BIG TREASURY DEFICIT.

LEGISLATORS LOOKING FOR A PLAN TO GET MORE REVENUE.

After Having Squandered Millions of Dollars in Unnecessary Salaries, Junketing Tours and Shady Contracts the G. O. P. Now Intends to Increase Taxes.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 28, 1897.
A deficit of nearly two millions by November 30 is the prospect of the condition of the state treasury. Some means will have to be provided for the prompt relief of the treasury, or the legislature will not get away from here all summer. Money must be provided for in some shape or form, as the appropriation bills will be held in committee until the money to pay them is provided for. The worst part of the affair is that every plan that is suggested meets with opposition from some quarter, but something must be done to raise more money.

The situation is indeed imperative and the leaders are at a loss to know what to do. As a last recourse it is believed the legislature will be forced to place an additional mill on the personal property tax for the state only. It is claimed this is the simplest method and the one from which returns can be most quickly derived. This condition of the treasury was brought before the legislature at the opening of the session, but little attention was paid to it; it was allowed to drag along until now, near the end of the term, a climax is reached. There doesn't seem to be any idea of cutting down expenses to meet the increased demands. The majority of the members do not want to return to their constituents with a record for increased taxes, at this time, and here is the rub.

Last week a bill of nearly sixty thousand dollars was presented to the legislature to pay for the "Lexow" investigation into the Philadelphia management. This investigation was created for political purposes, has amounted to nothing, and to ask the state to pay this bill at this time is one of the greatest injustices yet propounded by wily politicians. The chances are that the bill will pass, and if there is much more such legislation presented and passed by this legislature the state will soon be in a fit condition for a great political upheaval. Why look at those celebrated reform measures that were thrust upon the Republican state convention in 1895. Not one of them will ever pass this legislature in their original shape. They were started on this course through the house, when during second reading all were so badly mutilated that had they been allowed to proceed they would all have been defeated—and all this by the very persons who created them.

The governor has vetoed the following bills: Enlarging the competency of the wife to testify against her husband; authorizing the publication of 10,000 copies of the report of the Indian forts commission; authorizing the controller of the city of Philadelphia to appoint his chief clerk as deputy controller; increasing the salary of the members of the board of revision of taxes in Philadelphia from $4,000 to $5,000 a year, and authorizing the organization of societies to loan money to the poor at the rate of one per cent a month.

Governor Hastings has signed the act to punish breaking into school houses or school properties; the act prescribed a penalty of $100 fine or six months in jail. The act to regulate bone boiling and fertilizer establishments was also signed, with that validating bonds in certain cases; also a bill providing for a house of detention for juveniles in Philadelphia.

Several weeks ago I spoke about a fifty-thousand-dollar insurance scandal. Ever since the committee was appointed to investigate, there has been an air of mystery about the doings of certain members of the senate. There seems to be a noticeable anxiety on the part of a number of members to get out of Harrisburg until this stench disappears.

These bills have passed finally and go to the governor for his signature: A bill providing that no employes of bake shops shall be compelled to work more than six days a week; that the plumbing of bake shops must be in accordance with the rules and regulations governing house drainage and plumbing; that the floors must be cemented and that all rooms used for baking purposes must be thoroughly ventilated; that no cellar or basement shall be used and that sleeping rooms must be kept separate from rooms where materials are stored for use; no person having consumption or contagious diseases shall be employed in such establishments. The factory inspector is charged with the enforcement of the act.

The Weller bill to protect employes of corporations in their right to form, join and belong to labor organizations also goes to the governor.
The Central Railroad of New Jersey reports gross earnings for the four months ending April 30 to be $3,524,138, a decrease of $188,835 as compared with the corresponding period of last year, and net earnings for the same period $1,039,919, a decrease of $56,015.

A new bill has been presented in the house appropriating one million dollars to rebuild and improve the public roads ## of the state under the supervisor system proposed by the Hamilton road bill.

The bill giving the trolley companies the right of eminent domain was killed. The bill requiring counties to pay the cost and expenses of apprehending and returning a fugitive from justice charged with or convicted of felony was defeated. The Keator ballot reform bill also went down. The bill relative to the indemnity bonds given by sheriffs was defeated. The bill making a uniform poor system throughout the state met death also. The bills to prohibit the public exhibition of hypnotism, mesmerism or bruidism, and the supplement to the act of May 23, 1895, regulating the collection of taxes in cities of the third class, were defeated.

These bills met death in the senate: An act making it compulsory for hotels and other buildings to be provided with fire alarms; permitting Philadelphia to increase her indebtedness by 3 per cent.

Board of Health Meeting.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Health on Friday evening the silk mill cess-pool was again discussed. The health officer stated he had been treated very courteously by the company, but that no action, apparently, had yet been taken in the matter. The building over the cess-pool has been closed by order of the Board, and suit against the company will be entered if the building is used before the cess-pool is made water-tight.

