LUZERNE COMES BACK.

DEMOCRATS WIPE OUT THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY OF 5,000.

Martin and Dasch Are Elected and Lynch and Brazzelle Are Behind Their Opponents—County Is in the Democratic Column—Swallow's Big Vote.

In Luzerne county the Democrats on Tuesday elected Thomas R. Martin as district attorney and Paul Dasch as prothonotary. On the Republican ticket Walter B. Koons was elected clerk of courts. James W. Moore leads John Brazzelle for jury commissioner, but the law provides for the election of the two highest candidates and both, therefore, have won.

The tremendous Democratic gains were unexpected by few, if any, of the Republican candidates and campaigners, and the result has completely dashed them. The county has gone Republican for the past few years by majorities varying from 3,000 to 6,000, and so were the Republicans of carrying the day that they made a reckless and careless canvass for votes, fondly believing that the party was so strongly entrenched that defeat was impossible.

Had there been a free and fair ballot the entire Democratic county ticket would have won by over 5,000. The cities and larger towns and farming districts, where intimidation and coercion did not prevail, were swept by the Democrats, but in the mining patches the spirit and letter of the law were openly violated in the interest of the Republican ticket. The coal corporations, or rather a large number of those in the lower end, had their bosses and understrappers at work all day piloting the employees, especially the non-English-speaking voters, to the polls and voting them in droves against the party of their choice.

The influence of the deputies and their friends was also against the Democrats, as they reasoned it out in some way that a Republican sweep meant a vindication of the Lattimer butchery, and the indicted murderers worked hard, but vainly, for this vindication and for the retention of Fell as district attorney.

As a sample of the desperate work done the vote of Lattimer may be taken. The poll is Republican by a small majority, but so thoroughly were the citizens cowed down by the all-powerful agents of the Pardees that Martin received but 10 votes to 198 for Fell. Several other polls in mining towns gave results nearly as much at variance with the feeling of the men who deposited the ballots.

The vote of the county is as follows. The figures of the first column are the totals and those of the second are the pluralities:

Democrats Prevented from Voting.

From the Wilkesbarre Leader.
At the Democratic headquarters in Wilkesbarre yesterday some very serious charges were made against mine bosses in different parts of the county who are alleged to have worked breakers and mines until 6.30 and 7 o'clock, purposely to prevent employees from voting.

Chairman Trecoast said: "The iniquity of mine bosses in this election is almost beyond belief. I have it on good authority that some of the collieries in the lower end of the county worked until 6.30 in order to prevent the employees from voting the Democratic ticket."
"I was in Duryea Tuesday evening and was told that in one mine there twenty Democratic voters were kept in the mine and would not be raised to the surface until 7.15 o'clock, thus preventing them from voting. I am now gathering information and affidavits, and if an investigation proves these facts we will have the mine bosses arrested and prosecuted."

"In Mr. Martin we will have a district attorney who will conduct the prosecution and who will teach a lesson to those who would intimidate voters and prevent them from exercising the rights of citizenship."

Fatal Fire at Hazleton.
A fatal fire occurred at Hazleton Monday afternoon, destroying the double dwellings of Daniel Burke and Mrs. Celia Ward and badly damaging the property owned by Mrs. Con O'Donnell. The fire originated in the house occupied by Mrs. Ward and was caused by an explosion of benzine with which she was cleaning furniture. In trying to extinguish the blaze Mrs. Ward was so badly burned that she died in the hospital at 8.30 that night. Five families were rendered homeless and the loss will reach $10,000.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS.

Comments of European Editors on the New York Election.

Each Paper Vies With Its Neighbors in Saying Cutting Things About Gotham Politics—French and German Papers Also in Line.

London, Nov. 3.—The elections in the United States continue to overshadow all the other news in the English newspapers, and the results are discussed generally at the hotels, clubs and other such places, as well as on the trains, horse cars and omnibuses. The Sun of this city, of which newspaper Harry Marks has editorial control, says: "The dog returned to his vomit" is the text we recommended pious New York to hang on the parlor walls. The chief key to a great people must see its municipal offices filled with men who should be filling cells in the penitentiary. New York has fallen like rotten fruit into the hands of the boodlers, but the New Yorkers may console themselves with saying that every city, as every land, has the government it deserves.

The Evening News says: "Croker has brought on his tip and has won the race, showing that he is more to be feared in his natural arena of politics than on the race course. The population of the second greatest city in the world has elected its ruler, and the morning after election the problems occupying his mind did not relate to the government of the city, but to squaring and rewarding his supporters. The experiment of democracy, as seen in full growth in New York, seems to have its drawbacks as well as its advantages."
The St. James Gazette thinks "the reason Americans allow themselves to be dominated by a clique, whose leadership members would on this side of the Atlantic sooner or later find themselves in the criminal dock," is that the "American politicians indulge in politics solely for what they can make out of them, and until America finds time to produce a class who will give their time to public affairs as here, without expectation of pecuniary reward, Tammany will continue its victories in New York."

The Globe's Views.
The Globe says: "When the fortunes of the wigwam are in the ascendant, shameful corruption rules supreme. When Croker became boss, it had regained much of its lost influence. Croker is perhaps the most notable Tammany product of our time. A splendid organizer and an indomitable worker, he possesses to a marked degree the taciturnity and aloofness which made Parnell so successful a leader. Steering clear of the personal vanities of Tweed, Croker has revived the other traditions of the wigwam's regime and has made Tammany once more a political engine of the first magnitude."
Commenting on the allegation that the "best classes" hold aloof from politics, the Globe says: "It leaves the government of one of the greatest countries in the world at the mercy of a mob and of an unscrupulous demagogue who knows how to bend the mob to his will. The effect upon the foreign policy of the country is often deplorable. That large numbers of decent, sensible people utterly sympathize with the brusquerie of Olney and the fatuities of Sherman we all know, but unhappily they utterly fail to make their voices heard above the din of the New York slums."

The Pall Mall Gazette also refers to the municipal election of Greater New York, saying: "Such an organization as Tammany could not exist in London. A man or an organization could never return to power. Tammany, under the leadership of Croker, has done so in a manner which must afford food for serious thought even in a city so accustomed to bad government as New York. Much as we wish the best fortune to Greater New York, we cannot congratulate its citizens upon the manner in which they have contributed their share toward the achievement of such a desirable result."
The Westminster Gazette says: "The victory for unprincipled government obtained by unprincipled methods is a grave disappointment to all believing in free institutions, and the only thing to do is to wish Seth Low and his supporters will be luckier in the next campaign against a system which seems to outsiders to be absolutely intolerable."

German Comment.
Berlin, Nov. 3.—The Tageblatt, referring to the New York election, deplores the victory of Tammany, adding "as it places the undesirable elements of the Irish on top" and concludes, "The victory in Greater New York will have a sinister effect throughout the United States, for it means that the awakening desire for municipal reform has received a terrific setback."

A French Opinion.
Paris, Nov. 3.—The Temps, in its comments on the Greater New York election, remarks: "The result of the election is deplorable for New York and the cause of the democracy."
