WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, July 27, 1897.

Neither Boss Hanna nor Mr. McKinley are entirely satisfied with the work of the extra session of congress just closed. The tariff bill pleased them all right, it more than repaid their campaign obligations to the trusts, not to mention the $32,000,000 made by the Sugar trust and its friends while the bill was pending.

But their efforts to repay their campaign obligation to the banking interests were a failure. Mr. McKinley, in his special message sent to congress only a few hours before adjournment, asking for authority to appoint a currency commission, quoted the Indianapolis bankers' convention as though it had been the assembled financial wisdom of the world, but that didn't bring the legislation asked for. The house railroaded through in sixty minutes a bill granting Mr. McKinley the authority asked for, although nearly every prominent Republican in that body is really opposed to a currency commission, but the senate was not so accommodating, and there is nothing in sight to indicate that it will be more obliging next winter.

Senator Teller's arraignment of the Republican tariff bill, now the law of the land, was one of the bitterest pills the Republicans have had to swallow in a long time. Mr. Teller, who is a protectionist, characterized this bill as vicious, unfair, extravagant, and unsatisfactory; and as having been framed entirely in the interest of trusts and syndicates. Mr. Teller also took occasion to criticize in the strongest language the gold standard policy of forcing professors out of educational institutions because of their belief in the free coinage of silver. He denounced the forced resignation of President Andrews, of Brown university, as one of the most "shameful acts of abasement" the world has seen, and said in ringing tones: "Thank God that President Andrews was big enough to refuse to be stilled."

A pertinent question often accomplishes more than argument. One destroyed the scheme to authorize Czar Reed's pots who have been made chairmen of committees to give their favorites sinecure positions during the congressional recess. When Representative Grosvenor tried to push a resolution through authorizing that waste of public money, he was asked if the house could get along while congress was in session without these clerks, why they should be considered necessary during the recess. The laugh which followed killed the scheme.

Before the Ohio Republicans do any shouting over the result of the colloquy between Senators Allen and Foraker concerning the charge of the former that the Republican vote of that state was fraudulently increased for Mr. McKinley, they should arrange for Mr. Foraker, or somebody else, to accept the challenge with which Mr. Allen closed the little spat—"I will meet the senator any time and will undertake to convince any unprejudiced man that there was fraud in Ohio."

Senator Morgan handled the conference committee without gloves, in a speech made just before the vote was taken on the conference report on the tariff bill, for its abandonment of the tax on bonds and transfers of stock—a tax that was approved by the finance committee and by a Republican caucus, closing with this explicit language, which no Republican attempted to deny: "I charge that the abandonment occurred under the command of the sugar trust."

Georgia Democrats are more pleased with the nomination of Henry Rucker, an Atlanta negro barber, to be United States marshal for Georgia than Major Hanson and his white Republican followers from that state are. It is expected that all of Rucker's deputies will be negroes, as no white man will care to serve under him, and lively times are likely to follow every visit of the dusky officials to the moonshine districts of the state. Hanna placed the "coon."

The hearings to determine whether John Wedderburn & Co. shall be disbarred from practice before the United States patent office are now on. The patent office claims to have proof to sustain the numerous charges of fraud it has brought against Wedderburn & Co., and is giving the accused a full opportunity to controvert its proof.

Secretary Sherman's departure before the adjournment of congress for a Long Island summer resort was regarded as additional proof that he has very little to do with the official business of the department of state. In fact, it is hinted by some that Mr. Sherman intended to emphasize that very thing by his going.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Wednesday, July 21.