Messrs. Malloy and Sosnowski were appointed to wait on the council and request that body to assist the work of the Board of Health by passing an ordinance making sewer connections compulsory wherever possible and have the work done under the direct supervision of the Board.
Two years ago the same appeal was made to the council. An ordinance was then framed by the borough solicitor, but for some reason did not pass. The Board is confident that the present members of the council will see the necessity for a compulsory measure, for as the amount of surface drainage is decreased just so far will be the health of the borough enhanced. The Board regrets to report that some property owners have not their own and the interests of others enough at heart to go to the expense of making sewer connections unless they are compelled.

Property owners and tenants are advised to thoroughly clean their cellars and whitewash the walls. Also, now that the warm weather is coming, all privy-vaults and cess-pools should be cleaned and a disinfectant, obtainable from the health officer, added.

Another Breaker Burned.

About 1 o'clock Tuesday morning fire was discovered in the Fuller breaker in the lower part of Wyoming. The flames spread rapidly and in a little over an hour the big structure was in ashes. The origin of the fire is not known. The loss will be about $50,000. The breaker was built in 1882 by an individual operator named Fuller, from whom it takes its name. Subsequently it came into possession of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company. After working it a number of years the D. L. & W. abandoned it. Then it remained idle for a number of years. About a year ago the Wyoming Coal and Land Company, a Scranton corporation, leased the property.

This is the sixth breaker to be destroyed by fire in Luzerne county in a little over a year. A singular thing in connection with the burning of the breaker is that it is the third destroyed in one place. The first was burned, then the Malby and now the Fuller—all situated within about three miles of each other.

Will Return to Anthracite

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company will shortly make a change in the fuel used by its passenger locomotives. Some time ago bituminous coal was adopted for all engines except those running into the Reading terminal at Philadelphia. This proved so objectionable to the traveling public that orders have been issued to return to anthracite as soon as the necessary supply of hard coal can be secured. The freight and coal engines will continue to use soft coal. If the Lehigh Valley will issue a similar order the traveling public will be satisfied.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

The following is from the Hazleton Sentinel of Thursday last:
From two officials in the employ of Coxie Bros. & Co., and men in position to know, we learn that no new breaker is to be built in Drifton.

As the first intimation of this great improvement was given to the public through this column, we ask the Sentinel to keep its eyes open and it will learn that the "men in a position to know" do not know all that is transpiring about them. The present intention of the powers is to build the breaker and the plans for the same are being rushed.

Edward Gallagher, employed as a driver in Oakdale mines, was injured quite seriously last week by being caught between a car and a prop. He was riding in front of an empty tip when the first car jumped the track and squeezed him as stated above. He is now resting easily at his home here.

The ball of the Fearnots Athletic Association on Friday evening came up to the expectations of the members. A jolly crowd was present and enjoyed themselves until an early hour. The grand march was led by Master of Ceremonies Daniel O'Donnell and sister, Miss Annie O'Donnell.

Half a day was worked in the mines on Saturday, Memorial Day. Today and tomorrow everything is idle. The aim of those now in charge of the works seems to be to see how disagreeable they can make life for the employes. Beginning on Wednesday, four seven-hour shifts will be worked.

John Olenick and Miss Mary Sabol, both of this place, will be married at the Greek Catholic church, Freeland, tomorrow.

Miss Mame North, one of Beaver Meadow's accomplished young ladies, is the guest of Miss Annie O'Donnell.

Work upon the new car shops has been started. When completed it will be a model shop for this purpose.

Miss Gertrude Straux has returned home after spending a few days with South Side friends.

BASE BALL DOTS.

The Fearnots and Stars met on the local grounds yesterday and a hard contest was waged for nine innings. It was anybody's game until the last man was out. The score then stood 10 to 9 in favor of the Freeland club. Both sides did some pretty playing during the game.

The tail-enders of the Anthracite league fell upon the leaders yesterday with a determination to win, and they succeeded. The score was: Lattimer, 19; Hazleton, 18.

Anthracite league games for next Sunday are scheduled as follows: Hazleton at Freeland, Lattimer at Drifton.

Anthracite league clubs stand as follows:

Clubs	Won	Lost	Percentage
Hazleton.....	3	1	.750
Drifton.....	2	2	.500
Freeland.....	2	2	.500
Lattimer.....	1	3	.250

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.

John Lesser and Guy Hoover are taking in the sights at the county seat this week.

Upper Lehigh club beat the Freeland Stars on Friday. Score, 16 to 8.

J. C. Mulligan spent Sunday with his parents at Nesquehoning.

Miss Adeline Jones, of Wilkesbarre, is visiting friends here.

Charles Boyle has removed his family to Bayonne, N. J.

Luzerne Prohibition Ticket.

The annual convention of the Prohibition party of Luzerne county was held at Wilkesbarre on Saturday. The nominating committee made the following report: For prothonotary, Jesse Green, of Hazleton; for clerk of courts, H. S. Hobbs, Plymouth; for jury commissioner, I. H. Hale, of Jackson. The committee suggested that the county committee name a candidate for district attorney. The report was adopted.

