FORMATION OF PARADE.
First division forms on Washington street, right resting on Main.

Second division forms on Front street, right resting on Washington.

Third division forms on Centre street, right resting on Front.

Fourth division forms on Main street, right resting on Centre.

Fifth division forms at Lindsay's hall.

ROUTE OF PARADE.
Parade will move at 1:30 o'clock from corner of Main and Washington streets to Carbon, to Centre, to Walnut, to Birkbeck, thence to Freeland cemetery, where the graves of veterans will be decorated.

CEMETERY EXERCISES.
After the decorating ceremonies the following programme will be rendered at the Soldiers' Monument:

Chairman—C. O. Stroh, Esq. Opening Prayer—Rev. J. W. Bischoff. Music—Freeland Mandolin Club. Singing—Glee Club. Oration—J. M. Carr, Esq. Singing—Glee Club. Music—Mandolin Club.

MORNING PROGRAMME.
The Post will meet at Post headquarters at 7 a. m. and will move in a body to St. Ann's cemetery, accompanied by the G. A. R. drum corps, when the decorating ceremonies will be performed there. Delegations will also be sent to Upper Lehigh and Eckley to decorate the graves of departed comrades. The delegations will arrive at Upper Lehigh and Eckley at 8:30 o'clock.

DRIFTON ITEMS.
Favorable replies to the invitations sent to the athletic associations of the Lehigh region have been received by the Fearnots and delegations will be present from all the surrounding towns at the ball in Yannes' opera house tomorrow evening. The ball gives promise of being a thorough success. Every lover of the national game should assist in making it such.

Cards containing the following warning, and signed by the Cross Creek Coal Company, have been posted: "All persons engaged in the sale of intoxicating liquors of any description, illegally, on or about the premises of the Cross Creek Coal Company, will be vigorously prosecuted, according to law."

According to orders issued last Saturday the colliers here are scheduled to work next Saturday. It is likely this will be changed, as Memorial Day has heretofore been diligently observed by the Drifton companies.

The Cox families have arrived from Philadelphia and have taken up their residence here again.

John McCole, of Ridge street, Freeland, received slight injuries in No. 2 mines yesterday.

Today is pay day.

DEATHS.
Chambers.—At Freeland, Ethel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers, aged 2 years and 5 months. Interred yesterday at Freeland cemetery.

J. Bellezza has a very large assortment of ladies', gents' and misses' shoes.

Delicious, wholesome pies can be had from the minge meat sold at Oswald's.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Directors Agree to Discontinue the Case Against the Boys.

The school board met last evening in special session with Messrs. Timony, Sweeney, Ferry and Rute present. The latter was chosen president pro tem. The object of the meeting was to settle with Tax Collector Malloy.

The collector's exoneration list was presented. It contained names of many persons who cannot be found in the town, also the names of a few in town who take quite an active part in political and other movements, but who will not pay tax. The board carefully examined the list and allowed all the exoneration except seven. These they thought ought to be made pay the $10.70 they owe, and the collector will get after them again. Including this amount Mr. Malloy's balance due the school district is only $87.70.

Messrs. Bell, Eastwood, Donop and Dougherty, parents of the boys who broke into the Washington street school building a short time ago and destroyed a lot of books, etc., appeared before the board and asked that the directors be lenient with them, as it was the boys' first offense. They asked to have the matter settled out of court.

It was agreed that the board should discontinue the prosecution of the boys and have the matter settled. The parents agreed to see that the boys behave themselves in the future.

St. John's Pastor Resigns.
Rev. H. A. L. Benner, pastor of St. Reformed church for the past five years, intends to give up his position. On Sunday next he will preach on the subject, "How Long Should a Pastor Serve a Charge," during which he will give the congregation satisfactory reasons for his action. Rev. Benner has two calls to other churches, but has not decided which he will accept.

On Sunday, June 6, trial sermons will be preached at St. John's church by Rev. R. A. Most, of Philadelphia—German in the morning and English in the evening. In the afternoon he will preach at Eckley. If Rev. Most gives satisfaction it is quite probable that he will be asked to accept the pastorate.

Big Mortgage on the Valley.
The Lehigh Valley Coal Company has executed a mortgage for $8,000,000 to the Hard Life and Trust Company upon its hitherto unmortgaged anthracite coal lands in Schuylkill county, its terminal property at Chicago and other real estate valued at a much larger sum than the mortgage. Of the $8,000,000 bonds thus created $3,000,000 will be retained in the treasury of the company and $5,000,000 will be delivered to the railroad company to repay advances that corporation has made. The railroad company will deposit the bonds with the other collateral as security for the new collateral trust loan soon to be brought out under the auspices of Drexel & Co.

Hillman Breaker in Ruins.
On Tuesday evening the old Hillman breaker, located in Plains township, collapsed and fell in a heap of rotten timber. The crash was heard some distance away. It came when the rain poured in torrents. A number of men were returning to their homes from work but had luckily passed on before they sought shelter, instead of standing under the old breaker, as was the general custom. Had they taken refuge there some fatalities would have resulted. The breaker was built many years ago and has been abandoned for some time.