The conference report on the tariff bill was presented to the United States senate, but little progress was made on its consideration. The lumber and sugar schedules were attacked by the minority, and Senator Tillman threatened to filibuster until next winter if cotton baling and cotton ties were not restored to the free list—Mrs. Mary Hanson, known to the police as Dutch Mary, surrendered to the Brooklyn police, admitting that she is the woman wanted for obtaining money from Dr. Lott and others. She is not Ellen Peck, the notorious confidence woman, as was at first supposed. It is thought her peculations in Brooklyn and elsewhere will amount to fully $100,000—Miss Jean Ingelow, the distinguished poet and novelist, died in London. She was in her seventy-seventh year. The both branches of the French parliament adopted the direct taxes bill and a naval credit of 7,000,000 francs—A monument in honor of Brigham Young and the Mormon pioneers was unveiled in Salt Lake City—The fishing schooner Elmer E. Randall was sunk in collision near Boston Lightship. The skipper and crew of the Randall barely escaped drowning—E. H. Sothorn, the actor, and his wife, who is known on the stage as Virginia Harned, were rescued from drowning near Far Rockaway, N. Y. Mr. Sothorn gave the life saver a check for $500—September wheat rose to 78 1/2 cents on reports of short crops in Europe and possible demands on America from Argentina—The Syracuse Evening News suspended publication—In honor of the conclusion of the treaty of friendship between Peru and Spain the queen regent has conferred upon President Pirola of Peru the cross of Isabel Catalina—Queen Victoria left Windsor castle for the royal train to start for Osborne House, Isle of Wight—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen began a three days' meeting at Cincinnati—The Salvation Army in Great Britain received the congratulations of Queen Victoria upon the celebration of its thirty-second anniversary.

Thursday, July 22. The formal reading of the conference report on the tariff was concluded in the United States senate, and the discussion was continued. In the house a resolution was adopted requesting the president to investigate restrictions placed by foreign countries upon the importation of tobacco from the United States—Seven persons were killed by an explosion in the Winchester Arms works at New Haven. Several were injured—Arrangements for being made in the west for running more steamers to the Klondike gold region. Another steamer arrived in San Francisco from Alaska bringing $200,000 worth of gold dust, and more stories were told of the marvelous richness of the Klondike—Count Okuma, the Japanese foreign minister, officially announced that Japan will oppose the annexation of Hawaii to the utmost—"Annexation must not be recognized." A semi-official announcement was made that experts on the sealing question will meet in Washington next autumn to compare the results of their investigations—The Right Hon. A. J. Mundella, formerly a member of the British cabinet, died from paralysis—Anthony Comstock has caused the rearrest of George H. Richmond, a publisher, for selling D'Annunzio's "Triumph of Death" to three young women—After a mysterious absence of three days, Marion Hatch, the companion of Flint, Eddy & Co., has been found. An employee of the firm stated yesterday that Mr. Hatch had wandered off while suffering from dementia—D. W. Caldwell, president of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, died in Cleveland on his way to the senate—The sultan has issued an order, mentioned in the section on the frontier question in accordance with the views of the powers—A hurricane devastated the northwestern portion of the province of Cher in France—Hall did great damage in the country north of the lake of Zurich, Switzerland.

Friday, July 23. In the United States senate there was a sharp debate on the tariff, but no time was agreed upon for taking the final vote. It is thought that the senate will not vote on the tariff until after the adjournment of congress. The house bills suspending discriminating tonnage dues on foreign vessels and establishing a new land district in Alaska were passed—President McKinley nominated Rear Admiral John G. Walker, U. S. N.; Captain Oberlin M. Carter, corps of engineers, U. S. A., and Lewis M. Haupt of Pennsylvania members of the Nicaragua canal commission—Dwight M. Bruce has been appointed postmaster at Syracuse—A carrier pigeon was being picked up on the coast of Norway, near Tromso island, with the message, "North pole passed, fifteenth." London experts have doubts, but think it may be from Antarctica. The steamer now on an expedition to the north pole—Secretary Sherman said that he and the president were in complete accord on the instructions given to Ambassador Hay in the sealing controversy—The Logan monument was dedicated in Chicago with great pomp and ceremony—Numerous companies were formed and steamers chartered to visit the Klondike gold region—Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews resigned the presidency of Brown university on account of a protest from the corporation against his activity in the free silver cause—Armed deputy sheriffs were called on to guard the Hite mines in West Virginia from the attacks of strikers—Governor Black has refused the request of District Attorney Olcott of New York for a special term of the supreme court to try the Tobacco trust this month—At Griffin, Ga., a negro prisoner on his way to Atlanta for safe keeping was taken from the train by a mob and hanged to a tree. At Madisonville, Ky., a worthless character was hanged by a mob "on general principles." At Riverton, Ala., a negro was either hanged or burned at the stake—Ensign W. R. Gherard, son of Rear Admiral Gherard, retired, plunged into the side of the battleship Texas and with three seamen saved two men from drowning—Mrs. Annie Kmetz of Newark, N. J., was murdered during her sleep by Andras Maliniak, who declared some time ago that he would take her life. Maliniak is a prisoner and has confessed.