Will Return the Money.

At a meeting of the Odd Fellows' Relief Association of White Haven, held Friday evening, a resolution was adopted requesting the members who had received checks for $33.40 to return the same to the association within two weeks. All the members will comply with the resolution, as the distribution of the funds among the members was a criminal act and the parties could be prosecuted.

2,500,000 Tons Next Month.

The hopes of the miners that the coal trust would permit them to mine more coal in June than has been allowed during preceding months have been shattered. The production for next month has been fixed at 2,500,000 tons. In the first six months of the year the output will be less than 16,000,000 tons. However, as the year's requirements will hardly fall below 40,000,000 tons, the companies will have 24,000,000 tons to produce in the last six months. This is 4,000,000 tons a month, and is as much as the railroads can handle with ease. So the future, from July 1 on, holds out some hope for the anthracite workers.

Memorial Day Celebration.

Cloudy weather on Saturday had somewhat of a dampening effect upon the number of visitors to town to witness the G. A. R. observance of Memorial Day, but the weather failed to affect the spirit of those who had signified their intention to participate in the demonstration and exercises. The societies turned out in the order published on Thursday. Well-filled ranks were noticeable in every organization on parade. The foreign societies especially made a favorable showing in this respect, and of the 1,200 men in line they had over two-thirds in their divisions. Six bands and three life and drum corps furnished an abundance of music for the marchers. The parade throughout was creditable, and Chief Marshal Drasher and aids and the G. A. R. deserve honor for the manner in which Freeland paid its tribute to the deceased veterans.

The programme at Freeland cemetery was carried out in the order announced by the committee. Chas. Orion Stroh, Esq., filled the position of chairman with ability, while the singing of the Davis quartette and the Glee Club and the playing of the Mandolin Club was pronounced perfect by musical critics. Rev. Bischoff's opening prayer was listened to attentively, as was also the benediction by Rev. Cooper.

John M. Carr, Esq., was orator of the day, and his address was worthy of the occasion. His review of the gallant work performed for their country's sake by the heroes whose memory they were perpetuating by the observance of Memorial Day brought back vivid scenes to the veterans who stood group about. His praise of the ardent patriotism of the men who went to the front in the dangerous days of the sixties met a ready response from the audience because the tribute was merited. He also gave to the Grand Army of the Republic the honor due it for its work since the war. The speaker was frequently applauded and the address warmly commended on all sides.

Important Ruling for Catholics.

One of the most significant rulings of recent years on ecclesiastical matters in America has just been made by the pope. The decision, which has reference to parishes made up of foreigners, is literally as follows:

1.—Children born in America of foreign parents whose native language is not the English, are not obliged when of age to become members of the parish to which their parents belong; but they have the right to join a parish in which the language of the country—that is, English—is used.

2.—Catholics not born in America, but knowing the English language, have the right of becoming members of the parish in which English is in use, and they cannot be compelled to submit themselves to the jurisdiction of the rector of a church built for people who continue to spread the language of a foreign country.

The evident purpose of Rome is to make English the language of the church in America as speedily as possible and thus to encourage the development of a spirit of more perfect union among the members of the faith. Parishes in which a foreign language is used are tolerated as temporary institutions which will disappear as soon as the conditions making their erection expedient will have passed away.

Preparing for Noted Churchmen.

On the occasion of the dedicating of St. Leo's church, Ashley, next Sunday, there will be present Archbishop Sebastian Martinelli, the apostolic delegate of the pope in America, who came to this country several months ago to take the place of Cardinal Satolli; Bishop McQuade, of Rochester, N. Y.; Bishop McGovern, of Harrisburg; Bishop O'Hara, of Scranton; Rev. Dr. Conaty, rector of the Catholic university, Washington, D. C., and a large number of priests. The services of dedication will be performed by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara. Bishop Hoban, who is pastor of the church, will declaim the marble ter. Archbishop Martinelli will sing pontifical high mass. Bishop McQuade will read the dedicatory sermon. In the evening Bishop Hoban will sing pontifical vespers and Dr. Conaty will preach.

In order to prevent a large crush at the church, cards of admission to the mass and vespers will be sold at the bishop's residence all week. Price of tickets for the morning services will be $2 and admission to vespers services 50 cents.

Opera House for Three Nights.

Tonight the famous Edison projectoscope will exhibit here in conjunction with a high-class vaudeville company. The projectoscope is a machine similar to the microscope, but much superior. The jarring and vibration is entirely done away with and the pictures are perfectly clear. Among the views exhibited will be horses going to a fire, the rescue from the burning stable, a cock-fight and the famous Black Diamond express.
In the list of talent will be found the names of Miss Louise De Vere, the popular soprano; Miss Mae Saylor, serio-comic; Phil Smith, musical artist, and Sidney Eby, who will present a sketch, aided by Miss De Vere. The engagement is for three nights, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