Asked to Resign or Withdraw.
Clerks of Courts J. L. Wagner has asked his chief deputy, W. B. Koons, formerly of Sandy Run, to either resign his position or withdraw as a candidate for the Republican nomination of clerk of courts. Mr. Wagner is a candidate again, and he does not take kindly to any opposition coming from within his official household. Mr. Koons' answer has not yet been made public. His friends claim he has a sure grip on the nomination and would gain nothing by withdrawing from the contest.

Investigating a Breaker Fire.
From the Hazleton Plain Speaker.
The Lehigh Valley Coal Company officials are very suspicious that some one set fire to the breaker at No. 4 Jeanesville several weeks ago. A Jeanesville party was accused and brought before the officials but when the man was confronted with the charge he wept and declared his innocence. There is no direct evidence that the fire was of incendiary origin, but the officials are conducting an investigation.

Colored Man Attempts Suicide.
A colored man named Gordon, originally from Georgia, tried to commit suicide on Monday by throwing himself on the track in front of a train near Pittston. A bricklayer rescued him. Gordon says he came from Scranton on Sunday evening and asked for something to eat at ten, or twelve different houses, but was refused. He was hungry and despondent and resolved to end his life.

The Harvey hotel, at West Nanticoke, was burned on Tuesday morning. There being no fire-lighting apparatus at hand the building and its contents were totally destroyed, including $190 in cash. The loss is about $5,000, half covered by insurance.

The plays presented each evening by the Macculey-Patton Company draw large audiences. Good houses have been the rule so far this week. The admission, 10 cents to any part of the house, is very low, considering the ability of the players.

William Schrage, a well-known merchant at the county seat, died suddenly on Tuesday from apoplexy. He went home from his store and told his wife he was not feeling well. The next moment he fell on the sofa gasping for breath and was dead in five minutes.

Rain interfered somewhat with the attendance at the ball of the Tip Top club on Monday evening. However, those who did attend were well repaid, as it was one of the best masquerade affairs of the season. A pretty bouquet was given with every programme. The march was led by Thomas Moses and Miss Rachel Beisel.

Young Boy's Leg Broken.
While on his way home from St. Ann's parochial school yesterday afternoon, John Tully met with a serious accident. He was riding on the rear of a buckboard with several companions, and in some manner his right leg slipped between the spokes of the wheel and broke it below the knee. The little fellow was immediately taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Tully, on Adams street, where the injury was treated.

ASSAILED ROCKEFELLER.

A Missionary From China Scores the Standard Oil Magnate.

Pittsburg, May 25.—There was a genuine sensation at the Baptist convention now in session here. The Rev. W. H. Cossum, a missionary from China, was called upon to tell of the work in his foreign field. As he mounted the platform the delegates settled themselves comfortably for a two hour address on foreign missions. What they got was a rather sensational address on John D. Rockefeller. It was a rhetorical bombshell.

"I know that what I am about to say will not please all of you," said Mr. Cossum, "and I may displease many of you. But I am bold to say what I believe to be right. I must say what is burning within me. It is this: What our denomination needs is not rich men, but holy men. A New York millionaire has offered us a great gift. I say that great gift should not be accepted unless John D. Rockefeller first makes confession to the American people. We must accept no money that does not come from clean hands. Let Mr. Rockefeller purify himself and bring in this gift as a righteous, God fearing man, and then we can accept it."

"I know I am not saying what Dr. Duncan wanted me to say, but I am not Dr. Duncan's man. He knows it, too, but he is not here just now so that I can tell him so. I am aware that what I have said is not the sentiment of the body, but I am bold enough to say what I think should be said regardless of what the world may think."

As the speech closed with these words a little ripple of applause started, but quickly subsided. It was evident that the delegates were taken by surprise.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Kennard of Chicago made a spirited defense of Mr. Rockefeller, asserting that the great millionaire is a devout Christian and not a mere worshiper of wealth. He scored Mr. Cossum for his attack on Mr. Rockefeller and hinted that the young missionary would learn moderation with increased experience in the work.

The Rev. Dr. H. Moorhouse, on behalf of the Home Mission society, expressed his disapproval, censured Mr. Cossum and spoke of Mr. Rockefeller as the noble benefactor of the Baptist denomination.

The Rev. Mr. Grant of China, a friend of Mr. Cossum, defended his colleague, and the debate became heated. A motion to adjourn was made and quickly passed. Upon the fall of the president's gavel a babel of tongues broke loose, the delegates discussing the sensational feature with animation.

Paying For the Investigation.
Harrisburg, May 26.—The bill to pay the expenses of the senate committee which was appointed to investigate the municipal affairs of Philadelphia passed the senate finally by a vote of 28 to 11. When the bill came before the senate, Mr. Kaufman, an anti-Quay senator, vigorously opposed the measure and presented an itemized account of the expenses of the committee. The bill asks for an appropriation of $65,907.96.

