SCHOOLS TO BE GRADED.

AN EIGHT-YEAR COURSE.

Plans Prepared to Give Pupils a Systematic Education in All the Branches That Are Required to Fit Them for the Ordinary Duties of Life.

The borough school board met Friday evening, with Directors McCarthy, Sweeney, Ferry and Schaub, together with the teachers, present, for the purpose of assigning the latter to their positions. This was done in the following manner: Principals—Daniel Coxeschool, E. F. Hanlon; E. B. Coxe school, George McLaughlin; Birvanton school, W. J. Schmidt; South Heberton school, Jesse Alden. John Houston was named as first assistant in Daniel Coxe school, Misses Kate Rogan, Tillie Lindsay, Mary Herron, Mary Dougherty and Ella Gilespie were placed in the Daniel Coxe school; Mrs. S. M. Dennenny, B. McLaughlin and Kate Timony in the E. B. Coxe school, and Miss Carrie Bilger in South Heberton school.

directors.

Following is an outline of the course of studies adopted:

First year—Reading, spelling, language, numbers, writing, general exercises, morals and manners.

Second year—Same branches will be taught in more advanced form.

Third year—Reading, spelling, language, writing, arithmetic, physiology, hygiene, general exercises, morals and nanners.

hygiene, general exercises, morals and manners.

Fourth year—Geography added to branches taught in previous year.

Fifth year—Grammar substituted for language, and zoology, botany and physics added.

Sixth year—Science and history added to branches taught in fifth year.

Seventh year—Orthography substituted for spelling and general history added.

Eight year—Civics added to branches previously taught.

Under the system of grading which is intended shall prevail, the Daniel Coxeshool will embrace all the grades, the E. B. Coxe and South Heberton schools will teach pupils to and including the fourth year and the Birvanton school to the end of the second year. Pupils from the three latter schools will be promoted to the advanced rooms in the Washington street building according as they become fitted for the high restudies.

the advanced rooms in the Washing-no street building according as they ecome fitted for the higher studies. William Williamson agreed to connect in water pipes with sewer and lay nec-sary terra cotta pipes to sewer open-ag for $32. It was agreed to. An rder was drawn for $2,000 on contract of new school building. The president ppointed the whole board as a commit-te to have all necessary repairs made bout the buildings.

Burglars Frustrated by a Child.

Fourteen-year-old Ruth Richmond is the heroine of an encounter with four burglars, says the Scranton Truth. By her quick, plucky actions she saved the lives of the members of her family, the money sought by the burglars and caused the lift of the robbers. The girl is the daughter of Mrs. Annie Richmond, who tends the Green Ridge end of the boulevard to Dickson City. Besides the mother and daughter, one son, Ellwood, ten years old, lives in the house.

About 2 o'clock last Saturday morning, four masked men forced open with ajbeam the door of the house, overlooking an open window on the boulevard front. Two of them stood guard outside, and the other two went into the sleeping room, one to each side of the bed where Mrs. Richmond was sumbering. She heard a slight noise and awakened.

"Keep still and everything will be all right," quietly spoke one of the men.

For a moment, scarcely realizing the command, she remained quiet, and then she spoke. The order for quiet was given with more force. Mrs. Richmond understood then that there were burglars in the house, and she rightly conjectured that they were after the week's toll earnings, about $30.

"The money," hissed the man at the side of the bed, Mrs. Richmond uttered a loud scream, and the burglar followed it by placing his hand over her mouth. The scream awakened the two children. Mrs. Richmond said that she would hand over the money if she should be allowed herself to get it. The fellow guarding her agreed to the proposition. She walked across the room, passing an open window, and quickly lowering her head she screamed again. The burglar then caught her by the throat and began to choke her.

Then it was that the little girl showder pluck. A box of insect powder lay on the window sill. She quickly grasped it and threw the contents into the man's face. The powder filled his eyes and blinded him. Taking advantage of that, she sped through the door, and silently passed behind the man standing guard, who was watching westward on Parker street.

When she had crossed the street, the fellow saw her, and cried out, "Come back here, or I'll blow your brains out." She kept on running, however, and went to the home of Mrs. Richmond's brother, Elisha Blackman, a short distance away. He was aroused, and he quickly hurried to the house.

Ellwood, seeing his sister run out safely, made a dash himself, but one of the men outside caught him. The little fellow was frightened, but he remembered where the money was, and he said to the fellow: "Don't hurt my mamma, and I'll. get the money." The burglar loosened his hold of the boy and told him to hurry about it.

But the burglary had been frustrated. The little girl's alarm had been successful, and Mr. Blackman and others were hurrying to the house. The men saw that their game was up, and they ran quickly away, going over the boulevard. Each of the men wore a red handkerchief over his face, but the eyes were exposed. There is no clue to the identity of the burglars. Mrs. Richmond believes that they had in some way learned that the week's carnings of the toligate are turned over on Monday morning, and that accordingly they fixed Saturday morning for their visit.

Striking Miners Return to Work.

The strike of over 2,000 South Side employes of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company came to an end on Friday evening, when the men agreed to accept the company's proposition to return to work, pending an investigation of their grievances. This decision was arrived at after a conference with Superintendent Lawall, and with the understanding among themselves that if satisfactory terms are not made after operations begin today that the strike be declared on again.

The following communication, addressed to Alex, McMullen, chairman of begin today that the strike be declared on again.

The following communication, addressed to Alex. McMullen, chairman of the grievance committee, is the basis of the temporary settlement:

"Dear Sir.—Referring to the grievances presented today, will say that the company proposes to treat its employes fairly in every respect. Every grievance will be fairly investigated. Men of same grade of work shall receive similar pay. No collections shall be made unless at the request of employes. "Employes living in their own homes shall not be obliged to leave same in order to live in company houses.

"Employes shall be reinstated, but must certainly do justice to company's interest while employed. Employes shall be paid for all time actually engaged in the company's service.

The Anthracite Coal Trade.

All the anthracite roads will therefore make good earning exhibits for July, but to do so they have shaken confidence among dealers. It is understood that efforts are being made to hold the August outtput down to 3,500,000 tons or less, and if this is done some ground will be regained, but there is no disguising the fact that the trade has been given a decided setback. Business is dull and flat. Buyers find there is no difficulty in obtaining deliver cs and this renders them indifferent about the future. It is now nearly two months since the advance in prices was ordered.

Filling Up a Trestle Work.

Burke Bros., railroad contractors, began work this morning with a large force of men filling up the space under the long trestle-work on the Jersey Central Railroad near Pond Creek. The structure has not been quite as safe as the railroad company considered necessary, and the filling up from the ground to the tracks was deemed better then to strengthen the old one or build a new one. The work would have been started before this, but satisfactory arrangements could not be made with the owner of the land, Ziba Fairchilds. The matter was settled by the railroad people