Saturday, July 24. The extra session of the Fifty-fifth congress came to an end. In the senate, the conference report on the tariff bill was adopted by a vote of 40 to 39. In the house a currency commission bill was passed in response to President McKinley's message. Speaker Reed announced his committee appointments

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Wednesday, July 21.

The new tariff law went into effect, the president affixing his signature to the bill within an hour after its final passage in the senate—An explosion occurred on the steamboat Nutmeg State at Bridgeport, which killed four men and fatally injured three others—It was reported that Germany had made a protest against the annexation of Hawaii by the United States, and had approached Japan to aid her in vain—In an interview the bishop of Honolulu says the natives of Hawaii are opposed to an annexation to the United States—The ambassadors of the powers at Constantinople and Tewfik Pasha have agreed upon the frontier clause in the peace treaty—United States judges in Maryland handed down two decisions favorable to the receivers of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad—About $100,000 damage was done by a fire in the cracker factory of the American Biscuit company, at Hester and Elizabeth streets, New York—A storm almost cyclonic in intensity swept over New York city. The display of lightning was magnificent. The towers of the Manhattan Trust company's and the New York Life insurance company's buildings were struck. Shipping was temporarily demoralized. The storm extended from Connecticut to southern New Jersey, doing considerable damage—Jacob and Mary Black, 104 and 102 years old, respectively, were rescued from a fire in a plum shop at 148 Clinton street, New York—Federal marshals arrested 25 tramps who insisted upon riding free on trains in Nebraska—M. Theebaut, French consul at Chicago, and M. Well, president of the French Benevolent society of San Francisco, have been made chevaliers of the French Legion of Honor—A dispatch from Hamburg says that a boat containing 45 employees of the Hamburg Engine works capsized in the river Elbe. Six persons were drowned—The report of the capture of a carrier pigeon in the vicinity of Tromso island, near the northern point of Norway, bearing the words and figures "North pole passed, 15th," is not true.

Monday, July 26. Data in the treasury department show that importers saved millions in duties by rushing in goods in advance of the signing of the Dingley tariff law—Twenty-three members of the Twenty-fifth infantry bicycle corps arrived in St. Louis from Montana after a run of 1,900 miles. Many hardships were encountered, but an average of 62 miles a day was maintained—Patrick and Annie Sullivan, cousins, who were engaged to be married, but whose union was forbidden by their parents and the priests, committed suicide by turning on the gas in a room in a hotel at Westchester, N. Y.—William L. Davidson of Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, a cripple and out of work for two years, committed suicide yesterday by taking carbolic acid. He left a letter addressed to his brother explaining his reasons—Peter McNally, the Boston swimmer, swam across the English channel from Deal to within three miles of the coast of France in 15 hours—Captain Webb accomplished the feat on Aug. 24-25, 1875, remaining in the water 21 hours and 45 minutes—Two men were drowned at Coney Island and one at Hook creek, near New York—Miss Alice Barrett, who was reported to have been killed by a thunderbolt in Boston, was killed by a pistol shot, supposed to have been fired by herself—General Ruiz Rivera was removed by the Spanish authorities in Cuba from a hospital to Cabanas fortress—A company headed by J. Edward Adickes of Delaware and having $5,000,000 capital was said to be in process of formation to develop the Klondike country—A lumber mill boiler at Puxsantawaway, Pa., exploded, killing one man, wounding 10 and throwing 200 out of work—An autopsy proved that the infant daughter of a Long Island City man died of starvation and neglect. The father, who had turned his family into the street, was arrested with money in his pocket, which he refused to give his little son to buy bread—A mob of white toughs in Arkansas set fire to a cabin containing 10 negroes and shot at them as they endeavored to escape. Four men dropped in their tracks. AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

WE ARE ASSERTING IN THE COURTS OUR RIGHT TO THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF THE WORD "CASTORIA," AND "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," AS OUR TRADE MARK.

I, DR. SAMUEL PITCHER, of Hyannis, Massachusetts, was the originator of "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," the same that has borne and does now bear the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on every bottle of the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher wrapper. This is the original "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," which has been used in the homes of the Mothers of America for over thirty years.
