense headache, continual roaring ringing in ears, tooth cold easily. My hearing began to fail, and for three years was almost entirely deaf, and continually grew worse. Everything I had tried failed. In despair I commenced to use Aerial Medication in 1888, and the effect of the first application was simply wonderful. In less than five minutes my hearing was fully restored, and has been perfect ever since, and in a few months was entirely cured of Catarrh. His Brown, Jacksonville, Tenn.
