The Lehigh Valley Raifroad Company purchased five large locomotives of the D. S. & S. a few years ago, to use on the mountain cut-off. The engines being of very heavy build and ponderous strength it was thought they would fill a long-felt want and prove a success in the handling of very large trains over the mountain, but they proved failures. Though exceedingly strong, they could not be made to steam, firemen being unable to keep the indicators pointed where they wanted them. The Valley people had them furnished with different nozzles and soft coal grates with no better results, and as a last resort sent one. 705, to the Baldwin shops where it was compounded, equipped with the vaucalain four-cylinder, high and low pressure patented arrangement.

The engine was tried on the cut-off and proved a great success, pulling a train half as large again as others in use. The result is the Valley will have the remaining four engines treated likewise. The new compound weighs about 100 tons and according to the trains pulled will prove a paying investment, which was not the case previous.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

An exciting foot ball game was playded here yesterday between Drifton and Freeland clubs. During the second half, with the score 4 to 0 in the visitors' favor, a dispute arose as to whether or not Drifton had made a fair touch down.
By the time the arguments were all heard, it was mutually agreed to call the game, darkness and hunger getting the best of the combatants. Some wonderful exhibitions of mass-playing were given during the contest.
An Italian employed at the stripping

Miners Win a Suit at Beaver Meadow

A suit was tried before Squire Brogan of Beaver Meadow, on Friday, in which the Lehigh Valley Coal Company wathe defendant, the prosecutors being John B. Cannon, Patrick Dougherty James J. Boyle, Andrew Higgins, William Bynon and Patrick Herron, o Yorktown, says the Hazleton Standard The plaintiffs were employed at the Spring Brook colliery of the company a Yorktown. They dealt in the store o Dougherty & Co., and having contractor.

The plaintiffs were employed at the Spring Brook colliery of the company at Yorktown. They dealt in the store of Dougherty & Co. and having contracted a debt. the Lehigh Valley Company retained the wages of the men monthly for the payment of the debt they incurred at Dougherty & Co.'s store.

The men didn't object to the liquidation of the debt by easy instalments, but they did object to their entire wages being kept from them. They prepared a petition and forwarded it to Superintendent Lathrop, apprising him of this fact. That functionary responded to the men, stating that if they would appear at the company's office and acknowledge the signatures attached to the petition he would have their grievance satisfactorily adjusted. He also requested them to serve notice on the management of the store at the same time. The men were only too pleased to comply with the provisions of this order.

They did so, and the company promised to submit to their supplication. The company broke faith with the men, however, for when they were rectained in the usual manner. The men had no further confidence in the company and at once brought sulf for the recovery of their wages. The case was tried before Squire Bregan and the defendant failing to put in an appearance at the trial, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiffs by the squire.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

DIRECTORS HELD THEIR WEEKLY SES-SION ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

tot Much Business Transacted at the Meeting—Farniture Company Wanted Interest on the Amount Due for Desks. Superintendent Harrison's Suggestion.

The borough school board met Satur ay evening in D. J. McCarthy's office

The borough school board met Saturday evening in D. J. McCarthy's office, with all the members present except Mr. Schaub. Orders were drawn for the teachers' pay, and on motion it was agreed that hereafter the president and secretary shall sign orders for the teachers' and janitress' pay when the same is due. Messrs, Johnson and Timony were appointed to have walks laid around the Daniel Coxe building.

Secretary Sweeney read the correspondence he has had with the Hudson School Furniture Company. The latter charged interest on the amount due them, since August 31. The contract gives the board to November 20, without interest. The company agreed to abide by the contract.

The secretary also stated he had visited the schools with Superintendent Harrison last week. Among the recommendations made by the superintendent was that the board should appoint another teacher, so as to give Principal Hanlon an opportunity to visit all the schools while in session and see that the system of teaching is properly carried out. The matter was discussed, but no action was taken.

Director Ferry again brought up the soal hauling matter, making a motion to award the contract to John Rogan at the price paid last year. The motion was declared out of order by President McCarthy.

ne heating of the Eckley B. Coxe scho brought up to the contract requir The board adjourned to meet on December 1 in Mr. McCarthy's office. Director Ferry protested against this notion, claiming that it was not just to titizens who wish to attend the meeting to have them go to private offices. The vote on the question was four to one.