Cabinet Crisis in Peru.
Lima, Peru, May 26.—A cabinet crisis is probable, and it is believed that Enrique Bustamante y Salazar will be the premier of the new cabinet. He was a member of the Candamo provisional government of 1895.

THE DYNAMITE PLOT.

PENNSYLVANIANS ON TRIAL FOR TRYING TO BLOW UP A FAMILY.

That Is the Accusation Against the Prisoners—Former Congressman Levi Waller and Mrs. Samuel Knorr Were, It Is Alleged, the Intended Victims.

Bloomsburg, Pa., May 26.—Lloyd S. Wintersteen and Clifton Knorr have been placed on trial before Judge Eremontout Berkey in Lehigh county, charged with making an attempt by dynamite upon the life of Levi E. Waller and his family.

District Attorney Graham of Philadelphia, for the prosecution, and J. H. Jacobs, for the defense, examined the jurors, and 12 men were secured after a list of 48 had been run through.

Knorr and Wintersteen were called upon to plead to seven different indictments, comprising 15 counts. Knorr pleaded guilty to all the counts; he will have no trial. Wintersteen pleaded not guilty. He says he can easily prove his innocence. Case No. 1 charging Wintersteen with intent to commit murder by exploding a dynamite bomb, was the first one called.

Levi Waller, upon whose life the attempt was made, is a son of an eminent Presbyterian divine and was a member of the legislature from this county. He is a brother of David J. Waller, late superintendent of public instruction in this state.

Mrs. Waller, whose life was also endangered by the explosion, is a daughter of former United States Senator and Congressman Charles R. Buckalew, who was also United States minister to Peru and who was defeated by Harrtranft for governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wintersteen has a large law practice and is also actively interested in the Bloomsburg Car company, Bloomsburg Brass and Copper company and Keystone Foundry and Machine company. He is a man of ample means.

A charge of dynamite was exploded on the porch of the house of Levi E. Waller, a leading attorney of Bloomsburg, on the morning of Sept. 1, 1896. Part of the building was torn away.

The explosion was directly beneath Waller's window. He and his wife, who were asleep in bed, were stunned for more than an hour. The whole country rose up in indignation, and a reward of $1,000 was offered for the dynamiter.

Waller's hatred of him and told his suspicions to a detective.

The Arrest of Knorr.
On Christmas day Clifton Knorr, young, well connected, refined, a graduate of Lehigh university and free from any criminal associations, was arrested in Reading and placed in jail at Bloomsburg.

Knorr made a clean breast of all the villainous dealings which, he said, he had had with his prompter and employer, Lloyd S. Wintersteen. The latter was arrested too.

Wintersteen, Knorr said, had hated Waller for several years. It began in a social feud and was carried into law-suits. Colonel Samuel S. Knorr, Clifton Knorr's father, and Wintersteen had been partners in the latter having commenced the study of law as the colonel's student. They made investments together, the most important being the controlling interest in the Bloomsburg Iron company, acquired in 1887. The colonel died in 1889. The mill did not prosper.

Wintersteen had acquired two-thirds of his partner's stock and was buying for the remainder when the widow, Clifton Knorr's stepmother, made legal complaint of mismanagement. Waller was her counsel, and the suit grew more bitter every day. Other suits followed.

Clifton Knorr was not on his mother's side, though he lived under the same roof with her. Wintersteen had lent him money from time to time, and it is said, could do what he pleased with him. Knorr said Wintersteen frequently declared to him that Waller ought to be put out of the way. Dynamite was several times suggested.

Finally Wintersteen offered Knorr, as the latter says, several hundred dollars after the dynamiting was done, and $5,000 or $6,000 after his suit against Mrs. Knorr for money loaned was ended. He told Knorr where to get the dynamite in a quarry toolhouse. Arrangements for the explosion were perfected in September in Reading. Knorr told how he put the dynamite under Waller's porch, lit the fuse and escaped to Reading.

Knorr twice put poison—a powder—into his stepmother's cup at Wintersteen's suggestion in December, 1895, as the confession says. The servant girl saw him and emptied it out without telling her mistress. In January, 1896, Wintersteen suggested killing her by diphtheria germs, Knorr said, and they were purchased by mail from New York.

But the conspirators found they would have to inoculate Mrs. Knorr, and knew no way to do it. The stepson scattered the germs over her dress, but they had no effect.

Exclusive Forest Wild Beasts.
Any one of the many rare wild beasts and amphibia exhibited only in the enormous Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. combined natural kingdom collections would be grandly and profitably carried by ordinary menageries. Nowhere else will you see a school of trained seals and sea lions, a monster, two-horned Samatra rhinoceros, giant hippopotamus, snow-white polar bear, African eland, Ethiopian gnu or horned horse, adult Orizoco tapir and splendid Niger antelope. Associated with these are three herds of educated elephants and every wild beast worth showing. The date of exhibition at Wilkesbarre is Monday, May 21.
