The greatest depression exists at Athens. There is a complete collapse of the high hopes raised by the optimistic dispatches of Constantine, but as yet there are no disorders. While the battle was in progress the government vainly endeavored to get at the exact position and the number of casualties, but Constantine sent only evasive replies. Very feeble were the shouts raised when additional troops started yesterday for the front. The Athenians are completely disheartened.

The Bradley Martins Are Happy

The Bradley Martins Are Happy.

New York, May 15.—The Tribune of this city this morning has the following:

"The Bradley Martins are in the seventh heaven of delightful anticipation. In a letter written to an intimate friend in this city and received yesterday Mrs. Bradley Martin writes: "You may well imagine how delighted we all are at the prospect of a child being born to the Earl and Countess of Craven. The happy event will take place early in July. The countess is in excellent health and is with the earl at Coombe Abbey." The Countess of Craven, formerly Cornelia Martin, was married to William George Robert, fourth earl of Craven, on April 18, 1895, in Grace church of this city.

TRIED TO KILL EX-SENATOR.

Life of J. R. McPherson.

New York, May 19.—Ex-Senator J. R.
McPherson, president of the Western stockyards, Jersey City, who lives at the Windsor hotel, came near being shot by a blind man in the Aldridge building, 149 Church street, yesterday. The ex-senator has an office on the fourth floor of this building, and about 10 o'clock William B. Van Aken of 15 Tenth avenue, who is supposed to be

It appears that Van Aken has a long

It appears that Van Aken has a long standing grievance against McPherson. As far back as 1878 McPherson bought some land in New Jersey from Van Aken and paid him for it. Van Aken appears to have been content with the bargain for nearly 20 years, for he never said anything until about three months ago, when he started an action against the ex-senator for the recovery of something like $283.000, which, he alleged, was owing to him. Mr. McPherson was asstounded at the claim and repudiated it.

son was astounded at the claim and repudiated it.

He had never seen Van Aken until he presented himself in his office in the Aldridge building. He did not-recognize his visitor when he came in.

After some conversation he said he had come to settle the suit and was referred to the ex-senator's lawyers.

Van Aken then attempted to draw a pistol, but was prevented by the exsenator's secretary, who disarmed him after a struggle.

He was arrested and held for the

THE TAILORS' STRIKE.

Disaffection Among New York Garment Makers Is Spreading.

New York, May 19.—Meetings have been held in all the big east side halls, at which garment makers generally discussed the strike question. The preponderance of opinion seemed in favor of adopting aggressive measures to force the contractors, and incidentally the manufacturers, to grant better wages.

force the contractors, and incidentally the manufacturers, to grant better wages.

At a conference of committees representing the United Brotherhood of Tailors and the Progressive Tailors it was decided that the latter, numbering 2,500, would go on strike.

Leader Schoenfeld, who presided at the conference, said he anticipated a general strike, involving at least 35,000 garment workers in this city, Brooklyn and Brownsville.

The Knee Panis Makers', Veat Makers' and other affiliated unions are expected to fall in line before the end of the first week of the strike.

Over 400 contractors met and after a protracted discussion of the situation decided to appoint a committee to confer with the strike leaders. This was taken as an indication that the contractors are willing to take sides with the strikers in the matter of forcing the manufacturer to pay higher prices, thus enabling the contractors more.

At a meeting of hat makers it was decided to formulate a new price list and ask for a reduction in the toil hours.

It is reported that the shirt makers

Another Bank President Indicted.
St. Paul, May 18.—Another sensational indictment in the bank cases was reported by the grand jury. The Allemania National bank was among those which failed during the past winter and into whose affairs, the grand jury had been looking, and this indictment was for grand larceny against Albert Scheffer, president of that bank. The ground for the charge is an overdraft of his personal account to the amount of $6,000. The Allemania closed its doors because of a run inaugurated after some other banks had failed and has been going through the preliminary steps for reorganization. Another Bank President Indicted.

Dimensions of the Craft.

The Holland is 50 feet 3 inches long, with a 4 foot screw protecting extension. Its diameter is 10 feet 3 inches amidships and the molded diameter 10 feet 3 inches. It can travel under water eight knots an hour for eight hours and ten knots on the surface.

The power comes from a gasoline engine and a dynamo, the latter to be used when submerged and the former when the boat is sailing along on the surface.

It will take barely one minute to submerge the boat and not much longer to raise it to the surface of the water.

The armament consists of three torpedo tubes, one at the upper bow of the boat being an aerial torpedo thrower to raise it to the surface of the water.

The armament consists of three torpedo tubes, one at the upper bow of the boat being an aerial torpedo thrower, with a range of one mile. Six projectiles, weighing 180 pounds each, with charges of 100 pounds of explosive, are to be stored for this gun.

Almost directly beneath the torpedo thrower is an expulsion tube for Whitehead torpedos. Gnly three of these torpedos will be carried, as each one weighs $50 pounds. At the stern of the boat is a submarine gun which, with a 100 pound charge of explosive, can hurl a 409 pound projectile 100 yards or more through the water. Five of these projectiles will be carried.
